Welcome islands, four in number, lie 4 miles southeast of the entrance to Fort William. The northern two are each about half a mile long, and a quarter of a mile wide, the other two are quite small. Shoal water extends a quarter of a mile south from both the northern and southern islands, all the other shores being clean. The channel between Welcome islands and Mutton island, off the mouth of the Kaministikwia river, is 1½ miles wide and from 4 to 8 fathoms deep.

Victoria island is the southernmost of a long narrow string of islands that stretches nearly to Thunder cape, a distance of 24 miles, and give shelter to an excellent channel from Victoria island to Port Arthur. The west point of this island is marked by a lighthouse exhibiting a fixed white light visible 10 miles from a height of 90 feet above the water, and off its point extends in a westsouthwesterly direction, a shallow reef for 150 yards. This is especially dangerous for vessels entering or leaving the inside passage as it juts out into the channel. The bay south of lighthouse point is rather deep for anchoring, but the shores are clean.

Iroquois rock with 6 feet water on it lies 1000 yards west-southwest of the lighthouse point and is a dangerous rock leaving a deep channel over 700 yards wide between it and the reef off the lighthouse point. As the rock is very small vessels may pass upon either side of it. To pass north of it, keep Sugarloaf hill on Spar island in sight north of Victoria island, N. E. by E. ⅝ E. and to pass south of it, bring the northwest side of Spar island in line with the north side of Victoria island (lighthouse point) N. E. by E. It is proposed to keep this shoal buoyed in future.

Tiger island is the high black island lying a quarter of a mile south of Victoria island lighthouse. It and the small islands stretching 2 miles east of it are quite clean. There is a large cove in the east side of Victoria island, but the water in it is about 17 fathoms deep. A couple of shallow rocks lie off the dry rock at the southeast entrance to this cove, one is 300 yards northeast and the other 150 yards south of it. Another rock with only 4 feet water over it lies nearly in the middle of the entrance to the cove and must be carefully guarded against by keeping rather nearer the southwest side. The remainder of the south and all the north shore of Victoria island are quite deep-to.

Little Devil, Devil, and Jarvis islands are the next islands east of Victoria island. They are quite clean off their north and south sides. A narrow channel with 21 feet water in it exists between Devil and Jarvis islands. Spar is the next large island about 2½ miles long, northeast and southwest, by half a mile wide. A rock awash lies a quarter of a mile off a point on the northwest side and three quarters of a mile from the southwest end. With this exception the shores are clean. There is a safe clean passage a quarter of a mile wide between Spar and Jarvis islands with 15 fathoms water in it.

Thompson island lies with its southwest end 2 miles northeast of Spar island. It is 3 miles long northeast and southwest by half a mile in greatest width and is over 100 feet high. It has deep water all round it. In the gap between Spar and Thompson islands are several small islands and rocks, dry and sunken, with good passages between them, but which should not be attempted by strangers without a chart.

Stratching northeast from Thompson island for a mile to McKellar island are several small islands with no passages between, but which have good clean shores. The gap between these islands and Pie island is very deep and clear of obstructions.

Pie island, about 900 feet high, is about 7 miles long, east and west by 3½ wide, and has only slight indentations in its shores. Except the north and northeast, which should receive a berth of half a mile, the shores are clear of dangers. Good anchorage from southerly winds will be found off the north and northwest sides, and from northerly winds off the south side. Dawson bay in the south side is large, but the water is deep.

Pie island light, fixed white, 29 feet high, is situated on a narrow, rocky point on the southwest side of the island.

Steamboat and Deadman islands are small and lie from half to one mile off the southwest side of Pie island. They are clean outside a distance of 200 yards, and between them and Little Flatland island is a good clean passage, 1,500 yards wide and from 5 to 15 fathoms deep.

Angus islands are a small group, 6 in number, lying one mile southeast of the east point of Pie island. There is a shallow spit making out one quarter of a mile northeast from the north end of Angus islands, and with this exception the islands are clean.

Between the southwestern Angus island (a high bare peak) and Pie island are three shallow rocks, as follows: one awash lies W. by N. ¼ N., 2,000 yards from this Angus island; another with 4 feet water on it lies E. ¼ N., 3,500 yards from the south point of Pie island; and the other, and most important, with 6 feet water over it, is situated E. by S. ½ S., 2,500 yards from the same point. As this lies inside the line joining the outer Angus and McKellar islands, masters of vessels need not be so much afraid of this shore as they appear to be.

The passage between Pie island and Thunder cape, 4½ miles wide, is quite clean.

Thunder cape is a very prominent headland, about 800 feet high, marking the east entrance to Thunder bay. Upon its south end is a lighthouse tower, 45 feet high, exhibiting a revolving white light every minute, visible 12 miles. A steam fog horn sounds blasts of 5 seconds every half minute. All parts of the cape may be approached to 200 yards.

Hare island is small and low, bearing N. W. 1½ miles from the cape. It has shallow water extending south and north from it for a distance of 700 yards. To pass south of it keep the south end of Marvin island in line with Thunder cape, E. by S. The whole of the east shore of Thunder bay to its head is very clean.

Sawyer bay is situated 5 miles north from the cape and contains good shelter and holding ground from all winds except those between west and north.

A shoal with 16 feet water on it has been reported as lying N.E. by E ½ E., 3¼ miles from the north point of Welcome islands.

Vessels proceeding to Port Arthur and Fort William from the eastward should give Thunder cape a berth of at least one quarter of a mile heading for the middle of the Welcomes bearing W. N. W. As soon as Hare island comes abreast alter course to pass half a mile clear of the northeast end of the Welcomes, or heading upon Fort Arthur lighthouse, 13 miles.

If bound for Fort William, a vessel may keep this course until the range comes on, or for 9½ miles.

Vessels from Duluth for Port Arthur or Fort William in thick weather keep nearer Isle Royale and enter the by close to Thunder cape. There is no reason why vessels should not keep closer to the Canadian islands, give Angus island a berth of half a mile, and haul up N. W. by N. to clear the Welcomes by the same distance. In clear weather, vessels trading between Port Arthur and Duluth use the shorter and more sheltered passage west of Pie and Victoria islands. From Duluth for Port Arthur, shortly after passing Cloud islands bring the west side of Sister islands in line with Grassy point, N. E. ⅛ N., to pass between Iroquois rock and the reef of Victoria island. If these marks cannot be distinguished and there is no buoy on Iroquois rock a vessel should haul close to Tiger island and steer to pass 300 yards off Victoria island, until the east end of Tiger island comes in line with the west or lighthouse point of Victoria island. Now alter course to pass about 200 yards off the north side of Victoria island to avoid the 6-foot shoal off Grassy point. When abreast of Grassy point steer for the northwest side of Spar island for 2½ miles or until the west side of Pie island comes in line with the west side of the Sisters, bearing N. N. E. ¾ E :—keep on this range for 3¾ miles. This will clear the rock awash between the Sisters and Mink island. Pass through the passage giving west Sister a berth of 200 yards and head up for the west side of Pie island, bearing N. N. E. ¾ E., steering thus for 5½ miles until Pie island light comes abreast, when haul up N. ⅜ E. for 10 miles to give Welcome islands a berth of half a mile. As soon as the north end of the latter islands comes abreast, a vessel may haul over for the buoy off Fort William or keep on for the buoys off Port Arthur.

At night, those locally acquainted pass between Mink point and Mink island, giving the latter a berth of 200 yards, and haul up for Pie island light bearing N. E. ¼ N. until Deadman island comes abreast when they haul up for the Welcomes.

In leaving Port Arthur and Fort William, when clear of the entrance, head for south end of the Welcomes until about half a mile from them. Then steer to pass the same distance off the west shore of Pie island or heading for Deadman island. When Pie island light comes abreast, haul for the gap between the Sisters and Mink island, give the west end of West Sister a berth of 300 yards to avoid the rock awash between it and Mink island. Now bring the west side of Pie island in line with the west side of the Sisters, heading for the west end of Jarvis island. As soon as the north side of Cloud islands comes in line with the north side of Victoria island, S. W. by W., keep it so, rounding the lighthouse point at a distance of 300 yards, taking care not to pass northwest of the line, north side of the Sisters in one with Grassy point, to avoid Iroquois rock.

Masters of vessels leaving Port Arthur or Fort William for Whitefish point will find a very good check for their course across the lake, by noticing the bearing by their own compasses of the range :—Thunder cape lighthouse in line with the north end of the Welcomes, S. 63° 50′ E. The average magnetic course across the lake from a point one mile south of Passage island light to a point 2 miles north of Whitefish point light is S. 59° 30′ E. or 4° 20′ (or ⅜ of a point) more southerly than the range suggested as a check.

For information respecting Silver islet landing see Notice to Mariners No. 102 (256) of 1903; Slate islands light see Notice to Mariners No. 100 (254) of 1903; Otter island light see Notice to Mariners No. 100 (253) of 1903.

Michipicoten harbour.—Upon the southeast extremity of Little Gros Cap is erected a square wooden building, painted white, from the middle of whose roof is exhibited a fixed white light that, from a height of 70 feet above the lake, should be visible 14 miles. The ore wharf and commercial pier are situated in the northernmost cove of the harbour and alongside them the water has been dredged to 20 feet. In approaching the wharves bring the commercial pier on end (or the two red lights upon it, in one, if lighted) until the east face of the ore wharf opens when a vessel may haul over for the latter. The basin between the wharves (from 175 to 300 feet wide), has all been deepened to 20 feet, but the slip off the east side of the commercial pier is only 150 wide. There is a post office and a telegraph station here. In the cove between the wharves and the lighthouse, a shallow draft vessel will find good shelter and holding ground. The shore from the harbour to Brulé point is steep-to.

Brulé harbour is situated about a mile south of the point and affords excellent shelter with rather deep water. The southeast arm, about 11 fathoms deep, is nearly circular and has a very narrow entrance. The northern arm is larger and quite as deep. A shoal with 7 feet least water over it lies half a mile north of Cape Gargantua. Indian harbour is small and lies in the southeast corner of the bay 1½ miles east of the cape. It contains excellent anchorage and shelter. In entering, keep the south and west shores best aboard, to avoid some shoals in the entrance, and anchor off the old fishing shanties in the southwest corner of the harbour.

Commencing at Cape Gargantua and extending about 3½ miles southeast, is a string of small islands and rocks, the largest and highest of which is called Devils Warehouse island. S. by E. 1,400 yards from the westernmost island off the cape, and 500 yards off the island abreast of it, is a small rock with only 15 feet water over it. With this exception there are no shoals outside the line of the islands and rocks. For those locally acquainted there are good passages through the islands, with good anchorage and shelter in a bay about a mile north of Devils Warehouse island.

Gargantua harbour is a small harbour of refuge about four miles southeast of the cape. The entrance has a small island in it, upon which is a lighthouse tower that from a height of 95 feet above the water exhibits a fixed white light visible 15 miles. The harbour is in the northwest corner of the bay and is barely wide enough for fair sized vessels to ride at anchor. Larger craft tie up to a small wharf at the keeper's dwelling. Strangers are advised to enter the harbour by the passage south and east of the lighthouse as the other passage is partially obstructed by a shallow rock on each side.

For information concerning the shoals and channels about Leach and Gull islands see Notice to Mariners No. 89 (303) of 1902.

Lizard islands, seven in number, form a low group 2½ miles long N.N.E. and S.S.W. by half a mile wide, lying 5 miles E.S.E. of Leach island. Shoal water surrounds the group on the west side for three quarters of a mile, on the south for one quarter of a mile, on the east for 200 yards, and on the north 500 yards. The passage between the group and the main shore is three quarters of a mile wide and 20 fathoms deep.

A detached rock, with 20 feet least water over it (16 feet was reported, but nothing so shallow exists here), lies E. ½ S. 3 miles from the south point of the Lizards and two miles off shore.

A rock awash lies north 1¾ miles from the northwest point of Montreal island, leaving a channel over a mile wide and 20 fathoms deep.

Montreal island is nearly square, over 1½ miles each way, lying 6 miles southeast of the Lizards. Shoal water surrounds it for only a space of one-quarter of a mile.

Montreal shoal has been fully described in Notice to Mariners No. 71 (252) of 1902.

Agawa islands are a group of small islands and rocks lying in the west entrance to Agawa bay. Very little shallow water lies about them, the worst danger being a rock with 9 feet water over it, lying E. by S. 500 yards from the most easterly island. Good anchorage and fair shelter will be found off the northeast side of the largest and highest island, entrance being from either end of the channel. The whole shore from Gargantua harbour to Mamainse point may be approached to one quarter of a mile, and often closer.

Agawa bay is a large open indentation about 4 miles northeast of Montreal island. It has clean sandy shores, and good anchorage may be had with shelter from off-shore winds. Anchorage may be had also in the bay in the south side of old Point aux Mines. The passage between the small island, in its entrance, and the southwest part of the point is not good. The water in Mica bay is too deep for anchorage.

Mica shoal has been described in Notice to Mariners No. 64 (229) of 1902.

Hibbard rock is a small rock situated one mile S.S.W. of Mamainse point. It has no shallow water around it outside a distance of 50 yards. A channel 650 yards wide and 14 fathoms deep separates it from the shallow bank off Mamainse point.

Mamainse point forms the southwest entrance to the slight indentation called Mica bay. It bears S. S. E. ¼ E. 35 miles from the entrance to Gargantua harbour. The point is badly broken up into several islands and dry reefs.

Sand bay is situated 1½ miles south of Mamainse point. The bottom is between 3 and 7 fathoms deep over hard bottom.

Coppermine point is marked by a skeleton tower, from which is exhibited a fixed white light that from a height of 50 feet above water should be visible 13 miles. The shore from Sand bay to Coppermine point is badly broken up and is mostly fronted by reefs lying 200 or 300 yards off shore with very little shallow water outside them. There is a small fishing establishment on the north side of Coppermine point.

A detached rock 40 feet high lies 2,000 feet northwest of the light. A shoal with 13 feet water over it lies 500 yards N. N. W. of this rock, and another with 8 feet over it, lies 350 yards S. S. E. of the same. The shore from Coppermine to Pancake point is fronted by shallow water for an average distance of 200 yards, but a shallow reef will be found W. by N. 1,400 yards from the latter and a quarter of a mile off shore. From this to Corbay point the shore is clean but not very deep-to.

(5) BAY OF FUNDY—LURCHER SHOAL—LIGHTSHIP.

A lightship will be established off Lurcher shoal, which lies 16 miles outside of Yarmouth, in the Bay of Fundy, on or about 1st February, 1904. She will be moored in about 36 fathoms, 2 miles west of the 1½-fathom spot now marked by a whistling buoy.

Lat.	N.	43°	49′	32″
Long.	W.	66	32	0

She is a steel steamer, with two masts and no bowsprit. The hull is painted red, with the word "Lurcher" in white letters on each side, and the number of the vessel, "No. 14" on each bow. The circular gallery under the lanterns at each masthead, the smoke stack, and the fog signal between the masts, are all painted red.

Three seventh order lens lanterns encircle each masthead, at an elevation of 60 feet above the water. From them occulting electric lights, showing bright for 8 seconds and eclipsed for 4 seconds, alternately will be exhibited. These should be visible 13 miles from all points of approach. If from any cause the electric light apparatus should become inoperative fixed white oil lights, of less intensity, will be shown.

A diaphone, operated by compressed air, will be used as a fog alarm. This is similar in sound to a siren, but gives a note of great intensity and uniform pitch. It will give blasts of 4 seconds' duration, with intervals of 56 seconds between the blasts. Should it become disabled, blasts of similar duration and frequency will be sounded through a whistle. Should both from any cause become inoperative a bell will be rung by hand.

(6) RIVER ST. LAWRENCE BELOW QUEBEC—NORTH SHORE OUTARDE BAY—OUTARDE RIVER—BERSIMIS RIVER—BUOYS DISCONTINUED.

Buoys used to be maintained in Outarde bay, to indicate the mooring ground for vessels loading lumber, and in the entrances to Outarde river and Bersimis river to facilitate the passage of lighters used in loading such vessels.

The saw mills in that vicinity are not now in operation, and consequently the buoys in the above mentioned localities, formerly maintained by the saw mill owners under agreement with this Department, have been abandoned.

In future mariners need not expect to find any buoys in Outarde bay, Outarde river or Bersimis river.

(12) South coast—Musquodoboit harbour—Range lights established.

Range light towers have been erected by the Government of Canada at the entrance of Musquodoboit inlet, from which lights will be shown on the 1st April, 1904.

Both towers are white, wooden enclosed structures, square in plan, with sloping sides, surmounted by white, square, wooden lanterns with red roofs.

The lights are fixed red lights, and the illuminating apparatus pressed glass lenses.

The front tower stands on a concrete pier on Shag ledge.

Lat. N. 44° 41′ 42″
Long. W. 63 4 25

The pier is 16 feet square, and its top is 5 feet above high water mark. The tower is 20 feet high from the top of the pier to the ventilator on the lantern.

The light is elevated 19 feet above high water mark, and should be visible 4 miles from all points of approach by water.

The back tower stands on French point, Kent island, about ⅝ mile N. 31° E. from the front tower. It is 54 feet high from its base to the top of the ventilator on the lantern.

The light is elevated 59 feet above high water mark, and should be visible 4 miles from all points of approach by water.

The lights are intended to guide vessels in from sea to a safe anchorage inside of Steering beach.

Mariners bound in should enter by the channel to the eastward of Musquodoboit ledge and Harbour islet, avoiding Bull reef and Harbour islet shoals by keeping Jeddore rock light astern and just seen over the saddle of Jeddore head, until they reach the alignment of the range lights, N. 31° E., which course should be followed until the buoys marking the shoal off Steering beach are passed, when they can either anchor or proceed on a more northerly course up the channel, if they are familiar with the locality, leaving the light on Shag ledge on their starboard hand.

SECRÉTARIAT D'ÉTAT

OTTAWA, 11 février 1904.

SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL a reçu du Très honorable Secrétaire d'Etat pour les colonies une dépêche télégraphique attirant l'attention à la proclamation de neutralité lancée par Sa Majesté à l'occasion de la guerre entre le Japon et la Russie. Le texte de la proclamation n'a pas encore été reçu. Dans l'intervalle Son Excellence enjoint et ordonne par la présente à tous les sujets de Sa Majesté dans le Dominion du Canada, d'observer une stricte neutralité tant que durera la dite guerre, et de s'abstenir de violer aucune des lois et statuts du royaume à ce sujet, ou le droit des gens s'y rapportant. L'attention est aussi attirée aux dispositions de l'Acte des enrôlements à l'étranger, et les règlements basés là-dessus. Tous les sujets britanniques sont mis en garde contre toute violation de ces lois.

Règle A.—Aucun navire de guerre de l'un ou de l'autre belligérant ne pourra se servir des eaux britanniques comme lieux de rendez-vous pour des fins guerrières ou pour se procurer des équipements de guerre, ni ne sortira des eaux britanniques avant qu'il ne se soit écoulé (24) vingt-quatre heures depuis le départ d'un navire de l'autre belligérant (que ce soit un navire de guerre ou un navire marchand.)

Règle B.—Chaque tel navire de guerre sera tenu de prendre la mer sous vingt-quatre (24) heures après son entrée, sauf dans le cas de mauvais temps, ou s'il a besoin de réparations ou de provisions, auquel cas il devra partir aussitôt que possible, et certainement sous vingt-quatre (24) heures après les réparations finies.

La règle B est soumise à la règle A, et le délai peut être prolongé en conséquence. Nul ravitaillement ne sera permis au delà des provisions et subsistance nécessaires à l'équipage pour usage immédiat, ni plus de charbon qu'il en faudra pour atteindre le port le plus rapproché de son pays. Nul navire ne fera du charbon dans un port britannique deux fois dans le cours de trois mois. Aucune prise ne sera amenée dans les eaux britanniques.

Par ordre,
R. W. SCOTT,
33 Secrétaire d'Etat.

SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL EN CONSEIL.

SUR un Memorandum daté du 18 de décembre 1903 du ministre de l'Intérieur, disant que par inattention l'agent des terres fédérales à Winnipeg avait accordé une inscription de homestead à Gestur Sigurdsson pour le ¼ S. O. de la section 22, township 19, rang 2, ouest du 1er méridien, ce terrain ayant été préalablement transféré à la province du Manitoba comme terre marécageuse.

Le Ministre dit de plus que le gouvernement de la province du Manitoba a rendu l'arrêté en conseil nécessaire attribuant de nouveau le dit terrain au gouvernement fédéral afin que l'inscription de Mr. Sigurdsson soit confirmée.

Le Ministre recommande qu'en échange pour le terrain ainsi attribué le ¼ S. E. de la section 10, township 19, rang 2, ouest du 1er méridien, soit attribué à la Couronne pour les fins de la province du Manitoba.

Le comité soumet ce qui précède à l'approbation.

Jeudi, le 26e jour de novembre 1903.

PRÉSENT :

SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL EN CONSEIL.

CONSIDÉRANT que par arrêté en conseil du 8 de juin 1901, les ventes et inscriptions de homesteads dans la région y décrite pour des terres traversées par des rivières et grands cours d'eau, ont été limitées à un seul côté de celles des rivières et cours d'eau d'une dimension qui justifiait leur arpentage ; mais vu les frais et délais que cela entraînait, il a été jugé à propos de rescinder ce système,—

A ces causes il plaît au Gouverneur général en conseil d'ordonner et il ordonne que le dit arrêté en conseil du 8 de juin 1901, soit rescindé, et que le ministre de l'Intérieur soit autorisé à accorder des inscriptions, à volonté, renfermant des terres sur les deux côtés de rivières ou cours d'eau.

JOHN J. McGEE,
Greffier du Conseil privé.

QUÉBEC.

(4) Golfe et fleuve Saint-Laurent—Gaspé à Québec—Liste des bouées dans le chenal des navires.

Plus loin se trouve un tableau complet jusqu'à date des bouées dans le chenal des navires du fleuve Saint-Laurent, de Gaspé à Québec, préparé par l'ingénieur en chef du ministère de la Marine et des Pêcheries, principalement d'après une inspection personnelle.

Ces bouées seront à l'avenir numérotées consécutivement depuis Gaspé vers l'ouest, et porteront la lettre “B” (Below Quebec—en bas de Québec). Les noms qui se trouvaient autrefois sur quelques-unes des bouées seront remplacés par ces numéros lorsque les bouées seront placées le printemps prochain.

Toutes les bouées sur cette liste dans la circonscription de pilotage sont placées aussi tôt que possible après que la glace a descendu chaque printemps et restent mouillées jusqu'après le 10 de novembre chaque automne, la date variant selon la saison, et on s'efforce de les laisser ainsi tant que l'état de la glace le permet, mais les vaisseaux en retard ne peuvent pas s'attendre à trouver les bouées en position après que la glace a commencé à mouvoir. Quelques-unes des bouées les plus importantes si elles sont relevées avant que les derniers vaisseaux aient passé, sont remplacées temporairement par des espars, et alors les pilotes sont dûment avertis, et il n'est pas jugé nécessaire d'avertir spécialement les navigateurs de l'enlèvement ou remplacement des bouées chaque saison.

AVIS AUX NAVIGATEURS.

No. 5 de 1904.

(Avis de l'Atlantique No. 4.)

Tous les relèvements, à moins d'avis contraire, sont magnétiques et sont donnés venant de la mer, les milles sont des milles marins, les hauteurs sont au-dessus des hautes eaux et toutes les profondeurs sont à l'eau basse moyenne.

QUÉBEC.

(6) FLEUVE SAINT-LAURENT EN BAS DE QUÉBEC—RIVE NORD DE LA BAIE DES OUTARDES—RIVIÈRE DES OUTARDES—RIVIÈRE BERSIMIS—BOUÉES SUPPRIMÉES.

On entretenait autrefois dans la baie des Outardes des bouées pour indiquer le mouillage des vaisseaux prenant des chargements de bois, et aux entrées de la rivière des Outardes et de la rivière Bersimis pour faciliter le passage des chalans employés à charger ces vaisseaux.

Les scieries à cet endroit ont cessé de fonctionner, et conséquemment les bouées qui y étaient entretenues par les propriétaires de scieries en vertu d'arrangements avec ce ministère, ont été abandonnées.

Dorénavant les navigateurs ne doivent pas s'attendre à trouver ces bouées dans la baie des Outardes, la rivière des Outardes ou la rivière Bersimis.

And We hereby further warn all Our loving Subjets, and all Persons whatsoever entitled to Our Protection, that if any of them shall presume, in contempt of this Our Royal Proclamation, and of Our high Displeasure, to do any Acts in derogation of their Duty as Subjects of a Neutral Power in a War between other Powers, or in violation or contravention of the Law of Nations in that Behalf, as more especially by breaking, or endeavouring to break, any Blockade lawfully and actually established by or on behalf of either of the said Powers, or by carrying Officers, Soldiers, Despatches, Arms, Ammunition, Military Stores or Materials, or any Article or Articles considered and deemed to be Contraband of War according to the Law or Modern Usages of Nations, for the Use or Service of either of the said Powers that all Persons so offending, together with their Ships and Goods, will rightfully incur and be justly liable to hostile Capture, and to the Penalties denounced by the Law of Nations in that behalf.

And We do hereby give Notice that all Our Subjects and Persons entitled to Our Protection who may misconduct themselves in the Premises will do so at their peril, and of their own wrong ; and that they will in no wise obtain any Protection from Us against such Capture or such Penalties as aforesaid, but will, on the contrary, incur Our high Displeasure by such Misconduct.

Given at Our Court at Buckingham Palace, this eleventh day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and four, and in the fourth year of Our Reign.

GOD save the KING.

The Most Honourable the Marquess of Lansdowne to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty:*—

Foreign Office,
February 10, 1904.

My Lords,

His Majesty being fully determined to observe the duties of neutrality during the existing state of war between Russia and Japan ; being, moreover, resolved to prevent, as far as possible, the use of His Majesty's harbours, ports and coasts, and the waters within His Majesty's territorial jurisdiction, in aid of the warlike purposes of either belligerent, has commanded me to communicate to your Lordships, for your guidance, the following Rules, which are to be treated and enforced as His Majesty's orders and directions :—

Rule 1. During the continuance of the present state of war, all ships of war of either belligerent are prohibited from making use of any port or roadstead in the United Kingdom, the Isle of Man, or the Channel Islands, or in any of His Majesty's colonies or foreign possessions or dependencies, or of any waters subject to the territorial jurisdiction of the British Crown, as a station or place of resort for any warlike purpose, or for the purpose of obtaining any facilities for warlike equipment ; and no ship of war of either belligerent shall hereafter be permitted to leave any such port, roadstead, or waters from which any vessel of the other belligerent (whether the same shall be a ship of war or a merchant ship) shall have previously departed until after the expiration of at least twenty-four hours from the departure of such last-mentioned vessel beyond the territorial jurisdiction of His Majesty.

Rule 2. If there is now in any such port, roadstead, or waters subject to the territorial jurisdiction of the British Crown any ship of war of either belligerent, such ship of war shall leave such port, roadstead, or waters within such time not less than twenty-four hours as shall be reasonable, having regard to all the circumstances and the condition of such ship as to repairs, provisions, or things necessary for the subsistence of her crew ; and if after the date hereof any ship of war of either belligerent shall enter any such port, roadstead, or waters, subject to the territorial jurisdiction of the British Crown, such ship shall depart and put to sea within twenty-four hours after her entrance into any such port, roadstead, or waters, except in case of stress of weather, or of her requiring provisions or things necessary for the subsistence of her crew, or repairs ; in either of which cases the authorities of the port, or of the nearest port (as the case may be), shall require her to put to sea as soon as possible after the expiration of such period of twenty-four hours, without permitting her to take in supplies beyond what may be necessary, for her immediate use ; and no such vessel which may have been allowed to remain within British waters for the purpose of repair shall continue in any such port, roadstead, or waters, for a longer period than twenty-four hours after her necessary repairs shall have been completed. Provided, nevertheless, that in all cases in which there shall be any vessels (whether ships of war or merchant ships) of both the said belligerent parties in the same port, roadstead, or waters within the territoral jurisdiction of His Majesty, there shall be an interval of not less than twenty-four hours between the departure therefrom of any such vessel (whether a ship of war or merchant ship) of the one belligerent, and the subsequent departure therefrom of any ship of war of the other belligerent ; and the time hereby limited for the departure of such ships of war respectively shall always, in case of necessity, be extended so far as may be requisite for giving effect to this proviso, but no further or otherwise.

Rule 3. No ship of war of either belligerent shall hereafter be permitted, while in any such port, roadstead or waters subject to the territorial jurisdiction of His Majesty, to take in any supplies, except provisions and such other things as may be requisite for the subsistence of her crew, and except so much coal only as may be sufficient to carry such vessel to the nearest port of her own country, or to some nearer named neutral destination, and no coal shall again be supplied to any such ship of war in the same or any other port, roadstead, or waters subject to the territorial jurisdiction of His Majesty, without special permission, until after the expiration of three months from the time when such coal may have been last supplied to her within British waters as aforesaid.

Rule 4. Armed ships of either belligerent are interdicted from carrying prizes made by them into the ports, harbours, roadsteads, or waters of the United Kingdom, the Isle of Man, the Channel Islands, or any of His Majesty's Colonies or possessions abroad.

The Governor or other chief authority of each of His Majesty's territories or possessions beyond the seas shall forthwith notify and publish the above Rules.

My dear Mr. Ambassador,—In view of the recognition which the Congress of the United States has accorded to the Board of Lady Managers of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, I beg to enclose herewith an invitation from the board addressed to the women of Canada, through the Governor General, which they have asked me to have transmitted through your goon offices.

LOUISIANA PURCHASE EXPOSITION.

Board of Lady Managers.

Mrs. Daniel Manning, President.

St. Louis, Mo., February 16, 1904.

Excellency : By an Act of the Congress of the United States the Board of Lady Managers of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition is directed to join with the other constituted authorities in commemorating the great event in the history of the United States when, a century ago, there was added to its territory a new field which to-day is the home of many people and where earnest and sincere women, as well as men, are laboriously working out the problems of the progress of humanity, and the advancement of the race.

No single individual, no one people, no separate country can supply that full knowledge from which may be fixed the condition of mankind, its development in the industries, the arts, the sciences at the commencement of the twentieth century. The entire world must contribute to this knowledge and therefore the entire world has been invited to take part in this universal exposition and to bring hither the fruit of the lands, the products of other soils, the articles manufactured by foreign hands and evidences of the achievements of the intellect and intelligence in the higher fields of thought.

While in gathering all these things there is no distinction made between the work of man's hand and of woman's hand, between the product of man's mind and of woman's mind, nevertheless it is the peculiar function of this Board to act as the channel through which women as individuals and as organizations may be brought into immediate communication with the Exposition at St. Louis.

It is therefore with cordiality and eagerness that we invite the women of the Dominion to join with us in presenting to the world information of the condition, opportunities, developement and promises of their sex in their own country and to exhibit at the Exposition specimens of their productions and examples of their activities, manual and mental, scientific and artistic.

And coupled with this invitation we would express the hope that we may be permitted to be of personal service to such women as may visit the Exposition in person, or to give special attention to the exhibits of such as may not be able to come.

Requesting Your Excellency's good offices to the end that due publicity may be given to the invitation in order that it may come to the knowledge of the women of the Dominion, I beg to assure you of the high consideration with which I am

Your obedient servant,

MARY MARGARETTA MANNING,
President.

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Wednesday, the 27th day of January, 1904.

PRESENT:

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 23rd January, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that in July, 1903, certain lands situated in Townships 32 and 33, Ranges 7 and 8, west of the Principal Meridian, were withdrawn from Homestead entry in order that Mr. Hugh Sutherland, of Winnipeg, might have an opportunity of prospecting thereon, with the view of determining whether or not these lands, or any of them, contained a sufficient deposit of gypsum to warrant the purchase of an area thereof for that purpose.

The Minister further states that Mr. Sutherland after carefully prospecting the territory and having a survey thereof made, has now applied for permission to purchase the following Crown Lands:—

The N. E. ¼ of Section 34,	Township	32,	Range	8
" N. W. ¼ of Section 2,	"	33,	"	8
" S. E. ¼ of Section 10,	"	33,	"	8
" N. ½ of Section 14,	"	33,	"	8
" S. W. ¼ of Section 24,	"	33,	"	8
" N. E. ¼ of Section 12,	"	33,	"	8

all west of the Principal Meridian.

The Minister also states that the applicant represents that the plaster which it is the intention to manufacture from the gypsum discovered on the above lands is not produced within the limits of the Province; that the market is supplied by importations made chiefly from the United States; that with a little encouragement there is a fair prospect of establishing in the Province of Manitoba a new and very important industry; that the locality in which the lands are situated is so rough as to be almost inaccessible; that it will be necessary to construct twenty-five miles of a tramway to carry the product to Lake Winnipeg where it can be taken to market by boat; that this will necessitate a large outlay which cannot be undertaken unless a sufficient area of land can be acquired; and that it is safe to assume that these deposits cannot be successfully worked with less than a capital of one half a million dollars.

The Minister recommends, upon Mr. Sutherland's representation that he has acquired the necessary intervening odd-numbered sections, and in view of the importance of the industry which it is proposed to establish, that he, the Minister, be authorized to sell to the applicant the surface and gypsum mining rights of the above land at the rate of $5.00 an acre.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

JOHN J. McGEE,
35–4 Clerk of the Privy Council.

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Saturday, the 30th day of January, 1904.

PRESENT:

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 14th January, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that his attention has been called to the great scarcity of water in portions of the Yukon Territory, and representations have been made to him that this want of water is the principal factor in retarding the development of the gold bearing gravels of Bonanza and Eldorado Creeks, and in reducing the gold output; that in the springtime, and during the rainy seasons, considerable surplus water is allowed to escape which would be of great value to the miners if it could be impounded and held for periods of scarcity; and that the creation of reservoirs in the creeks and gulches of the Territory, and the storage of water on worthless or worked out ground, would temporarily assist in solving the water question in portions of the Territory.

The Minister further states that to facilitate the carrying out of such a plan it would appear to be necessary to close from placer mining entry under the Regulations the ground upon which it might be decided to create a reservoir for the storage of water, since a scheme which might be of the greatest advantage to the miners of any particular locality might be blocked by any free miner who might, for the purpose of obstruction, stake out under the Regulations a portion of the ground required for the reservoir site.

The Minister therefore recommends that the Commissioner of the Yukon Territory may upon approval by him of an application for permission to impound the surplus waters of any creek or gulch, withdraw from mining entry, under the Regulations in that behalf, any vacant ground required as a reservoir site or for any other purpose in connection with the storage of water, but only such ground as has been thoroughly prospected and has been found to be worthless for placer mining purposes, or ground which has been worked out and abandoned, shall be eligible for withdrawal from entry for the purpose mentioned. The approval by the Commissioner of an application, and the withdrawal by him of the ground from mining entry, to be subjet to cancellation by the Minister of the Interior during a period of ninety days after public notice of such action having been taken has been given by the Commissioner.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

35-4 Clerk of the Privy Council.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 22nd January, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, submitting that by Orders in Council dated the 27th of May and 30th of July, 1903, provision was made that the Honourable Byron Moffat Britton, one of His Majesty's Justices of the High Court of Justice for the Province of Ontario, and Mr. Benjamin Taylor A. Bell of the City of Ottawa, Secretary of the Canadian Mining Institute, be appointed Commissioners to conduct a public enquiry into certain matters in the Yukon Territory, holding the same in the City of Dawson and elsewhere in the said Territory as they might determine.

Friday, the 8th day of January, 1904.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 21st December, 1903, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that provision is made in paragraph (i) of section 1, chapter 5, of 60-61 Victoria, being an Act to authorize a subsidy for a railway through the Crows' Nest Pass, for the conveyance to the Crown in the interest of Canada of fifty thousand acres of coal-bearing land obtained by the Railway Company from the Government of British Columbia as a subsidy in connection with the construction of their line, such fifty thousand acres to be selected by the Government in such fair and equitable manner as might be determined by the Governor in Council and to be thereafter held or disposed of or otherwise dealt with by the Government as it might think fit, on such conditions as might be prescribed by the Governor in Council, for the purpose of securing a sufficient and suitable supply of coal to the public at reasonable prices, not exceeding two dollars per ton of two thousand pounds free on board cars at the mines.

The Minister further states that a selection of the area in question was made under the provisions of the above section of the Act and this selection was approved by an Order in Council of the 19th May, 1902.

The Minister recommends, as the Regulations for the sale of coal mining lands in Manitoba, the North-west Territories and the Province of British Columbia approved by Order in Council of the 19th May, 1902, would not appear to be applicable to the above area and would not meet the provisions of the said Act, that no mining regulations or other regulations for the sale or disposal of Dominion Lands shall apply to the area of 50,000 acres above referred to, or any part thereof, but that these lands shall only be disposed of as specially authorized by Order in Council.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

32-4 Clerk of the Privy Council.

(12) South coast—Musquodoboit harbour—Range lights established.

Range light towers have been erected by the Government of Canada at the entrance of Musquodoboit inlet, from which lights will be shown on the 1st April, 1904.

Both towers are white, wooden enclosed structures, square in plan, with sloping sides, surmounted by white, square, wooden lanterns with red roofs.

The lights are fixed red lights, and the illuminating apparatus pressed glass lenses.

The front tower stands on a concrete pier on Shag ledge.

Lat.	N.	44°	41′	42″
Long.	W.	63	4	25

The pier is 16 feet square, and its top is 5 feet above high water mark. The tower is 20 feet high from the top of the pier to the ventilator on the lantern.

The light is elevated 19 feet above high water mark, and should be visible 4 miles from all points of approach by water.

The back tower stands on French point, Kent island, about ⅝ mile N. 31° E. from the front tower. It is 54 feet high from its base to the top of the ventilator on the lantern.

The light is elevated 59 feet above high water mark, and should be visible 4 miles from all points of approach by water.

The lights are intended to guide vessels in from sea to a safe anchorage inside of Steering beach.

Mariners bound in should enter by the channel to the eastward of Musquodoboit ledge and Harbour islet, avoiding Bull reef and Harbour islet shoals by keeping Jeddore rock light astern and just seen over the saddle of Jeddore head, until they reach the alignment of the range lights, N. 31° E., which course should be followed until the buoys marking the shoal off Steering beach are passed, when they can either anchor or proceed on a more northerly course up the channel, if they are familiar with the locality, leaving the light on Shag ledge on their starboard hand.

NORTH ATLANTIC OCEAN.

(14) NEWFOUNDLAND—OFF THE SOUTHERN AND EASTERN COASTS—CURRENTS MET ON THE STEAMSHIP ROUTES.

During the season of 1903, from May to September, these currents were investigated by the Tidal and Current Survey, in this Department. The D.G.S. "Gulnare," equipped with modern appliances, was employed for the purpose. The steamer was anchored at various stations while the surface and under currents were examined, their speed measured by current-meters registering electrically, and their direction noted every half-hour, day and night. The observations also included a continuous wind and barometer record from instruments on board; water-temperatures to a depth of 30 fathoms; and a record of the tide on a self-registering tide gauge placed in the harbour nearest Cape Race. Valuable information was also obtained from the fishermen in the region.

The investigation had special reference to the question of indraught into the larger bays on the south coast; and the behaviour of the Polar current which follows the eastern coast. A report now in press will describe the nature of the currents in these regions, the tidal characteristics which they all show in a greater or less degree, and the effect of the wind upon them.

In the meantime, we may draw attention to the following notes, which result from the observations taken at points along the steamship route:

(1) When more than five miles from shore, there are no currents at any time throughout the season which exceed one knot in any direction. The only exception to this is the Polar current in which a maximum speed of 1·15 knots was observed. This emphatically contradicts the statements so often made that strong currents are there met with.

(2) On the south coast, when not more than four or five miles from the shore, the current is chiefly governed by the tide, and sets in the two opposite directions alternately, but the farther out the point of observation, the greater the tendency for the direction of the current to veer completely around the compass.

(3) The water makes north-westward on the whole, along the southern coast, from Cape Race towards Placentia bay. On the charts there are arrows which show a "constant current" in that direction; but these must be taken to mean that the set is a little stronger or more frequent towards the point they indicate, than towards any other point around the compass to which the current may set.

(4) With regard to indraught towards the bays, the water makes inwards on the whole on the eastern side of Placentia bay, in the same sense that it makes northwestward along the south coast. A corresponding indraught is felt at certain times of the tide on the east side of St. Mary's bay. These indraughts are included in the above note as to the strength of the currents generally. At any offing above 5 miles, they do not exceed one knot. Close to the headlands, there may no doubt be local streams of greater strength.

(5) The Polar current sets very constantly to the southwest, for a width of 30 or 40 miles off the eastern coast. During times of disturbance, it may set south-eastward, or even be reversed, on the surface. When such disturbance occurs, it is usually for part of a day immediately before a gale comes on.

QUEBEC.

(4) GULF AND RIVER ST. LAWRENCE—GASPÉ TO QUEBEC—LIST OF SHIP CHANNEL BUOYS.

On the following sheet will be found tabulated a complete list to date of buoys in the ship channel of the River St. Lawrence from Gaspé to Quebec, prepared by the Chief Engineer of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, chiefly from personal inspection.

These buoys will in future be numbered consecutively from Gaspé westward, and will bear the letter "B" (Below Quebec). The names heretofore on some of the buoys will be replaced by these numbers when the buoys are set out next spring.

All the buoys in this list within the pilotage district are set out as early as possible after the ice passes down each spring and are left out until after the 10th November each autumn, the date varying with the season, and every effort being made to leave them out as long as the state of the ice will permit, but belated vessels must not expect to find the buoys in position after the ice has begun to run. Some of the more important buoys, if lifted before the last vessels have passed out, are temporarily replaced by wooden spars, in which case the pilots are duly notified, and no special notices to mariners describing the removal or replacing of buoys each season are considered necessary.

ARRETÉS EN CONSEIL.

[Renv. 457,155]

HOTEL DU GOUVERNEMENT À OTTAWA

Mercredi, le 27e jour de janvier 1904.

PRÉSENT :

SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL EN CONSEIL.

SUR un rapport daté le 23e jour de janvier 1904, du ministre de l'Intérieur, disant qu'en juillet 1903, certaines terres situées dans les townships 32 et 33, rangs 7 et 8, ouest du principal méridien, ont été retirées des inscriptions de homesteads afin de donner à Mr. Hugh Sutherland, de Winnipeg, l'occasion d'y prospecter afin de constater si ces terres contenaient ou non un dépôt suffisant de gypse pour justifier l'achat d'une certaine étendue d'icelles pour cette fin.

Le Ministre dit de plus que Mr. Sutherland, après avoir soigneusement prospecté le territoire, et l'avoir fait arpenter, demande aujourd'hui la permission d'acheter les terres fédérales suivantes :—

Le ¼ N. E. de la section 34, township 32, rang 8
" ¼ N.-O. " 10, " 33, " 8
" ¼ S.-O. " 10, " 33, " 8
" ½ N. " 14, " 33, " 8
" ¼ S.-O. " 24, " 33, " 8
" ¼ N.-E. " 12, " 33, " 8
Le tout à l'ouest du principal méridien.

Le Ministre dit aussi que le requérant représente que le plâtre qu'on a l'intention de manufacturer du gypse découvert sur les susdites terres n'est pas produit dans les limites de la province ; que le marché est approvisionné principalement des importations des Etats-Unis ; qu'avec un peu d'encouragement tout promet d'établir dans la province du Manitoba une nouvelle industrie importante ; que la localité où les terres sont situées est si inégale qu'elle est presque inaccessible ; qu'il sera nécessaire de construire vingt-cinq milles d'un tramway pour transporter le produit au lac Winnipeg d'où il sera porté au marché par bateaux, que cela nécessitera de forts déboursés qu'on ne peut encourir à moins d'acquérir une large étendue de terrain ; et qu'on peut calculer en toute sûreté que ces dépôts ne peuvent être avantageusement exploités qu'avec un capital d'au moins un demi-million de piastres.

Le Ministre recommande, sur la représentation de Mr. Sutherland qu'il a acquis les sections impaires nécessaires, et que vu l'importance de l'industrie qu'il propose d'établir le Ministre soit autorisé à vendre au requérant les droits miniers de surface et de gypse des terres susdites au taux de $5 l'acre.

Le comité soumet ce qui précède à l'approbation.

JOHN J. McGEE,
Greffier du Conseil privé.

HOTEL DU GOUVERNEMENT À OTTAWA.

Samedi, le 8e jour de janvier 1904.

PRÉSENT :

SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL EN CONSEIL.

SUR un Memorandum daté du 18 de décembre 1903 du ministre de l'Intérieur, disant que par inattention l'agent des terres fédérales à Winnipeg avait accordé une inscription de homestead à Gestur Sigurdsson pour le ¼ S. O. de la section 22, township 19, rang 2, ouest du 1er méridien, ce terrain ayant été préalablement transféré à la province du Manitoba comme terre marécageuse.

Le Ministre dit de plus que le gouvernement de la province du Manitoba a rendu l'arrêté en conseil nécessaire attribuant de nouveau le dit terrain au gouvernement fédéral afin que l'inscription de Mr. Sigurdsson soit confirmée.

Le Ministre recommande qu'en échange pour le terrain ainsi attribué le ¼ S. E. de la section 10, township 19, rang 2, ouest du 1er méridien, soit attribué à la Couronne pour les fins de la province du Manitoba.

Le comité soumet ce qui précède à l'approbation.

JOHN J. McGEE,
Greffier du Conseil prive.

HOTEL DU GOUVERNEMENT À OTTAWA.

Jeudi, le 26e jour de novembre 1903.

PRÉSENT :

SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL EN CONSEIL.

CONSIDÉRANT que par arrêté en conseil du 8 de juin 1901, les ventes et inscriptions de homesteads dans la région y décrite pour des terres traversées par des rivières et grands cours d'eau, ont été limitées à un seul côté de celles des rivières et cours d'eau d'une dimension qui justifiait leur arpentage ; mais vu les frais et délais que cela entraînait, il a été jugé à propos de rescinder ce système,—

A ces causes il plaît au Gouverneur général en conseil d'ordonner et il ordonne que le dit arrêté en conseil du 8 de juin 1901, soit rescindé, et que le ministre de l'Intérieur soit autorisé à accorder des inscriptions, à volonté, renfermant des terres sur les deux côtés de rivières ou cours d'eau.

JOHN J. McGEE,
Greffier du Conseil privé.

RÈGLEMENTS ET ORDRES, 1898.

Les ajoutés et modifications ci-dessous, apportés aux Règlements et Ordres, 1898, sont autorisés :—

O. G. 1.

Nomination, promotion et éducation militaire des officiers et sous-officiers autres que ceux des corps permanents.

Nominations et promotions.

2. Personne ne sera nommé ou promu à un grade commissionné ou nomination dans la milice, à moins que cette personne n'ait les qualités qui seront de temps à autre prescrites pour ce grade ou nomination.

3. Nul officier ne sera promu à un grade plus élevé que celui immédiatement plus haut que le grade qu'il a alors.

4. Nul officier ne sera promu avant d'avoir servi pendant au moins deux ans dans le grade qu'il a alors.

5. Personne ne sera nommé ou promu à un grade breveté ou à une nomination dans la milice, à moins d'avoir les qualités qui seront de temps à autre prescrites pour le grade ou la nomination qu'il désire.

6. Pourvu toujours que l'application des règles précédentes à des cas individuels, pourront, dans certaines circonstances, être variées par le ministre de la Marine et de la Défense, sur la recommandation de l'officier général commandant.

Classes.

7. Pour les fins de promotion et d'éducation professionnelle les officiers et sous-officiers de la milice—autres que ceux des corps permanents—seront divisés en deux classes.

8. Les classes cadettes recevront leur instruction aux écoles royales d'instruction, l'école canadienne de mousqueterie, et aux autres écoles qui seront établies de temps à autre ; les classes anciennes recevront leur instruction à un camp central d'instruction.

9. Les classes, la nature, le degré d'instruction et d'examen, l'époque à laquelle cette instruction sera donnée et sa durée, la date des examens, et tous les détails relatifs à l'entrée des aspirants, leur instruction, examen et renvoi, seront tels que prescrits de temps à autre.

Transport.

10. Un aspirant dont l'admission pour une période d'instruction a été sanctionnée, aura droit d'être transporté aux frais du public—un officier au taux de première classe, un sous-officier au taux de deuxième classe—depuis sa résidence dans sa division régimentaire jusqu'à l'endroit d'instruction.

De même, lorsque des aspirants ont obtenu des certificats d'aptitude, ils auront droit au transport de retour—les officiers, première classe ; les sous-officiers, deuxième classe.

Paie et allocations.

Un officier qui suit un cours d'instruction, recevra une allocation de $1 par jour, et les mêmes rations de nourriture, combustible et éclairage (et des rations pour un cheval, si un cheval est autorisé) qui sont données à un officier de son grade dans la force permanente.

Un sous-officier qui suit un cours d'instruction, recevra la solde quotidienne de son grade fixée pour les exercices annuels, et recevra aussi les mêmes rations de nourriture, combustible et éclairage qui sont donnés à un sous-officier de son grade dans les troupes de la milice levées pour service continu.

Pourvu, toutefois, qu'un aspirant, qu'il soit officier ou sous-officier ne recevra de solde ou d'allocations pour plus de 75 jours s'il appartient à l'artillerie, ni pour plus de 50 jours s'il appartient à une autre arme du service, (tant qu'il restera dans une seule et même classe d'aspirants) sauf avec la permission spéciale du quartier-général.

Pourvu aussi, que, sauf avec pareille permission du quartier-général, un aspirant ne recevra pas de paie ni d'allocations pour un jour pendant lequel il n'aura pas assisté réellement à une école d'instruction, ou été nécessairement engagé à voyager pour se rendre à l'école ou en revenir.

O. G. 2.

LOGEMENTS DES OFFICIERS.

Les logements des officiers, à leur occupation, seront convenablement inspectés par un officier ou subalterne du corps du génie, accompagné de l'officier commandant l'unité ou son représentant, et un inventaire fait de l'ameublement, installations, etc., appartenant à l'Etat.

En les quittant, les logements des officiers seront inspectés de la même manière, et tous dommages autres que l'usure raisonnable seront calculés et portés au compte de l'officier responsable.

AVIS AUX NAVIGATEURS.

No. 3 de 1904.

(Avis de l'Atlantique No. 4.)

Tous les relèvements, à moins d'avis contraire, sont magnétiques et sont donnés venant de la mer, les milles sont des milles marins, les hauteurs sont au-dessus des hautes eaux, et toutes les profondeurs sont à l'eau basse moyenne.

QUÉBEC.

(4) GOLFE ET FLEUVE SAINT-LAURENT—GASPÉ À QUÉBEC—LISTE DES BOUÉES DANS LE CHENAL DES NAVIRES.

Plus loin se trouve un tableau complet jusqu'à date des bouées dans le chenal des navires du fleuve Saint-Laurent, de Gaspé à Québec, préparé par l'ingénieur en chef du ministère de la Marine et des Pêcheries, principalement d'après une inspection personnelle.

Ces bouées seront à l'avenir numérotées consécutivement depuis Gaspé vers l'ouest, et porteront la lettre "B" (Below Quebec—en bas de Québec). Les noms qui se trouvaient autrefois sur quelques-unes des bouées seront remplacés par ces numéros lorsque les bouées seront placées le printemps prochain.

Toutes les bouées sur cette liste dans la circonscription de pilotage sont placées aussi tôt que possible après que la glace a descendu chaque printemps et restent mouillées jusqu'après le 10 de novembre chaque automne, la date variant selon la saison, et on s'efforce de les laisser ainsi tant que l'état de la glace le permet, mais les vaisseaux en retard ne peuvent pas s'attendre à trouver les bouées en position après que la glace a commencé à mouvoir. Quelques-unes des bouées les plus importantes si elles sont relevées avant que les derniers vaisseaux aient passé, sont remplacées temporairement par des espars, et alors les pilotes sont dûment avertis, et il n'est pas jugé nécessaire d'avertir spécialement les navigateurs de l'enlèvement ou replacement des bouées chaque saison.

L'époux qui a l'intention de demander un bill de divorce doit faire connaître cette intention, ainsi que les noms de l'autre époux et la cause du divorce, par avis inséré durant six mois avant la présentation de sa pétition pour obtenir le bill, dans la Gazette du Canada et dans deux journaux du district où il avait sa résidence habituelle à l'époque de séparation d'avec son conjoint, s'il résidait alors dans la province de Québec, le Manitoba, la Colombie Britannique, ou les Territoires du Nord-Ouest,—ou du comté ou des comtés-unis, s'il résidait dans une autre province ; mais si ce nombre de journaux ne s'y trouve pas, l'avis sera publié dans le district, le comté ou les comtés-unis voisins. Dans les provinces de Québec et de Manitoba, les insertions seront faites dans un journal anglais et un journal français, s'il en existe des deux langues dans le district ; autrement, elles se feront en anglais et en français au même journal.

Il doit être signifié, à la diligence de l'époux pétitionnaire, un mois au moins avant la présentation de la pétition, une copie de cet avis à l'autre époux en personne, si cela est possible.

Aucune pétition en divorce n'est reçue après l'expiration des trente premiers jours de la session.

Toute pétition en divorce devra être écrite lisiblement et porter la signature du pétitionnaire. Elle énoncera sommairement le fait du mariage, le lieu et l'époque de sa célébration, les noms du célébrant, les griefs qui donnent lieu à la demande de redressement et la nature du redressement demandé, et en outre contiendra assurance qu'il n'y a pas eu réconciliation, collusion ni connivence. Les allégations de la pétition seront appuyées de la déclaration du pétitionnaire faite en vertu de "l'Acte de la preuve en Canada, 1893."

Huit jours avant l'ouverture du Parlement, le pétitionnaire déposera au bureau du greffier du Sénat, une copie en langue anglaise ou française du bill de divorce qui doit être présenté, et en même temps une somme suffisante pour payer la traduction et l'impression et tirage à 600 exemplaires anglais et 200 exemplaires français de ce bill.

La pétition en obtention d'un bill de divorce n'est présentée que lorsque le pétitionnaire a versé au bureau du greffier du Sénat une somme de $200.

La pétition, au moment de sa présentation, doit être accompagnée de la preuve de la publication d'avis, d'une déclaration qu'il a été signifié une copie de l'avis, et d'une copie du bill qui doit être présenté.

A PROCLAMATION.

EDWARD, R. & I.

Whereas We are happily at Peace with all Sovereigns, Powers, and States:

And whereas a State of War unhappily exists between His Majesty The Emperor of All The Russias, and His Majesty The Emperor of Japan, and between their respective Subjects, and others inhabiting within their Countries, Territories, or Dominions:

And whereas We are on Terms of Friendship and Amicable intercourse with each of these Powers, and with their several Subjects, and others inhabiting within their Countries, Territories, or Dominions:

And whereas great Numbers of Our Loyal Subjects reside and carry on Commerce, and possess Property and Establishments, and enjoy various Rights and Privileges, within the Dominions of each of the aforesaid Powers, protected by the Faith of Treaties between Us and each of the aforesaid Powers:

And whereas We, being desirous of preserving to Our Subjects the Blessings of Peace, which they now happily enjoy, are firmly purposed and determined to maintain a strict and impartial Neutrality in the said State of War unhappily existing between the aforesaid Powers:

We, therefore, have thought fit, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council, to issue this Our Royal Proclamation:

And We do hereby strictly charge and command all Our loving Subjects to govern themselves accordingly, and to observe a strict Neutrality in and during the aforesaid War, and to abstain from violating or contravening either the Laws and Statutes of the Realm in this behalf, or the Law of Nations in relation thereto, as they will answer to the contrary at their Peril:

And whereas in and by certain Statute made and passed in a Session of Parliament holden in the 33rd and 34th year of the reign of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, intituled "An Act to regulate the conduct of Her Majesty's Subjects during the existence of hostilities between Foreign States with which Her Majesty is at peace," it is, among other things, declared and enacted as follows:—

> "He shall be guilty of an Offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the Offender is convicted: and Imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without Hard Labour.

"If any person without the Licence of Her Majesty, being a British Subject, quits or goes on board any Ship with a view of quitting Her Majesty's Dominions, with intent to accept any Commission or Engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with a friendly State, or, whether a British Subject or not, within Her Majesty's Dominions, induces any other person to quit or to go on board any Ship with a view of quitting Her Majesty's Dominions with the like intent,—

> "He shall be guilty of an Offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the Offender is convicted; and Imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without Hard Labour.

"If any Person induces any other Person to quit Her Majesty's Dominions or to embark on any Ship within Her Majesty's Dominions under a Misrepresentation or false Representation of the Service in which such Person is to be engaged, with the intent or in order that such Person may accept or agree to accept any Commission or Engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with a friendly State,—

"(1.) The Offender shall be punishable by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the Offender is convicted; and Imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without Hard Labour.

"(2.) The Ship in respect of which any such Offence is committed, and her Equipment, shall be forfeited to Her Majesty:

"Provided that a Person building, causing to be built, or equipping a Ship in any of the cases aforesaid, in pursuance of a contract made before the commencement of such War as aforesaid, shall not be liable to any of the Penalties imposed by this Section in respect of such building or equipping if he satisfies the conditions following (that is to say):—

"(1.) If forthwith upon a Proclamation of Neutrality being issued by Her Majesty he gives Notice to the Secretary of State that he is so building, causing to be built, or equipping such Ship, and furnishes such Particulars of the Contract and of any Matters relating to, or done, or to be done under the Contract as may be required by the Secretary of State:

"If any Person within the Dominions of Her Majesty, and without the License of Her Majesty,—

"By adding to the number of the Guns, or by changing those on board for other Guns, or by the addition of any Equipment for War, increases or augments, or procures to be increased or augmented, or is knowingly concerned in increasing or augmenting the warlike Force of any Ship which at the time of her being within the Dominions of Her Majesty was a Ship in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at War with any friendly State,—

"Such Person shall be guilty of an Offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of such Punishments, at the Discretion of the Court before which the Offender is convicted; and Imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without Hard Labour.

"If any person within the limits of Her Majesty's Dominions, and without the Licence of Her Majesty:

"Prepares or fits out any Naval or Military Expedition to proceed against the Dominions of any friendly State, the following consequences shall ensue:

"(1.) Every person engaged in such preparation or fitting out, or assisting therein, or, employed in any capacity in such Expedition shall be guilty of an Offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the Offender is convicted; and Imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

"(2.) All Ships, and their Equipments, and all Arms and Munitions of War, used in or forming part of such Expedition, shall be forfeited to Her Majesty.

"Any Person who aids, abets, counsels, or procures the Commission of any Offence against this Act shall be liable to be tried and punished as a principal Offender."

And whereas by the said Act it is further provided that Ships built, commissioned, equipped, or despatched in contravention of the said Act, may be condemned and forfeited by Judgment of the Court of Admiralty; and that if the Secretary of State or Chief Executive Authority is satisfied that there is a reasonable and probable cause for believing that a Ship within Our Dominions has been or is being built, commissioned, or equipped, contrary to the said Act, and is about to be taken beyond the limits of such Dominions, or that a Ship is about to be despatched contrary to the Act, such Secretary of State or Chief Executive Authority shall have power to issue a warrant authorizing the seizure and search of such Ship and her detention until she has been either condemned or released by Process of Law. And whereas certain powers of seizure and detention are conferred by the said Act on certain Local Authorities;

Now, in order that none of Our Subjects may unwarily render themselves liable to the Penalties imposed by the said Statute, We do hereby strictly command that no Person or Persons whatsoever do commit any Act, Matter, or Thing whatsoever contrary to the Provisions of the said Statute, upon pain of the several Penalties by the said Statute imposed and of Our high Displeasure.

And We do hereby further warn and admonish all Our loving Subjects, and all Persons whatsoever entitled to Our Protection, to observe towards each of the aforesaid Powers, their Subjects, and Territories, and towards all Belligerents whatsoever with whom We are at Peace, the Duties of Neutrality; and to respect, in all and each of them, the Exercise of Belligerent Rights.

And We hereby further warn all Our loving Subjets, and all Persons whatsoever entitled to Our Protection, that if any of them shall presume, in contempt of this Our Royal Proclamation, and of Our high Displeasure, to do any Acts in derogation of their Duty as Subjects of a Neutral Power in a War between other Powers, or in violation or contravention of the Law of Nations in that Behalf, as more especially by breaking, or endeavouring to break, any Blockade lawfully and actually established by or on behalf of either of the said Powers, or by carrying Officers, Soldiers, Despatches, Arms, Ammunition, Military Stores or Materials, or any Article or Articles considered and deemed to be Contraband of War according to the Law or Modern Usages of Nations, for the Use or Service of either of the said Powers that all Persons so offending, together with their Ships and Goods, will rightfully incur and be justly liable to hostile Capture, and to the Penalties denounced by the Law of Nations in that behalf.

And We do hereby give Notice that all Our Subjects and Persons entitled to Our Protection who may misconduct themselves in the Premises will do so at their peril, and of their own wrong; and that they will in no wise obtain any Protection from Us against such Capture or such Penalties as aforesaid, but will, on the contrary, incur Our high Displeasure by such Misconduct.

Given at Our Court at Buckingham Palace, this eleventh day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and four, and in the fourth year of Our Reign.

GOD save the KING.

The Most Honourable the Marquess of Lansdowne to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty:*—

Foreign Office,
February 10, 1904.

My Lords,

His Majesty being fully determined to observe the duties of neutrality during the existing state of war between Russia and Japan; being, moreover, resolved to prevent, as far as possible, the use of His Majesty's harbours, ports and coasts, and the waters within His Majesty's territorial jurisdiction, in aid of the warlike purposes of either belligerent, has commanded me to communicate to your Lordships, for your guidance, the following Rules, which are to be treated and enforced as His Majesty's orders and directions:—

Rule 1. During the continuance of the present state of war, all ships of war of either belligerent are prohibited from making use of any port or roadstead in the United Kingdom, the Isle of Man, or the Channel Islands, or in any of His Majesty's colonies or foreign possessions or dependencies, or of any waters subject to the territorial jurisdiction of the British Crown, as a station or place of resort for any warlike purpose, or for the purpose of obtaining any facilities for warlike equipment; and no ship of war of either belligerent shall hereafter be permitted to leave any such port, roadstead, or waters from which any vessel of the other belligerent (whether the same shall be a ship of war or a merchant ship) shall have previously departed until after the expiration of at least twenty-four hours from the departure of such last-mentioned vessel beyond the territorial jurisdiction of His Majesty.

Rule 2. If there is now in any such port, roadstead, or waters subject to the territorial jurisdiction of the British Crown any ship of war of either belligerent, such ship of war shall leave such port, roadstead, or waters within such time not less than twenty-four hours as shall be reasonable, having regard to all the circumstances and the condition of such ship as to repairs, provisions, or things necessary for the subsistence of her crew; and if after the date hereof any ship of war of either belligerent shall enter any such port, roadstead, or waters, subject to the territorial jurisdiction of the British Crown, such ship shall depart and put to sea within twenty-four hours after her entrance into any such port, roadstead, or waters, except in case of stress of weather, or of her requiring provisions or things necessary for the subsistence of her crew, or repairs; in either of which cases the authorities of the port, or of the nearest port (as the case may be), shall require her to put to sea as soon as possible after the expiration of such period of twenty-four hours, without permitting her to take in supplies beyond what may be necessary, for her immediate use; and no such vessel which may have been allowed to remain within British waters for the purpose of repair shall continue in any such port, roadstead, or waters, for a longer period than twenty-four hours after her necessary repairs shall have been completed. Provided, nevertheless, that in all cases in which there shall be any vessels (whether ships of war or merchant ships) of both the said belligerent parties in the same port, roadstead, or waters within the territoral jurisdiction of His Majesty, there shall be an interval of not less than twenty-four hours between the departure therefrom of any such vessel (whether a ship of war or merchant ship) of the one belligerent, and the subsequent departure therefrom of any ship of war of the other belligerent; and the time hereby limited for the departure of such ships of war respectively shall always, in case of necessity, be extended so far as may be requisite for giving effect to this proviso, but no further or otherwise.

Rule 3. No ship of war of either belligerent shall hereafter be permitted, while in any such port, roadstead or waters subject to the territorial jurisdiction of His Majesty, to take in any supplies, except provisions and such other things as may be requisite for the subsistence of her crew, and except so much coal only as may be sufficient to carry such vessel to the nearest port of her own country, or to some nearer named neutral destination, and no coal shall again be supplied to any such ship of war in the same or any other port, roadstead, or waters subject to the territorial jurisdiction of His Majesty, without special permission, until after the expiration of three months from the time when such coal may have been last supplied to her within British waters as aforesaid.

Rule 4. Armed ships of either belligerent are interdicted from carrying prizes made by them into the ports, harbours, roadsteads, or waters of the United Kingdom, the Isle of Man, the Channel Islands, or any of His Majesty's Colonies or possessions abroad.

LOUISIANA PURCHASE EXPOSITION.

BOARD OF LADY MANAGERS.

Mrs. Daniel Manning, President.

ST. LOUIS, MO., February 16, 1904.

EXCELLENCY: By an Act of the Congress of the United States the Board of Lady Managers of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition is directed to join with the other constituted authorities in commemorating the great event in the history of the United States when, a century ago, there was added to its territory a new field which to-day is the home of many people and where earnest and sincere women, as well as men, are laboriously working out the problems of the progress of humanity, and the advancement of the race.

No single individual, no one people, no separate country can supply that full knowledge from which may be fixed the condition of mankind, its development in the industries, the arts, the sciences at the commencement of the twentieth century. The entire world must contribute to this knowledge and therefore the entire world has been invited to take part in this universal exposition and to bring hither the fruit of the lands, the products of other soils, the articles manufactured by foreign hands and evidences of the achievements of the intellect and intelligence in the higher fields of thought.

While in gathering all these things there is no distinction made between the work of man's hand and of woman's hand, between the product of man's mind and of woman's mind, nevertheless it is the peculiar function of this Board to act as the channel through which women as individuals and as organizations may be brought into immediate communication with the Exposition at St. Louis.

It is therefore with cordiality and eagerness that we invite the women of the Dominion to join with us in presenting to the world information of the condition, opportunities, developement and promises of their sex in their own country and to exhibit at the Exposition specimens of their productions and examples of their activities, manual and mental, scientific and artistic.

And coupled with this invitation we would express the hope that we may be permitted to be of personal service to such women as may visit the Exposition in person, or to give special attention to the exhibits of such as may not be able to come.

Requesting Your Excellency's good offices to the end that due publicity may be given to the invitation in order that it may come to the knowledge of the women of the Dominion, I beg to assure you of the high consideration with which I am

Your obedient servant,
MARY MARGARETTA MANNING,
35-2 President.

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Wednesday, the 27th day of January, 1904.

PRESENT:

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 23rd January, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that in July, 1903, certain lands situated in Townships 32 and 33, Ranges 7 and 8, west of the Principal Meridian, were withdrawn from Homestead entry in order that Mr. Hugh Sutherland, of Winnipeg, might have an opportunity of prospecting thereon, with the view of determining whether or not these lands, or any of them, contained a sufficient deposit of gypsum to warrant the purchase of an area thereof for that purpose.

The Minister further states that Mr. Sutherland, after carefully prospecting the territory and having a survey thereof made, has now applied for permission to purchase the following Crown Lands :—

The N. E. ¼ of Section 34, Township 32, Range 8
" N. W. ¼ of Section 2, " 33, " 8
" S. E. ¼ of Section 10, " 33, " 8
" N. ½ of Section 14, " 33, " 8
" S. W. ¼ of Section 24, " 33, " 8
" N. E. ¼ of Section 12, " 33, " 8
all west of the Principal Meridian.

The Minister also states that the applicant represents that the plaster which it is the intention to manufacture from the gypsum discovered on the above lands is not produced within the limits of the Province ; that the market is supplied by importations made chiefly from the United States; that with a little encouragement there is a fair prospect of establishing in the Province of Manitoba a new and very important industry ; that the locality in which the lands are situated is so rough as to be almost inaccessible ; that it will be necessary to construct twenty-five miles of a tramway to carry the product to Lake Winnipeg where it can be taken to market by boat ; that this will necessitate a large outlay which cannot be undertaken unless a sufficient area of land can be acquired ; and that it is safe to assume that these deposits cannot be successfully worked with less than a capital of one half a million dollars.

The Minister recommends, upon Mr. Sutherland's representation that he has acquired the necessary intervening odd-numbered sections, and in view of the importance of the industry which it is proposed to establish, that he, the Minister, be authorized to sell to the applicant the surface and gypsum mining rights of the above land at the rate of $5.00 an acre.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

JOHN J. McGEE,
35-4 Clerk of the Privy Council.

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Saturday, the 30th day of January, 1904.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

On a Report dated 14th January, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that his attention has been called to the great scarcity of water in portions of the Yukon Territory, and representations have been made to him that this want of water is the principal factor in retarding the development of the gold bearing gravels of Bonanza and Eldorado Creeks, and in reducing the gold output ; that in the springtime, and during the rainy seasons, considerable surplus water is allowed to escape which would be of great value to the miners if it could be impounded and held for periods of scarcity ; and that the creation of reservoirs in the creeks and gulches of the Territory, and the storage of water on worthless or worked out ground, would temporarily assist in solving the water question in portions of the Territory.

The Minister further states that to facilitate the carrying out of such a plan it would appear to be necessary to close from placer mining entry under the Regulations the ground upon which it might be decided to create a reservoir for the storage of water, since a scheme which might be of the greatest advantage to the miners of any particular locality might be blocked by any free miner who might, for the purpose of obstruction, stake out under the Regulations a portion of the ground required for the reservoir site.

The Minister therefore recommends that the Commissioner of the Yukon Territory may upon approval by him of an application for permission to impound the surplus waters of any creek or gulch, withdraw from mining entry, under the Regulations in that behalf, any vacant ground required as a reservoir site or for any other purpose in connection with the storage of water, but only such ground as has been thoroughly prospected and has been found to be worthless for placer mining purposes, or ground which has been worked out and abandoned, shall be eligible for withdrawal from entry for the purpose mentioned. The approval by the Commissioner of an application, and the withdrawal by him of the ground from mining entry, to be subjet to cancellation by the Minister of the Interior during a period of ninety days after public notice of such action having been taken has been given by the Commissioner.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

JOHN J. McGEE,
35-4 Clerk of the Privy Council.

PRESENT:

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS in pursuance of the provisions of sub-clause 1 of clause 19 of The Dominion Lands Act, chapter 54 of the Revised Statutes, a schedule of rates for the payment of township subdivision surveys executed under contract was fixed by Order in Council of the 3rd February, 1903, and the experience of one year has shown that some amendments are desirable,—

5th. The part of a section line chained across a marsh or measured across deep water by means of a triangulation, shall, up to half a mile, be paid as opening through woods when the body of water is surrounded by continuous woods.

10th. A further payment at the rate of four dollars a mile shall be made for surveying the meridian outlines of a township when such outlines are included in a subdivision survey contract, but such payment shall not be made for re-surveying or re-tracing meridian outlines previously surveyed.

The Governor General in Council is further pleased to make and establish the following new clause:—

19th. Upon a report of the Examiner of Surveys concurred in by the Surveyor General stating that the survey of a certain number of miles in a township presented unusual difficulties due to the presence of marshes too deep to be waded across, or to the crossing of large rivers, a further payment at the rate of four dollars per mile may be made for the said number of miles.

Saturday, the 30th day of January, 1904.

PRESENT:

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 19th January, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that John Quirk, of Millarville, in the Provisional District of Alberta, has made application to purchase, for irrigation purposes, the whole Section 18 and the East half of Section 7, in Township 20 and Range 3, west of the 1st Meridian.

Both towers are enclosed wooden buildings, square in plan, with sloping sides, surmounted by square wooden lanterns, the whole painted white. Each tower is 27 feet high from its base to the top of the ventilator on the lantern. They are supported on piles extending four feet above the surface of the ground.

Porter point lighthouse.—The outer lighthouse stands on the south side of the entrance to Canning river (Canard creek), on the north extremity of Porter point.

Lat. N. 45° 8′ 43″
Long. W. 64 22 48

The light will be a fixed red light, elevated 29 feet above high water mark, and should be visible 5 miles from all points of approach by water. The illuminating apparatus is a pressed glass lens.

Borden wharf lighthouse.—The inner lighthouse stands on the site of the old Borden wharf, on the south side of the river, distant 5,245 feet N. 65° 30′ W. from Porter point lighthouse, at a point where the channel turns abruptly from south to east.

Lat. N. 45° 8′ 45″
Long. W. 64 24 1

The light will be a fixed red light, elevated 26 feet above high water mark, and should be visible in the straight reaches of the channel to the northward and eastward. The illuminating apparatus is a pressed glass lens.

From Porter point lighthouse the outermost of the six beacons described in part iii of notice to mariners No. 108 of 1901 bears N. 43° 45′ E., distant 255 feet; and from the same lighthouse the outer end of a wharf known as Picket pier bears N. 65° 35′ W., distant 1,280 feet.

NORTH ATLANTIC OCEAN.

(14) NEWFOUNDLAND—OFF THE SOUTHERN AND EASTERN COASTS—CURRENTS MET ON THE STEAMSHIP ROUTES.

During the season of 1903, from May to September these currents were investigated by the Tidal and Current Survey, in this Department. The D.G.S. "Gulnare," equipped with modern appliances, was employed for the purpose. The steamer was anchored at various stations while the surface and under currents were examined, their speed measured by current-meters registering electrically, and their direction noted every half-hour, day and night. The observations also included a continuous wind and barometer record from instruments on board; water-temperatures to a depth of 30 fathoms; and a record of the tide on a self-registering tide gauge placed in the harbour nearest Cape Race. Valuable information was also obtained from the fishermen in the region.

The investigation had special reference to the question of indraught into the larger bays on the south coast; and the behaviour of the Polar current which follows the eastern coast. A report now in press will describe the nature of the currents in these regions, the tidal characteristics which they all show in a greater or less degree, and the effect of the wind upon them.

In the meantime, we may draw attention to the following notes, which result from the observations taken at points along the steamship route:

(1) When more than five miles from shore, there are no currents at any time throughout the season which exceed one knot in any direction. The only exception to this is the Polar current in which a maximum speed of 1·15 knots was observed. This emphatically contradicts the statements so often made that strong currents are there met with.

(2) On the south coast, when not more than four or five miles from the shore, the current is chiefly governed by the tide, and sets in the two opposite directions alternately, but the farther out the point of observation, the greater the tendency for the direction of the current to veer completely around the compass.

(3) The water makes north-westward on the whole, along the southern coast, from Cape Race towards Placentia bay. On the charts there are arrows which show a "constant current" in that direction; but these must be taken to mean that the set is a little stronger or more frequent towards the point they indicate, than towards any other point around the compass to which the current may set.

(4) With regard to indraught towards the bays, the water makes inwards on the whole on the eastern side of Placentia bay, in the same sense that it makes northwestward along the south coast. A corresponding indraught is felt at certain times of the tide on the east side of St. Mary's bay. These indraughts are included in the above note as to the strength of the currents generally. At any offing above 5 miles, they do not exceed one knot. Close to the headlands, there may no doubt be local streams of greater strength.

(5) The Polar current sets very constantly to the southwest, for a width of 30 or 40 miles off the eastern coast. During times of disturbance, it may set south-eastward, or even be reversed, on the surface. When such disturbance occurs, it is usually for part of a day immediately before a gale comes on.

QUEBEC.

(4) GULF AND RIVER ST. LAWRENCE—GASPÉ TO QUEBEC—LIST OF SHIP CHANNEL BUOYS.

On the following sheet will be found tabulated a complete list to date of buoys in the ship channel of the River St. Lawrence from Gaspé to Quebec, prepared by the Chief Engineer of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, chiefly from personal inspection.

These buoys will in future be numbered consecutively from Gaspé westward, and will bear the letter "B" (Below Quebec). The names heretofore on some of the buoys will be replaced by these numbers when the buoys are set out next spring.

All the buoys in this list within the pilotage district are set out as early as possible after the ice passes down each spring and are left out until after the 10th November each autumn, the date varying with the season, and every effort being made to leave them out as long as the state of the ice will permit, but belated vessels must not expect to find the buoys in position after the ice has begun to run. Some of the more important buoys, if lifted before the last vessels have passed out, are temporarily replaced by wooden spars, in which case the pilots are duly notified, and no special notices to mariners describing the removal or replacing of buoys each season are considered necessary.

Par le ROI.

PROCLAMATION.

EDOUARD, R. et I.

CONSIDÉRANT que Nous sommes heureusement en paix avec tous les Souverains, Puissances et Etats :

Et considérant qu'il existe malheureusement une guerre entre Sa Majesté l'Empereur de toutes les Russies et Sa Majesté l'Empereur du Japon, et entre leurs divers sujets, citoyens et autres qui habitent leurs pays, territoires ou possessions ;

Et considérant que Nous sommes en termes d'amitié et de rapports amicaux avec chacun de ces Etats, et avec leurs divers sujets et autres habitant leurs pays, territoires ou possessions ;

Et considérant que grand nombre de Nos loyaux sujets sont domiciliés et font le commerce, et possèdent des propriétés et des établissements et jouissent de droits et de privilèges, dans les possessions de chacun des dits Etats, lesquels sont protégés par la foi des traités existant entre nous et chacun des dits Etats ;

Et considérant que, désirant conserver à Nos sujets les bienfaits de la paix dont ils jouissent heureusement aujourd'hui, nous sommes fermement disposé et déterminé à maintenir une stricte et impartiale neutralité dans le dit état de guerre malheureusement existant entre les dits Etats ;

A ces causes, nous avons cru devoir, sur l'avis de Notre Conseil Privé, promulguer Notre présente Proclamation Royale ;

Et Nous recommandons et chargeons strictement par la présente tous Nos bien-aimés sujets de se conduire en conséquence, et d'observer une stricte neutralité dans et pendant la dite guerre, et de s'abstenir de violer ou enfreindre les lois ou statuts du royaume à cet égard, ou le droit des gens à propos de cette guerre, car ils répondront du contraire à leur péril ;

Et considérant que, par un certain statut fait et passé durant une session tenue dans les 33e et 34e années de Notre règne, intitulé : "Acte pour régler la conduite des sujets de Sa Majesté durant les hostilités entre Etats étrangers avec lesquels Sa Majesté est en paix", il est entre autres choses déclaré et statué comme suit :—

"Le présent acte s'appliquera à toutes les possessions de Sa Majesté, y compris les eaux territoriales adjacentes.

"Si une personne, étant sujet britannique, dans les limites ou en dehors des limites des posessions de Sa Majesté, accepte ou convient d'accepter, sans permis de Sa Majesté, une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un autre Etat étranger qui est en paix avec Sa Majesté, et mentionné dans le présent acte comme "pouvoir ami", ou si une personne, étant ou n'étant pas sujet britannique, dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, induit une autre personne à accepter ou à convenir d'accepter une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger tel que susdit,—

> "Toute telle personne sera coupable d'offense, sous le présent acte, et passible d'amende ou d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec ou sans travail forcé.

"Si une personne, étant sujet britannique, quitte, sans permis de Sa Majesté, ou se rend à bord d'un navire en vue de quitter les possessions de Sa Majesté, avec l'intention d'accepter une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami, ou si une personne, étant ou n'étant pas sujet britannique, dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, induit une autre personne à quitter, ou à se rendre à bord d'un navire en vue de quitter les possessions de Sa Majesté, avec la même intention,—

> "Toute telle personne sera coupable d'offense, sous le présent acte, et passible d'amende et d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec ou sans travail forcé.

"Si une personne induit une autre personne à quitter les possessions de Sa Majesté ou à s'embarquer sur un navire dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté sur un faux rapport ou une fausse représentation du service dans lequel cette personne doit être engagée, avec l'intention ou afin que cette personne puisse accepter ou convenir d'accepter une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami,—

> "Toute telle personne sera coupable d'offense, sous le présent acte, et passible d'amende et d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec au sans travail forcé.

"Si le capitaine ou propriétaire d'un navire, sans permis de Sa Majesté prend sciemment ou s'engage à prendre à son bord, dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, une quelconque des personnes suivantes mentionnées dans le présent acte comme illégalement enrôlées, savoir :—

> "(1.) Toute personne qui, étant sujet britannique, dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, a, sans permis de Sa Majesté, accepté ou est convenue d'accepter une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami ;
> "(2.) Toute personne, étant sujet britannique, qui, sans permis de Sa Majesté, se dispose à quitter les possessions de Sa Majesté avec l'intention d'accepter une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un état étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami ;
> "(3.) Toute personne qui a été induite à s'embarquer sur un faux rapport ou une fausse représentation du service dans lequel cette personne doit être engagée, avec l'intention et afin que cette personne puisse accepter ou convenir d'accepter une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami,—

"Ce capitaine ou propriétaire sera coupable d'offense, sous le présent acte, et les conséquences suivantes en résulteront, savoir :

> "(1.) Le délinquant sera passible d'amende ou d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec ou sans travail forcé ; et
> "(2.) Ce navire sera retenu jusqu'à jugement et condamnation ou acquittement du capitaine ou propriétaire et jusqu'à ce que toutes les peines infligées au capitaine ou propriétaire aient été payées, ou que le capitaine ou propriétaire ait donné caution pour le paiement de ces peines à la satisfaction de deux juges de paix, ou autre magistrat ou magistrats ayant l'autorité de deux juges de paix ; et
> "(3.) Toutes personnes enrôlées illégalement seront mises à terre immédiament après la constatation de l'offense et ne pourront retourner au navire.

"Construction et expédition illégales de navires.

"Si une personne, dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, sans permis de Sa Majesté, fait un des actes suivants, savoir :—

> "(1.) Construit ou s'engage à construire ou fait construire un navire avec intention ou connaissance, ou ayant cause raisonnable de croire que əl

dit navire doit être ou sera employé dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami ; ou

"(2.) Emet ou délivre une commission pour un navire avec intention ou connaissance, ou ayant cause raisonnable de croire que le dit navire doit être ou sera employé dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami ; ou

"(3.) Equipe un navire avec intention ou connaissance, ou ayant cause raisonnable de croire que le dit navire doit être ou sera employé dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami ; ou

"(4.) Expédie ou fait ou autorise l'expédition d'un navire avec intention ou connaissance, ou ayant cause raisonnable de croire que le dit navire doit être ou sera employé dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami—

"Toute telle personne sera réputée avoir commis une offense, sous le présent acte, et les conséquences suivantes en résulteront :—

"(1.) Le délinquant sera passible d'amende et d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec ou sans travail forcé ;

"(2.) Le navire sujet de l'offense commise, ainsi que son équipement, seront confisqués au profit de Sa Majesté ;

"Pourvu qu'une personne construisant, faisant construire ou équipant un navire dans l'un des cas susmentionnés, aux termes d'un contrat passé avant le commencement de la guerre susdite, ne sera passible d'aucune des peines imposées par la présente section relativement à cette construction ou équipement, si elle satisfait aux conditions suivantes, savoir :

"(1.) Si du moment qu'une proclamation de neutralité est émise par Sa Majesté, elle donne avis au Secrétaire d'Etat qu'elle construit, fait construire ou équipe le dit navire dans les conditions mentionnées, et fournit tels détails du contrat, et de toutes choses s'y rattachant, faites ou à faire en vertu du dit contrat, que le Secrétaire d'Etat pourra exiger ;

"(2.) Si elle donne telles cautions et prend ou laisse prendre telles autres mesures, s'il y a lieu, que le Secrétaire d'Etat jugera nécessaires pour garantir que le dit navire ne sera pas expédié, livré ou déplacé sans permis de Sa Majesté avant la fin de la guerre susdite.

"Si un navire est construit par un Etat étranger ou par son ordre pendant que cet Etat étranger est en guerre avec un pouvoir ami, ou est livré à cet Etat ou à son ordre, ou à une personne qui, à la connaissance du constructeur, est agent pour le dit Etat étranger, ou est payé par le dit Etat ou le dit agent, et est employé dans le service militaire ou maritime de cet Etat étranger, le navire, jusqu'à ce que le contraire soit prouvé, sera considéré comme ayant été construit pour être ainsi employé, et le constructeur du dit navire devra prouver qu'il ignorait que le navire était destiné à être ainsi employé dans le service militaire ou maritime du dit Etat étranger.

"Si une personne, dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, et sans permis de Sa Majesté,—

"En ajoutant au nombre des canons, ou en changeant ceux qui sont à bord pour d'autres canons, ou en ajoutant aucun équipement de guerre, augmente, accroît ou fait augmenter ou accroître, ou est sciemment concernée dans l'accroissement ou l'augmentation de la force militaire d'un navire qui, à l'époque où il était dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, était un navire au service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami,—

"Toute telle personne sera coupable d'offense, sous le présent acte, et sera passible d'amende ou d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec ou sans travail forcé.

"Si une personne, dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, et sans permis de Sa Majesté,—

"Prépare ou organise une expédition navale ou militaire dirigée contre les possessions d'un pouvoir ami, les conséquences suivantes en résulteront :

"(1.) Toute personne engagée dans cette préparation ou organisation, y aidant, ou employée à titre quelconque dans cette expédition, sera coupable d'offense sous le présent acte, et passible d'amende et d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour par-devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec ou sans travail forcé ;

"(2.) Tous navires et leurs équipements, et toutes armes et munitions de guerre employées dans cette expédition ou en formant partie, seront confisqués au profit de Sa Majesté.

"Toute personne qui aide, favorise, conseille ou cause l'accomplissement d'une offense, sous le présent acte, sera passible d'être jugée et punie comme auteur du délit."

Et considérant que par le dit acte il est de plus statué que les navires construits, commissionnés, équipés ou expédiés en contravention au dit acte pourront être condamnés et confisqués par jugement de la Cour d'Amirauté ; et que si le Secrétaire d'Etat ou l'autorité exécutive sont convaincus qu'il y a cause raisonnable et probable de croire qu'un navire, dans les limites de Nos possessions a été construit ou est en voie de construction, commissionné ou équipé en contravention au dit acte, et qu'il doit être conduit en dehors des limites de ces possessions, ou qu'un navire est sur le point d'être expédiés contrairement au dit acte, le dit Secrétaire d'Etat ou l'autorité exécutive auront pouvoir d'émettre un mandat autorisant la saisie et la visite de ce navire et sa détention jusqu'à ce qu'il y ait eu légalement condamnation ou acquittement ; et considérant que certains pouvoirs de saisie et de détention sont conférés par le dit acte à certaines autorités locales :

A ces causes, et afin qu'aucun de Nos sujets ne puisse se rendre passible à la légère des peines imposées par le statut, Nous commandons strictement par les présentes que nulle personne ou personnes quelconques ne commettent aucun acte ou ne fassent quoi que ce soit contrairement aux dispositions du dit statut, sous peine d'encourir les différentes peines imposées par le dit statut, et Notre grand déplaisir.

Et Nous avertissons et enjoignons de plus tous Nos bien-aimés sujets, et toutes les personnes quelconques qui ont droit à Notre protection, d'observer envers chacun des Etats susdits, leurs sujets et territoires, et envers tous les belligérants quelconques avec lesquels Nous sommes en paix, les devoirs de la neutralité, et de respecter, chez tous et chacun d'eux, l'exercice des droits de belligérants.

Et Nous avertissons de plus tous Nos bien-aimés sujets, et toutes les personnes quelconques qui ont droit à Notre protection, que si quelqu'un d'entre eux se permet, au mépris de Notre présente Proclamation Royale, et à Notre grand déplaisir, de commettre quelques actes qui soient une dérogation à leurs devoirs comme sujets d'un souverain neutre dans une guerre entre d'autres Etats, ou une violation ou contravention du droit des gens à cet égard, et plus particulièrement en forçant ou cherchant à forcer un blocus légalement et effectivement établi par ou au nom de l'un ou l'autre des dits Etats, ou en transportant des officiers, soldats, dépêches, armes, munitions de guerre, approvisionnements ou matériaux militaires, ou quelque article ou des articles regardés et réputés comme contrebande de guerre par le droit des gens ou les usages modernes des nations pour l'usage ou le service de l'un ou de l'autre des dits Etats, que toutes les personnes se rendant coupables de pareils actes, ainsi que leurs navires et marchandises, s'exposeront justement à une capture hostile et aux peines prononcées par le droit des gens à cet égard.

Et Nous donnons par le présent avis à tous Nos sujets et aux personnes qui ont droit à Notre protection qui pourront se mal conduire à cet égard, qu'ils le feront à leur péril et se mettront dans leur propre tort ; et qu'ils n'obtiendront aucune protection de

Notre part contre une pareille capture ou les peines susdites, mais qu'au contraire ils encourront Notre grand déplaisir par une pareille conduite.

Donné en Notre Cour au château de Buckingham le onzième jour de février de l'année de Notre-Seigneur mil neuf quatre et dans la quatrième année de Notre Règne.

DIEU PROTÈGE LE ROI.

MILORDS,

Sa Majesté, étant fermement résolue d'observer les devoirs de la neutralité durant la guerre actuelle entre la Russie et le Japon, et voulant, de plus, empêcher, autant que possible l'usage des havres, ports et côtes de Sa Majesté, et des eaux situées dans la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté, pour aider aux opérations de l'un ou de l'autre des belligérants, m'a chargé de communiquer à Vos Seigneuries, pour vous servir de guide, les règlements qui suivent, lesquels devront être traités et mis à exécution comme étant les ordres et instructions de Sa Majesté :—

1. Tant que durera la guerre actuelle, il est défendu à tous les navires de guerre de l'un ou l'autre des belligérants de se servir d'aucun port ou rade du Royaume-Uni, de l'Ile de Man ou des Iles de la Manche ou d'aucune des colonies ou possessions ou dépendances étrangères de Sa Majesté, ni d'aucune des eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de la Couronne britannique, comme station ou lieu de rendez-vous, pour aucune fin guerrière, ou dans le but de se procurer des moyens ou des équipements de guerre ; et aucun navire de guerre de l'un ou l'autre des belligérants n'aura à l'avenir la permission de faire voile ou de partir d'un port, d'une rade, ou des eaux soumises à la juridiction britannique, d'où quelque navire de l'autre belligérant (que ce soit un navire de guerre ou un navire marchand) sera préalablement parti, avant qu'il ne se soit écoulé au moins vingt-quatre heures depuis le départ du navire en dernier lieu mentionné, hors de la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté.

Règle 2. Si quelque navire de guerre de l'un ou l'autre belligérant se trouve actuellement dans tout tel port, rade ou eaux soumis à la juridiction territoriale de la Couronne britannique, ce navire quittera ce port, rade ou eaux, dans un delai de pas moins de vingt-quatre heures qui sera raisonnable, eu égard à toutes les circonstances et la condition de ce navire quant aux réparations, provisions ou choses nécessaires à la subsistance de son équipage ; et si après la date de la présente quelque navire de guerre de l'un ou l'autre belligérant entre dans tout tel port, rade, ou eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de la Couronne britannique, ce navire sera invité à en partir et à reprendre la mer dans les vingt-quatre heures de son entrée dans tel port, rade, ou eaux, sauf dans le cas de mauvais temps, ou s'il a besoin de se procurer des provisions ou autres choses nécessaires pour la subsistance de son équipage, ou de subir des réparations, et dans ces cas les autorités du port, ou du port le plus rapproché, selon le cas, exigeront qu'il reprenne la mer le plus tôt possible après l'expiration de cette période de vingt-quatre heures, sans lui permettre de se ravitailler au delà de ce qui pourra être nécessaire pour ses besoins immédiats ; et nul tel vaisseau auquel il aura été permis de rester dans les eaux britanniques pour y subir des réparations ne restera dans ce port, cette rade, ou ces eaux pendant plus de vingt-quatre heures après que les réparations nécessaires auront été terminées. Pourvu, néanmoins, que dans tous les cas où il se trouverait quelque vaisseau (que ce soit un navire de guerre ou un navire marchand) des dites parties belligérantes dans le même port, rade, ou eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté, il ne s'écoulera pas un intervalle de moins de vingt-quatre heures entre le départ d'aucun tel vaisseau (que ce soit un navire de guerre ou un navire marchand) de l'un des belligérants, et le départ subséquent d'un navire de guerre de l'autre belligérant ; et le temps par le présent limité pour le départ de ces navires de guerre, respectivement, sera toujours, en cas de nécessité, prolongé autant qu'il sera nécessaire pour donner effet au présent proviso, mais pas plus ni autrement.

Règle 3. Il ne sera permis à l'avenir à aucun navire de guerre de l'un ou l'autre des belligérants, tant qu'il sera dans un port, une rade, ou des eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté, de se ravitailler, sauf de provisions et autres choses nécessaires à la subsistance de son équipage, et sauf de la quantité de charbon qui sera seulement nécessaire pour le conduire au port le plus rapproché de son propre pays ou à quelque autre destination neutre plus rapprochée ; et il ne sera non plus fourni de charbon à aucun tel navire de guerre dans le même ou quelque autre port, rade, ou eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté, sans une permission spéciale, jusqu'après l'expiration de trois mois de la date à laquelle ce charbon lui aura été en dernier lieu fourni dans les eaux britanniques comme susdit.

Règle 4. Il est interdit aux navires armés de l'une ou l'autre partie d'amener les prises faites par eux dans les ports, havres, rades, ou eaux du Royaume-Uni, de l'Ile de Man, des Iles de la Manche, ou d'aucun des colonies ou possessions étrangères de Sa Majesté.

Le Gouverneur ou autre autorité exécutive de chacun des territoires ou possessions de Sa Majesté au delà des mers, publieront sans délai les règles ci dessus.

J'ai, etc.,

MON CHER AMBASSADEUR,—Vu l'accueil fait au Conseil des Dames Directrices de l'Exposition de la Louisiane, par le Congrès des Etats-Unis, je vous envoie sous pli une invitation que le conseil a adressée aux femmes du Canada par la voie du Gouverneur général, et qu'on m'a demandé de faire transmettre par vos bons offices.

EXPOSITION DE LA LOUISIANE.

CONSEIL DES DAMES DIRECTRICES.

Mme Daniel Manning, présidente.

ST-LOUIS, MO., 16 février 1904.

EXCELLENCE,—Par un acte du Congrès des Etats-Unis le Conseil des Dames Directrices de l'Exposition de la Louisiane est enjoint de s'unir aux autres autorités constituées pour commémorer le grand événement dans l'histoire des Etats-Unis alors qu'il y a un siècle passé fut ajouté à leur territoire un nouveau champ qui est aujourd'hui le foyer de bien des gens, et où des femmes dévouées et sincères, ainsi que des hommes travaillent ardûment à résoudre les problèmes du progrès de l'humanité, et l'avancement de la race.

*Semblables lettres au Trésor, Home Office, Bureau des Colonies, Bureau des Indes, Scottish Office, et la Chambre de Commerce.

Nul individu, nul peuple, nul pays ne peut, seul, fournir cette connaissance parfaite d'après laquelle on peut établir la condition de l'humanité, son développement dans les industries, les arts, les sciences au commencement du vingtième siècle. Tout l'univers doit contribuer à cette connaissance et c'est pourquoi tout l'univers a été invité à prendre part à cette exposition universeelle et apporter ici le fruit des terres, les produits d'autres sols, les articles fabriqués par des mains étrangères et des preuves des progrès de l'esprit et de l'intelligence dans les hautes sphères de la pensée.

Bien qu'en rassemblant toutes ces choses il ne soit pas fait de distinction entre le travail manuel de l'homme et celui de la femme, entre le produit de la pensée de l'homme et celui de la pensée de la femme, néanmoins ce conseil a pour fonction spéciale de servir d'intermédiaire au moyen duquel les femmes comme individus et comme organisations pourront venir en contact immédiat avec l'Exposition de St-Louis.

C'est donc avec cordialité et ardeur que nous invitons les femmes du Dominion à se joindre à nous pour présenter au monde les renseignements sur la condition, les opportunités, le développement et les promesses de leur sexe dans leur propre pays, et exhiber à l'exposition des spécimens de leurs productions et des exemples de leur activité, manuelle et mentale, scientifique et artistique.

Et joint à cette invitation, nous avons l'espoir qu'il nous sera permis d'être de quelque service aux femmes qui visiteront l'Exposition, ou de donner une attention spéciale aux articles exposés appartenant à celles qui ne pourront venir.

Sollicitant les bons offices de Votre Excellence à l'effet que publicité soit donnée à l'invitation pour qu'elle parvienne à la connaissance des femmes du Canada, veuillez accepter l'assurance de ma haute considération,

Votre obéissante servante,

MARY MARGARETTA MANNING,
36–2 Présidente.

HOTEL DU GOUVERNEMENT À OTTAWA.

Mercredi, le 27e jour de janvier 1904.

PRÉSENT:

SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL EN CONSEIL.

SUR un rapport daté le 23e jour de janvier 1904, du ministre de l'Intérieur, disant qu'en juillet 1903, certaines terres situées dans les townships 32 et 33, rangs 7 et 8, ouest du principal méridien, ont été retirées des inscriptions de homesteads afin de donner à Mr. Hugh Sutherland, de Winnipeg, l'occasion d'y prospecter afin de constater si ces terres contenaient ou non un dépôt suffisant de gypse pour justifier l'achat d'une certaine étendue d'icelles pour cette fin.

Le Ministre dit de plus que Mr. Sutherland, après avoir soigneusement prospecté le territoire, et l'avoir fait arpenter, demande aujourd'hui la permission d'acheter les terres fédérales suivantes :—

Le ¼ N. E. de la section 34, township 32, rang 8
" ¼ N.-O. " 10, " 33, " 8
" ¼ S.-O. " 10, " 33, " 8
" ½ N. " 14, " 33, " 8
" ¼ S.-O. " 24, " 33, " 8
" ¼ N.-E. " 12, " 33, " 8
Le tout à l'ouest du principal méridien.

Le Ministre dit aussi que le requérant représente que le plâtre qu'on a l'intention de manufacturer du gypse découvert sur les susdites terres n'est pas produit dans les limites de la province ; que le marché est approvisionné principalement des importations des Etats-Unis ; qu'avec un peu d'encouragement tout promet d'établir dans la province du Manitoba une nouvelle industrie importante ; que la localité où les terres sont situées est si inégale qu'elle est presque inaccessible ; qu'il sera nécessaire de construire vingt-cinq milles d'un tramway pour transporter le produit au lac Winnipeg d'où il sera porté au marché par bateaux, que cela nécessitera de forts déboursés qu'on ne peut encourir à moins d'acquérir une large étendue de terrain ; et qu'on peut calculer en toute sûreté que ces dépôts ne peuvent être avantageusement exploités qu'avec un capital d'au moins un demi-million de piastres.

Le Ministre recommande, sur la représentation de Mr. Sutherland qu'il a acquis les sections impaires nécessaires, et que vu l'importance de l'industrie qu'il propose d'établir le Ministre soit autorisé à vendre au requérant les droits miniers de surface et de gypse des terres susdites au taux de $5 l'acre.

Le comité soumet ce qui précède à l'approbation.

JOHN J. McGEE,
35-4 Greffier du Conseil privé.

Dans les provinces de Québec et de Manitoba, les insertions seront faites dans un journal anglais et un journal français, s'il en existe des deux langues dans le district : autrement, elles se feront en anglais et en français au même journal.

Il doit être signifié, à la diligence de l'époux pétitionnaire, un mois au moins avant la présentation de la pétition, une copie de cet avis à l'autre époux en personne, si cela est possible.

Aucune pétition en divorce n'est reçue après l'expiration des trente premiers jours de la session.

Elle énoncera sommairement le fait du mariage, le lieu et l'époque de sa célébration, les noms du célébrant, les griefs qui donnent lieu à la demande de redressement et la nature du redressement demandé, et en outre contiendra assurance qu'il n'y a pas eu réconciliation, collusion ni connivence. Les allégations de la pétition seront appuyées de la déclaration du pétitionnaire faite en vertu de "l'Acte de la preuve en Canada, 1893."

Huit jours avant l'ouverture du Parlement, le pétitionnaire déposera au bureau du greffier du Sénat, une copie en langue anglaise ou française du bill de divorce qui doit être présenté, et en même temps une somme suffisante pour payer la traduction et l'impression et tirage à 600 exemplaires anglais et 200 exemplaires français de ce bill.

La pétition en obtention d'un bill de divorce n'est présentée que lorsque le pétitionnaire a versé au bureau du greffier du Sénat une somme de $200.

La pétition, au moment de sa présentation, doit être accompagnée de la preuve de la publication d'avis, d'une déclaration qu'il a été signifié une copie de l'avis, et d'une copie du bill qui doit être présenté.

After which the Members of the House of Commons withdrew to their own Chamber. The Deputy-Governor then retired.

CHAMBER OF THE SENATE.

OTTAWA, Friday, 11th March, 1904.

This day, at THREE o'clock p.m., HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL proceeded in state to the Chamber of the Senate, in the Parliament Buildings, and took his seat upon the Throne. The Members of the Senate being assembled, His Excellency was pleased to command the attendance of the House of Commons. The Members of that body preceded by their Speaker, the Honourable NAPOLÉON ANTOINE BELCOURT, appeared at the Bar. The Honourable NAPOLÉON ANTOINE BELCOURT, then informed His Excellency that the choice of the House of Commons had fallen upon him to be their Speaker.

After which HIS EXCELLENCY was pleased to open the FOURTH SESSION of the NINTH PARLIAMENT OF THE DOMINION OF CANADA, with the following Speech :—

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate:

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In again meeting you in Parliament, it is our first duty to express our heartfelt thanks to a beneficent Providence for the abundant harvest with which the country has been favoured during the past year, and for the general prosperity that prevails in all parts of the Dominion.

It is very gratifying to note that the yearly increasing trade of Canada, which has been so marked a feature of the past six years, gives no indication of any abatement, while the number of settlers seeking homes in Manitoba and the Territories is without a parallel in the history of the country. These two very important facts lead irresistibly to the conclusion that long before the Transcontinental Railway, authorized by Parliament at its last session, can possibly be completed, its urgent necessity as a medium for carrying the products of the West to our own Atlantic ports will have become apparent independently of the many benefits that will follow from the opening up for colonization and for various entreprises of the Northern parts of Quebec and Ontario.

The agreement made with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company regarding a new transcontinental railway, contained certain stipulations which in effect required the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada to become a party to that agreement and to assume heavy obligations in respect thereof.

Further consideration of the agreement by the representatives of the Grand Trunk Railway Company and my Government has resulted in showing the desirability of certain amendments to the contract which, having been approved by my Government and subsequently by the Board of Directors and the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, will be submitted to you for ratification.

The sum of $5,000,000 in cash has been deposited in the Bank of Montreal in accordance with the provisions contained in the original and supplemental agreements with the company.

A Militia Bill will be introduced containing several important amendments to the present law rendered necessary by the growth of the Force and calculated to promote its efficiency.

A copy of the award defining the boundary between the Dominion and Alaska, and other papers connected with the controversy, will be laid before you.

In view of the widely extended settlements now forming in the Territories, it will become necessary to increase the strength of the North-west Mounted Police Force, and authority will be asked for that purpose.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The accounts of the past year will be laid before you. I am glad to say that the revenue will exceed the expenditure, leaving a balance to be applied in reduction of the public debt.

The estimates for the coming year will be laid before you at an early date.

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate:

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

After the long protracted session of the last year, when so many important matters were dealt with, it is not probable that your duties will involve your being detained on the present occasion for any lengthened period. I commend, however, to your best consideration the subjects to which I have referred and I invoke the Divine Blessing on your deliberations.

DESPATCHES, &c.

A PROCLAMATION.

EDWARD, R. & I.

Whereas We are happily at Peace with all Sovereigns, Powers, and States:

And whereas a State of War unhappily exists between His Majesty The Emperor of All The Russias, and His Majesty The Emperor of Japan, and between their respective Subjects, and others inhabiting within their Countries, Territories, or Dominions:

And whereas We are on Terms of Friendship and Amicable intercourse with each of these Powers, and with their several Subjects, and others inhabiting within their Countries, Territories, or Dominions:

And whereas great Numbers of Our Loyal Subjects reside and carry on Commerce, and possess Property and Establishments, and enjoy various Rights and Privileges, within the Dominions of each of the aforesaid Powers, protected by the Faith of Treaties between Us and each of the aforesaid Powers:

And whereas We, being desirous of preserving to Our Subjects the Blessings of Peace, which they now happily enjoy, are firmly purposed and determined to maintain a strict and impartial Neutrality in the said State of War unhappily existing between the aforesaid Powers:

We, therefore, have thought fit, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council, to issue this Our Royal Proclamation:

And We do hereby strictly charge and command all Our loving Subjects to govern themselves accordingly, and to observe a strict Neutrality in and during the aforesaid War, and to abstain from violating or contravening either the Laws and Statutes of the Realm in this behalf, or the Law of Nations in relation thereto, as they will answer to the contrary at their Peril:

And whereas in and by certain Statute made and passed in a Session of Parliament holden in the 33rd and 34th year of the reign of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, intituled "An Act to regulate the conduct of Her Majesty's Subjects during the existence of hostilities between Foreign States with which Her Majesty is at peace," it is, among other things, declared and enacted as follows:—

"Provided that a Person building, causing to be built, or equipping a Ship in any of the cases aforesaid, in pursuance of a contract made before the commencement of such War as aforesaid, shall not be liable to any of the Penalties imposed by this Section in respect of such building or equipping if he satisfies the conditions following (that is to say):—

"(1.) If forthwith upon a Proclamation of Neutrality being issued by Her Majesty he gives Notice to the Secretary of State that he is so building, causing to be built, or equipping such Ship, and furnishes such Particulars of the Contract and of any Matters relating to, or done, or to be done under the Contract as may be required by the Secretary of State:

"If any Person within the Dominions of Her Majesty, and without the License of Her Majesty,—

"Prepares or fits out any Naval or Military Expedition to proceed against the Dominions of any friendly State, the following consequences shall ensue:

"(1.) Every person engaged in such preparation or fitting out, or assisting therein, or, employed in any capacity in such Expedition shall be guilty of an Offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the Offender is convicted; and Imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

"(2.) All Ships, and their Equipments, and all Arms and Munitions of War, used in or forming part of such Expedition, shall be forfeited to Her Majesty.

And whereas by the said Act it is further provided that Ships built, commissioned, equipped, or despatched in contravention of the said Act, may be condemned and forfeited by Judgment of the Court of Admiralty; and that if the Secretary of State or Chief Executive Authority is satisfied that there is a reasonable and probable cause for believing that a Ship within Our Dominions has been or is being built, commissioned, or equipped, contrary to the said Act, and is about to be taken beyond the limits of such Dominions, or that a Ship is about to be despatched contrary to the Act, such Secretary of State or Chief Executive Authority shall have power to issue a warrant authorizing the seizure and search of such Ship and her detention until she has been either condemned or released by Process of Law. And whereas certain powers of seizure and detention are conferred by the said Act on certain Local Authorities;

Now, in order that none of Our Subjects may unwarily render themselves liable to the Penalties imposed by the said Statute, We do hereby strictly command that no Person or Persons whatsoever do commit any Act, Matter, or Thing whatsoever contrary to the Provisions of the said Statute, upon pain of the several Penalties by the said Statute imposed and of Our high Displeasure.

And We do hereby further warn and admonish all Our loving Subjects, and all Persons whatsoever entitled to Our Protection, to observe towards each of the aforesaid Powers, their Subjects, and Territories, and towards all Belligerents whatsoever with whom We are at Peace, the Duties of Neutrality; and to respect, in all and each of them, the Exercise of Belligerent Rights.

And We hereby further warn all Our loving Subjects, and all Persons whatsoever entitled to Our Protection, that if any of them shall presume, in contempt of this Our Royal Proclamation, and of Our high Displeasure, to do any Acts in derogation of their Duty as Subjects of a Neutral Power in a War between other Powers, or in violation or contravention of the Law of Nations in that Behalf, as more especially by breaking, or endeavouring to break, any Blockade lawfully and actually established by or on behalf of either of the said Powers, or by carrying Officers, Soldiers, Despatches, Arms, Ammunition, Military Stores or Materials, or any Article or Articles considered and deemed to be Contraband of War according to the Law or Modern Usages of Nations, for the Use or Service of either of the said Powers that all Persons so offending, together with their Ships and Goods, will rightfully incur and be justly liable to hostile Capture, and to the Penalties denounced by the Law of Nations in that behalf.

And We do hereby give Notice that all Our Subjects and Persons entitled to Our Protection who may misconduct themselves in the Premises will do so at their peril, and of their own wrong; and that they will in no wise obtain any Protection from Us against such Capture or such Penalties as aforesaid, but will, on the contrary, incur Our high Displeasure by such Misconduct.

Given at Our Court at Buckingham Palace, this eleventh day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and four, and in the fourth year of Our Reign.

GOD save the KING.

The Most Honourable the Marquess of Lansdowne to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty:*—

Foreign Office,
February 10, 1904.

My Lords,

His Majesty being fully determined to observe the duties of neutrality during the existing state of war between Russia and Japan; being, moreover, resolved to prevent, as far as possible, the use of His Majesty's harbours, ports and coasts, and the waters within His Majesty's territorial jurisdiction, in aid of the warlike purposes of either belligerent, has commanded me to communicate to your Lordships, for your guidance, the following Rules, which are to be treated and enforced as His Majesty's orders and directions:—

Rule 1. During the continuance of the present state of war, all ships of war of either belligerent are prohibited from making use of any port or roadstead in the United Kingdom, the Isle of Man, or the Channel Islands, or in any of His Majesty's colonies or foreign possessions or dependencies, or of any waters subject to the territorial jurisdiction of the British Crown, as a station or place of resort for any warlike purpose, or for the purpose of obtaining any facilities for warlike equipment; and no ship of war of either belligerent shall hereafter be permitted to leave any such port, roadstead, or waters from which any vessel of the other belligerent (whether the same shall be a ship of war or a merchant ship) shall have previously departed until after the expiration of at least twenty-four hours from the departure of such last-mentioned vessel beyond the territorial jurisdiction of His Majesty.

Rule 2. If there is now in any such port, roadstead, or waters subject to the territorial jurisdiction of the British Crown any ship of war of either belligerent, such ship of war shall leave such port, roadstead, or waters within such time not less than twenty-four hours as shall be reasonable, having regard to all the circumstances and the condition of such ship as to repairs, provisions, or things necessary for the subsistence of her crew; and if after the date hereof any ship of war of either belligerent shall enter any such port, roadstead, or waters, subject to the territorial jurisdiction of the British Crown, such ship shall depart and put to sea within twenty-four hours after her entrance into any such port, roadstead, or waters, except in case of stress of weather, or of her requiring provisions or things necessary for the subsistence of her crew, or repairs; in either of which cases the authorities of the port, or of the nearest port (as the case may be), shall require her to put to sea as soon as possible after the expiration of such period of twenty-four hours, without permitting her to take in supplies beyond what may be necessary, for her immediate use; and no such vessel which may have been allowed to remain within British waters for the purpose of repair shall continue in any such port, roadstead, or waters, for a longer period than twenty-four hours after her necessary repairs shall have been completed. Provided, nevertheless, that in all cases in which there shall be any vessels (whether ships of war or merchant ships) of both the said belligerent parties in the same port, roadstead, or waters within the territoral jurisdiction of His Majesty, there shall be an interval of not less than twenty-four hours between the departure therefrom of any such vessel (whether a ship of war or merchant ship) of the one belligerent, and the subsequent departure therefrom of any ship of war of the other belligerent; and the time hereby limited for the departure of such ships of war respectively shall always, in case of necessity, be extended so far as may be requisite for giving effect to this proviso, but no further or otherwise.

Rule 3. No ship of war of either belligerent shall hereafter be permitted, while in any such port, roadstead or waters subject to the territorial jurisdiction of His Majesty, to take in any supplies, except provisions and such other things as may be requisite for the subsistence of her crew, and except so much coal only as may be sufficient to carry such vessel to the nearest port of her own country, or to some nearer named neutral destination, and no coal shall again be supplied to any such ship of war in the same or any other port, roadstead, or waters subject to the territorial jurisdiction of His Majesty, without special permission, until after the expiration of three months from the time when such coal may have been last supplied to her within British waters as aforesaid.

Rule 4. Armed ships of either belligerent are interdicted from carrying prizes made by them into the ports, harbours, roadsteads, or waters of the United Kingdom, the Isle of Man, the Channel Islands, or any of His Majesty's Colonies or possessions abroad.

The Governor or other chief authority of each of His Majesty's territories or possessions beyond the seas shall forthwith notify and publish the above Rules.

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Wednesday, the 27th day of January, 1904.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 23rd January, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that in July, 1903, certain lands situated in Townships 32 and 33, Ranges 7 and 8, west of the Principal Meridian, were withdrawn from Homestead entry in order that Mr. Hugh Sutherland, of Winnipeg, might have an opportunity of prospecting thereon, with the view of determining whether or not these lands, or any of them, contained a sufficient deposit of gypsum to warrant the purchase of an area thereof for that purpose.

The Minister further states that Mr. Sutherland, after carefully prospecting the territory and having a survey thereof made, has now applied for permission to purchase the following Crown Lands :—

The N. E. ¼ of Section 34, Township 32, Range 8
" N. W. ¼ of Section 2, " 33, " 8
" S. E. ¼ of Section 10, " 33, " 8
" N. ½ of Section 14, " 33, " 8
" S. W. ¼ of Section 24, " 33, " 8
" N. E. ¼ of Section 12, " 33, " 8

all west of the Principal Meridian.

The Minister also states that the applicant represents that the plaster which it is the intention to manufacture from the gypsum discovered on the above lands is not produced within the limits of the Province ; that the market is supplied by importations made chiefly from the United States; that with a little encouragement there is a fair prospect of establishing in the Province of Manitoba a new and very important industry ; that the locality in which the lands are situated is so rough as to be almost inaccessible ; that it will be necessary to construct twenty-five miles of a tramway to carry the product to Lake Winnipeg where it can be taken to market by boat ; that this will necessitate a large outlay which cannot be undertaken unless a sufficient area of land can be acquired ; and that it is safe to assume that these deposits cannot be successfully worked with less than a capital of one half a million dollars.

The Minister recommends, upon Mr. Sutherland's representation that he has acquired the necessary intervening odd-numbered sections, and in view of the importance of the industry which it is proposed to establish, that he, the Minister, be authorized to sell to the applicant the surface and gypsum mining rights of the above land at the rate of $5.00 an acre.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

JOHN J. McGEE,
35–4 Clerk of the Privy Council.

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Saturday, the 30th day of January, 1904.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 14th January, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that his attention has been called to the great scarcity of water in portions of the Yukon Territory, and representations have been made to him that this want of water is the principal factor in retarding the development of the gold bearing gravels of Bonanza and Eldorado Creeks, and in reducing the gold output ; that in the springtime, and during the rainy seasons, considerable surplus water is allowed to escape which would be of great value to the miners if it could be impounded and held for periods of scarcity ; and that the creation of reservoirs in the creeks and gulches of the Territory, and the storage of water on worthless or worked out ground, would temporarily assist in solving the water question in portions of the Territory.

The Minister further states that to facilitate the carrying out of such a plan it would appear to be necessary to close from placer mining entry under the Regulations the ground upon which it might be decided to create a reservoir for the storage of water, since a scheme which might be of the greatest advantage to the miners of any particular locality might be blocked by any free miner who might, for the purpose of obstruction, stake out under the Regulations a portion of the ground required for the reservoir site.

The Minister therefore recommends that the Commissioner of the Yukon Territory may upon approval by him of an application for permission to impound the surplus waters of any creek or gulch, withdraw from mining entry, under the Regulatious in that behalf, any vacant ground required as a reservoir site or for any other purpose in connection with the storage of water, but only such ground as has been thoroughly prospected and has been found to be worthless for placer mining purposes, or ground which has been worked out and abandoned, shall be eligible for withdrawal from entry for the purpose mentioned. The approval by the Commissioner of an application, and the withdrawal by him of the ground from mining entry, to be subjet to cancellation by the Minister of the Interior during a period of ninety days after public notice of such action having been taken has been given by the Commissioner.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

35-4 Clerk of the Privy Council.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 22nd January, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, submitting that by Orders in Council dated the 27th of May and 30th of July, 1903, provision was made that the Honourable Byron Moffat Britton, one of His Majesty's Justices of the High Court of Justice for the Province of Ontario, and Mr. Benjamin Taylor A. Bell of the City of Ottawa, Secretary of the Canadian Mining Institute, be appointed Commissioners to conduct a public enquiry into certain matters in the Yukon Territory, holding the same in the City of Dawson and elsewhere in the said Territory as they might determine.

SALLE DU SÉNAT,

OTTAWA, jeudi, 10 mars 1904.

Aujourd'hui, à TROIS heures, p.m., l'Honorable Juge en chef en sa qualité de Député-Gouverneur s'est rendu à la Salle du Sénat dans l'édifice du Parlement. Les membres du Sénat étant assemblés, il a plu au Député-Gouverneur d'y faire requérir la présence de la Chambre des Communes ; et cette Chambre s'y étant rendue, l'Orateur du Sénat a dit de la part du Député-Gouverneur, qu'il avait ordre de les informer que Son Excellence le Gouverneur Général ne jugeait pas à propos de déclarer les causes pour lesquelles le présent Parlement avait été convoqué avant qu'il ait été procédé, suivant la loi, au choix d'un Orateur pour la Chambre des Communes.

Après quoi les membres de la Chambre des Communes se sont retirés à leur Chambre. Alors le Deputé-Gouverneur s'est aussi retiré.

SALLE DU SÉNAT,

OTTAWA, vendredi, 11 mars 1904.

Aujourd'hui, à TROIS heures p.m., SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL s'est rendu, avec le cérémonial ordinaire, à la Salle du Sénat, dans l'édifice du Parlement, et a pris son siège sur le Trône. Les membres du Sénat étant assemblés, il a plu à Son Excellence d'y faire requérir la présence de la Chambre des Communes. Les membres de ce corps précédés par leur Orateur, l'Honorable NAPOLÉON ANTOINE BELCOURT, ont paru incontinent à la Barre. Alors l'Honorable NAPOLÉON ANTOINE BELCOURT a informé Son Excellence que le choix de la Chambre des Communes comme Orateur était tombé sur lui.

Après quoi, SON EXCELLENCE a ouvert la QUATRIÈME SESSION DU NEUVIÈME PARLEMENT DU DOMINION DU CANADA, par le discours suivant :—

Honorables Messieurs du Sénat :

Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes :

En vous rencontrant de nouveau au Parlement, je dois tout d'abord exprimer avec vous notre profonde gratitude à la Providence bienfaisante, pour l'abondante récolte dont le pays a été favorisé l'année dernière et pour la prospérité générale qui règne dans toutes les parties du Dominion.

Il est très satisfaisant de constater que le commerce du Canada, qui a augmenté d'année en année d'une façon si remarquable depuis six ans, ne promet aucunement de se ralentir, et que le nombre de colons qui cherchent à s'établir au Manitoba et dans les Territoires est sans exemple dans l'histoire du pays. Ces deux faits de très haute importance portent irrésistiblement à conclure que longtemps avant que puisse s'achever la construction du Chemin de fer transcontinental, autorisée par le Parlement à sa dernière session, l'urgente nécessité de ce chemin comme moyen de transporter les produits de l'Ouest à nos propres ports de l'Atlantique sera devenue manifeste, abstraction faite des nombreux avantages devant résulter de ce qu'on aura ouvert la partie nord des provinces de Québec et d'Ontario pour favoriser la colonisation et diverses entreprises.

La convention faite avec la Compagnie de chemin de fer le Grand-Tronc-Pacifique par rapport à la construction d'un nouveau chemin de fer transcontinental contenait certaines stipulations qui, de fait, exigeaient que la Compagnie de chemin de fer le Grand-Tronc du Canada devînt partie à cette convention et assumât des obligations considérables à cet égard.

Un plus ample examen de cette convention par les représentants de la Compagnie de chemin de fer le Grand-Tronc et par mon Gouvernement a fait voir qu'il convenait d'ajouter au contrat certaines modifications qui, ayant été approuvées par mon Gouvernement et ensuite par le conseil des directeurs et les actionnaires de la Compagnie de chemin de fer le Grand-Tronc, vous seront soumises pour être ratifiées.

La somme de $5,000,000 en espèces a été déposée à la Banque de Montréal conformément aux dispositions contenues dans la convention faite avec la Compagnie en premier lieu, ainsi que dans la convention supplémentaire.

Il sera présenté un bill de la Milice contenant plusieurs importantes modifications à la loi actuelle, modifications rendues nécessaires par suite de l'augmentation de l'effectif et destinées à en développer l'efficacité.

Copie de la décision déterminant la frontière entre le Dominion et l'Alaska, et d'autres documents se rattachant au débat seront déposés devant vous.

La grande étendue de terrain occupée par les nouveaux établissements qui se forment dans les Territoires va nécessiter l'augmentation de l'effectif de la Gendarmerie à cheval du Nord-Ouest, et vous serez priés d'accorder votre autorisation à cette fin.

Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes:

Les comptes du dernier exercice seront déposés devant vous. Je suis heureux de dire que le revenu excédera la dépense et que la différence sera consacrée à la réduction de la dette publique.

Les estimations budgétaires pour le prochain exercice seront bientôt déposées devant vous.

Honorables Messieurs du Sénat:

Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes:

Vu la longue session de l'année dernière, pendant laquelle vous vous êtes occupés de tant de questions importantes, il n'est pas probable que, cette année, l'accomplissement de vos devoirs vous retienne ici bien longtemps. En tous cas, je vous recommande d'étudier avec le plus grand soin les sujets dont j'ai fait mention et je prie Dieu de bénir vos travaux.

DESPATCHES, Etc.

SECRÉTARIAT D'ÉTAT DU CANADA.

Par ordre,

R. W. SCOTT,
Secrétaire d'Etat.

Circulaire.

DOWNING-STREET,
12 février 1904.

MONSIEUR,—Relativement à mon télégramme vous communiquant les règles pour l'observance des devoirs de neutralité qui seront en force tant que durera la présente guerre entre la Russie et le Japon, j'ai l'honneur de vous transmettre copie d'une lettre du Foreign Office incorporant les dites règles, ainsi que des copies de la proclamation de neutralité lancée par Sa Majesté.

Je dois vous prier de faire publier immédiatement ces deux documents par toute la colonie que vous administrez, mentionnant la proclamation ou les avis que vous avez déjà publiés au reçu de mes instructions télégraphiques à ce sujet, et de ne pas manquer de vous conformer aux ordres de Sa Majesté.

J'ai l'honneur d'être,
monsieur,
Votre très humble serviteur,

ALFRED LYTTELTON.

A l'Administrateur
du gouvernement du Canada.

PROCLAMATION.

EDOUARD, R. et I.

CONSIDÉRANT que Nous sommes heureusement en paix avec tous les Souverains, Puissances et Etats :

Et considérant qu'il existe malheureusement une guerre entre Sa Majesté l'Empereur de toutes les Russies et Sa Majesté l'Empereur du Japon, et entre leurs divers sujets, citoyens et autres qui habitent leurs pays, territoires ou possessions ;

Et considérant que Nous sommes en termes d'amitié et de rapports amicaux avec chacun de ces Etats, et avec leurs divers sujets et autres habitant leurs pays, territoires ou possessions ;

Et considérant que grand nombre de Nos loyaux sujets sont domiciliés et font le commerce, et possèdent des propriétés et des établissements et jouissent de droits et de privilèges, dans les possessions de chacun des dits Etats, lesquels sont protégés par la foi des traités existant entre nous et chacun des dits Etats ;

Et considérant que, désirant conserver à Nos sujets les bienfaits de la paix dont ils jouissent heureusement aujourd'hui, nous sommes fermement disposé et déterminé à maintenir une stricte et impartiale neutralité dans le dit état de guerre malheureusement existant entre les dits Etats ;

A ces causes, nous avons cru devoir, sur l'avis de Notre Conseil Privé, promulguer Notre présente Proclamation Royale ;

Et Nous recommandons et chargeons strictement par la présente tous Nos bien-aimés sujets de se conduire en conséquence, et d'observer une stricte neutralité dans et pendant la dite guerre, et de s'abstenir de violer ou enfreindre les lois ou statuts du royaume à cet égard, ou le droit des gens à propos de cette guerre, car ils répondront du contraire à leur péril ;

Et considérant que, par un certain statut fait et passé durant une session tenue dans les 33e et 34e années de Notre règne, intitulé : "Acte pour régler la conduite des sujets de Sa Majesté durant les hostilités entre Etats étrangers avec lesquels Sa Majesté est en paix", il est entre autres choses déclaré et statué comme suit :—

"Le présent acte s'appliquera à toutes les possessions de Sa Majesté, y compris les eaux territoriales adjacentes.

"Si une personne, étant sujet britannique, dans les limites ou en dehors des limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, accepte ou convient d'accepter, sans permis de Sa Majesté, une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un autre Etat étranger qui est en paix avec Sa Majesté, et mentionné dans le présent acte comme "pouvoir ami", ou si une personne, étant ou n'étant pas sujet britannique, dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, induit une autre personne à accepter ou à convenir d'accepter une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger tel que susdit,—

"Toute telle personne sera coupable d'offense, sous le présent acte, et passible d'amende ou d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec ou sans travail forcé.

"Si une personne, étant sujet britannique, quitte, sans permis de Sa Majesté, ou se rend à bord d'un navire en vue de quitter les possessions de Sa Majesté, avec l'intention d'accepter une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami, ou si une personne, étant ou n'étant pas sujet britannique, dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, induit une autre personne à quitter, ou à se rendre à bord d'un navire en vue de quitter les possessions de Sa Majesté, avec la même intention,—

"Toute telle personne sera coupable d'offense, sous le présent acte, et passible d'amende et d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec ou sans travail forcé.

"Si une personne induit une autre personne à quitter les possessions de Sa Majesté ou à s'embarquer sur un navire dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté sur un faux rapport ou une fausse représentation du service dans lequel cette personne doit être engagée, avec l'intention ou afin que cette personne puisse accepter ou convenir d'accepter une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami,—

"Toute telle personne sera coupable d'offense, sous le présent acte, et passible d'amende et d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec au sans travail forcé.

"Si le capitaine ou propriétaire d'un navire, sans permis de Sa Majesté prend sciemment ou s'engage à prendre à son bord, dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, une quelconque des personnes suivantes mentionnées dans le présent acte comme illégalement enrôlées, savoir :—

"(1.) Toute personne qui, étant sujet britannique, dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, a, sans permis de Sa Majesté, accepté ou est convenue d'accepter une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami ;

"(2.) Toute personne, étant sujet britannique, qui, sans permis de Sa Majesté, se dispose à quitter les possessions de Sa Majesté avec l'intention d'accepter une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un état étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami ;

"(3.) Toute personne qui a été induite à s'embarquer sur un faux rapport ou une fausse représentation du service dans lequel cette personne doit être engagée, avec l'intention et afin que cette personne puisse accepter ou convenir d'accepter une commission ou engagement dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami,—

"Ce capitaine ou propriétaire sera coupable d'offense, sous le présent acte, et les conséquences suivantes en résulteront, savoir :

"(1.) Le délinquant sera passible d'amende ou d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec ou sans travail forcé ; et

"(2.) Ce navire sera retenu jusqu'à jugement et condamnation ou acquittement du capitaine ou propriétaire et jusqu'à ce que toutes les peines infligées au capitaine ou propriétaire aient été payées, ou que le capitaine ou propriétaire ait donné caution pour le paiement de ces peines à la satisfaction de deux juges de paix, ou autre magistrat ou magistrats ayant l'autorité de deux juges de paix ; et

"(3.) Toutes personnes enrôlées illégalement seront mises à terre immédiament après la constatation de l'offense et ne pourront retourner au navire.

"Construction et expédition illégales de navires.

"Si une personne, dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, sans permis de Sa Majesté, fait un des actes suivants, savoir :—

"(1.) Construit ou s'engage à construire ou fait construire un navire avec intention ou connaissance, ou ayant cause raisonnable de croire que le dit navire doit être ou sera employé dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami ; ou

"(2.) Emet ou délivre une commission pour un navire avec intention ou connaissance, ou ayant cause raisonnable de croire que le dit navire doit être ou sera employé dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami ; ou

"(3.) Equipe un navire avec intention ou connaissance, ou ayant cause raisonnable de croire que le dit navire doit être ou sera employé dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami ; ou

"(4.) Expédie ou fait ou autorise l'expédition d'un navire avec intention ou connaissance, ou ayant cause raisonnable de croire que le dit navire doit être ou sera employé dans le service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami—

"Toute telle personne sera réputée avoir commis une offense, sous le présent acte, et les conséquences suivantes en résulteront :—

"(1.) Le délinquant sera passible d'amende et d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec ou sans travail forcé ;

"(2.) Le navire sujet de l'offense commise, ainsi que son équipement, seront confisqués au profit de Sa Majesté ;

"Pourvu qu'une personne construisant, faisant construire ou équipant un navire dans l'un des cas susmentionnés, aux termes d'un contrat passé avant le commencement de la guerre susdite, ne sera passible d'aucune des peines imposées par la présente section relativement è cette construction ou équipement, si elle satisfait aux conditions suivantes, savoir :

"(1.) Si du moment qu'une proclamation de neutralité est émise par Sa Majesté, elle donne avis au Secrétaire d'Etat qu'elle construit, fait construire ou équipe le dit navire dans les conditions mentionnées, et fournit tels détails du contrat, et de toutes choses s'y rattachant, faites ou à faire en vertu du dit contrat, que le Secrétaire d'Etat pourra exiger ;

"(2.) Si elle donne telles cautions et prend ou laisse prendre telles autres mesures, s'il y a lieu, que le Secrétaire d'Etat jugera nécessaires pour garantir que le dit navire ne sera pas expédié, livré ou déplacé sans permis de Sa Majesté avant la fin de la guerre susdite.

"Si un navire est construit par un Etat étranger ou par son ordre pendant que cet Etat étranger est en guerre avec un pouvoir ami, ou est livré à cet Etat ou à son ordre, ou à une personne qui, à la connaissance du constructeur, est agent pour le dit Etat étranger, ou est payé par le dit Etat ou le dit agent, et est employé dans le service militaire ou maritime de cet Etat étranger, le navire, jusqu'à ce que le contraire soit prouvé, sera considéré comme ayant été construit pour être ainsi employé, et le constructeur du dit navire devra prouver qu'il ignorait que le navire était destiné à être ainsi employé dans le service militaire ou maritime du dit Etat étranger.

" En ajoutant au nombre des canons, ou en changeant ceux qui sont à bord pour d'autres canons, ou en ajoutant aucun équipement de guerre, augmente, accroît ou fait augmenter ou accroître, ou est sciemment concernée dans l'accroissement ou l'augmentation de la force militaire d'un navire qui, à l'époque où il était dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, était un navire au service militaire ou maritime d'un Etat étranger en guerre avec un pouvoir ami,—

> "Toute telle personne sera coupable d'offense, sous le présent acte, et sera passible d'amende ou d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec ou sans travail forcé.

"Si une personne, dans les limites des possessions de Sa Majesté, et sans permis de Sa Majesté,—

" Prépare ou organise une expédition navale ou militaire dirigée contre les possessions d'un pouvoir ami, les conséquences suivantes en résulteront :

> "(1.) Toute personne engagée dans cette préparation ou organisation, y aidant, ou employée à titre quelconque dans cette expédition, sera coupable d'offense sous le présent acte, et passible d'amende et d'emprisonnement, ou de l'une ou l'autre de ces peines, à la discrétion de la cour par-devant laquelle la conviction aura lieu ; et l'emprisonnement, s'il est infligé, pourra l'être avec ou sans travail forcé ;
> "(2.) Tous navires et leurs équipements, et toutes armes et munitions de guerre employées dans cette expédition ou en formant partie, seront confisqués au profit de Sa Majesté.

"Toute personne qui aide, favorise, conseille ou cause l'accomplissement d'une offense, sous le présent acte, sera passible d'être jugée et punie comme auteur du délit."

Et considérant que par le dit acte il est de plus statué que les navires construits, commissionnés, équipés ou expédiés en contravention au dit acte pourront être condamnés et confisqués par jugement de la Cour d'Amirauté ; et que si le Secrétaire d'Etat ou l'autorité exécutive sont convaincus qu'il y a cause raisonnable et probable de croire qu'un navire, dans les limites de Nos possessions a été construit ou est en voie de construction, commissionné ou équipé en contravention au dit acte, et qu'il doit être conduit en dehors des limites de ces possessions, ou qu'un navire est sur le point d'être expédiés contrairement au dit acte, le dit Secrétaire d'Etat ou l'autorité exécutive auront pouvoir d'émettre un mandat autorisant la saisie et la visite de ce navire et sa détention jusqu'à ce qu'il y ait eu légalement condamnation ou acquittement ; et considérant que certains pouvoirs de saisie et de détention sont conférés par le dit acte à certaines autorités locales :

A ces causes, et afin qu'aucun de Nos sujets ne puisse se rendre passible à la légère des peines imposées par le statut, Nous commandons strictement par les présentes que nulle personne ou personnes quelconques ne commettent aucun acte ou ne fassent quoi que ce soit contrairement aux dispositions du dit statut, sous peine d'encourir les différentes peines imposées par le dit statut, et Notre grand déplaisir.

Et Nous avertissons et enjoignons de plus tous Nos bien-aimés sujets, et toutes les personnes quelconques qui ont droit à Notre protection, d'observer envers chacun des Etats susdits, leurs sujets et territoires, et envers tous les belligérants quelconques avec lesquels Nous sommes en paix, les devoirs de la neutralité, et de respecter, chez tous et chacun d'eux, l'exercice des droits de belligérants.

Et Nous avertissons de plus tous Nos bien-aimés sujets, et toutes les personnes quelconques qui ont droit à Notre protection, que si quelqu'un d'entre eux se permet, au mépris de Notre présente Proclamation Royale, et à Notre grand déplaisir, de commettre quelques actes qui soient une dérogation à leurs devoirs comme sujets d'un souverain neutre dans une guerre entre d'autres Etats, ou une violation ou contravention du droit des gens à cet égard, et plus particulièrement en forçant ou cherchant à forcer un blocus légalement et effectivement établi par ou au nom de l'un ou l'autre des dits Etats, ou en transportant des officiers, soldats, dépêches, armes, munitions de guerre, approvisionnements ou matériaux militaires, ou quelque article ou des articles regardés et réputés comme contrebande de guerre par le droit des gens ou les usages modernes des nations pour l'usage ou le service de l'un ou de l'autre des dits Etats, que toutes les personnes se rendant coupables de pareils actes, ainsi que leurs navires et marchandises, s'exposeront justement à une capture hostile et aux peines prononcées par le droit des gens à cet égard.

Et Nous donnons par le présent avis à tous Nos sujets et aux personnes qui ont droit à Notre protection qui pourront se mal conduire à cet égard, qu'ils le feront à leur péril et se mettront dans leur propre tort ; et qu'ils n'obtiendront aucune protection de Notre part contre une pareille capture ou les peines susdites, mais qu'au contraire ils encourront Notre grand déplaisir par une pareille conduite.

Donné en Notre Cour au château de Buckingham le onzième jour de février de l'année de Notre-Seigneur mil neuf quatre et dans la quatrième année de Notre Règne.

DIEU PROTÈGE LE ROI.

LE Très honorable marquis de Lansdowne aux Lords Commissaires de l'Amirauté :*—

AFFAIRES ETRANGÈRES,
10 février 1904.

MILORDS,

Sa Majesté, étant fermement résolue d'observer les devoirs de la neutralité durant la guerre actuelle entre la Russie et le Japon, et voulant, de plus, empêcher, autant que possible l'usage des havres, ports et côtes de Sa Majesté, et des eaux situées dans la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté, pour aider aux opérations de l'un ou de l'autre des belligérants, m'a chargé de communiquer à Vos Seigneuries, pour vous servir de guide, les règlements qui suivent, lesquels devront être traités et mis à exécution comme étant les ordres et instructions de Sa Majesté :—

1. Tant que durera la guerre actuelle, il est défendu à tous les navires de guerre de l'un ou l'autre des belligérants de se servir d'aucun port ou rade du Royaume-Uni, de l'Ile de Man ou des Iles de la Manche ou d'aucune des colonies ou possessions ou dépendances étrangères de Sa Majesté, ni d'aucune des eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de la Couronne britannique, comme station ou lieu de rendez-vous, pour aucune fin guerrière, ou dans le but de se procurer des moyens ou des équipements de guerre ; et aucun navire de guerre de l'un ou l'autre des belligérants n'aura à l'avenir la permission de faire voile ou de partir d'un port, d'une rade, ou des eaux soumises à la juridiction britannique, d'où quelque navire de l'autre belligérant (que ce soit un navire de guerre ou un navire marchand) sera préalablement parti, avant qu'il ne se soit écoulé au moins vingt-quatre heures depuis le départ du navire en dernier lieu mentionné, hors de la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté.

Règle 2. Si quelque navire de guerre de l'un ou l'autre belligérant se trouve actuellement dans tout tel port, rade ou eaux soumis à la juridiction territoriale de la Couronne britannique, ce navire quittera ce port, rade ou eaux, dans un délai de pas moins de vingt-quatre heures qui sera raisonnable, eu égard à toutes les circonstances et la condition de ce navire quant aux réparations, provisions ou choses nécessaires à la subsistance de son équipage ; et si après la date de la présente quelque navire de guerre de l'un ou l'autre belligérant entre dans tout tel port, rade, ou eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de la Couronne britannique, ce navire sera invité à en partir et à reprendre la mer dans les vingt-quatre heures de son entrée dans tel port, rade, ou eaux, sauf dans le cas de mauvais temps, ou s'il a besoin de se procurer des provisions ou autres choses nécessaires pour la subsistance de son équipage, ou de subir des réparations, et dans ces cas les autorités du port, ou du port le plus rapproché, selon le cas, exigeront qu'il reprenne la mer le plus tôt possible après l'expiration de cette période de vingt-quatre heures, sans lui permettre de se ravitailler au delà de ce qui pourra être nécessaire pour ses besoins immédiats ; et nul tel vaisseau auquel il aura été permis de rester dans les eaux britanniques pour y subir des réparations ne restera dans ce port, cette rade, ou ces eaux pendant plus de vingt-quatre heures après que les réparations nécessaires auront été terminées. Pourvu, néanmoins, que dans tous les cas où il se trouverait quelque vaisseau (que ce soit un navire de guerre ou un navire marchand) des dites parties belligérantes dans le même port, rade, ou eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté, il ne s'écoulera pas un intervalle de moins de vingt-quatre heures entre le départ d'aucun tel vaisseau (que ce soit un navire de guerre ou un navire marchand) de l'un des belligérants, et le départ subséquent d'un navire de guerre de l'autre belligérant ; et le temps par le présent limité pour le départ de ces navires de guerre, respectivement, sera toujours, en cas de nécessité, prolongé autant qu'il sera nécessaire pour donner effet au présent proviso, mais pas plus ni autrement.

*Semblables lettres au Trésor, Home Office, Bureau des Colonies, Bureau des Indes, Scottish Office, et la Chambre de Commerce.

Règle 3. Il ne sera permis à l'avenir à aucun navire de guerre de l'un ou l'autre des belligérants, tant qu'il sera dans un port, une rade, ou des eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté, de se ravitailler, sauf de provisions et autres choses nécessaires à la subsistance de son équipage, et sauf de la quantité de charbon qui sera seulement nécessaire pour le conduire au port le plus rapproché de son propre pays ou à quelque autre destination neutre plus rapprochée ; et il ne sera non plus fourni de charbon à aucun tel navire de guerre dans le même ou quelque autre port, rade, ou eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté, sans une permission spéciale, jusqu'après l'expiration de trois mois de la date à laquelle ce charbon lui aura été en dernier lieu fourni dans les eaux britanniques comme susdit.

Règle 4. Il est interdit aux navires armés de l'une ou l'autre partie d'amener les prises faites par eux dans les ports, havres, rades, ou eaux du Royaume-Uni, de l'Ile de Man, des Iles de la Manche, ou d'aucun des colonies ou possessions étrangères de Sa Majesté.

Le Gouverneur ou autre autorité exécutive de chacun des territoires ou possessions de Sa Majesté au delà des mers, publieront sans délai les règles ci-dessus.

MONSIEUR,—Je suis chargé par Son Excellence le Gouverneur général de vous prier de faire publier l'invitation ci-incluse adressée aux femmes du Canada par le Conseil des Dames Directrices de l'Exposition de la Louisiane.

J'ai l'honneur d'être,
Monsieur,
Votre obéissant serviteur,
F. S. MAUDE, major,
Secrétaire du Gouverneur général.

A l'honorable Secrétaire d'Etat,
Ottawa.

WASHINGTON, 20 février 1904.

No. 20.

MILORD,—J'ai l'honneur de transmettre à Votre Excellence, copie d'une lettre personnelle que j'ai reçue de M. Hay, renfermant une invitation adressée aux femmes du Canada par le Conseil des Dames Directrices de l'Exposition de la Louisiane, avec prière que l'invitation reçoive publicité.

J'ai, etc.,

DÉPARTEMENT D'ÉTAT,

WASHINGTON, 19 février 1904.

MON CHER AMBASSADEUR,—Vu l'accueil fait au Conseil des Dames Directrices de l'Exposition de la Louisiane, par le Congrès des Etats-Unis, je vous envoie sous pli une invitation que le conseil a adressée aux femmes du Canada par la voie du Gouverneur général, et qu'on m'a demandé de faire transmettre par vos bons offices.

J'ai, etc.,
JOHN HAY.

EXPOSITION DE LA LOUISIANE.

CONSEIL DES DAMES DIRECTRICES.

Mme Daniel Manning, présidente.

ST-LOUIS, Mo., 16 février 1904.

EXCELLENCE,—Par un acte du Congrès des Etats-Unis le Conseil des Dames Directrices de l'Exposition de la Louisiane est enjoint de s'unir aux autres autorités constituées pour commémorer le grand événement dans l'histoire des Etats-Unis alors qu'il y a un siècle passé fut ajouté à leur territoire un nouveau champ qui est aujourd'hui le foyer de bien des gens, et où des femmes dévouées et sincères, ainsi que des hommes travaillent ardûment à résoudre les problèmes du progrès de l'humanité, et l'avancement de la race.

Nul individu, nul peuple, nul pays ne peut, seul, fournir cette connaissance parfaite d'après laquelle on peut établir la condition de l'humanité, son développement dans les industries, les arts, les sciences au commencement du vingtième siècle. Tout l'univers doit contribuer à cette connaissance et c'est pourquoi tout l'univers a été invité à prendre part à cette exposition universeelle et apporter ici le fruit des terres, les produits d'autres sols, les articles fabriqués par des mains étrangères et des preuves des progrès de l'esprit et de l'intelligence dans les hautes sphères de la pensée.

Bien qu'en rassemblant toutes ces choses il ne soit pas fait de distinction entre le travail manuel de l'homme et celui de la femme, entre le produit de la pensée de l'homme et celui de la pensée de la femme, néanmoins ce conseil a pour fonction spéciale de servir d'intermédiaire au moyen duquel les femmes comme individus et comme organisations pourront venir en contact immédiat avec l'Exposition de St-Louis.

C'est donc avec cordialité et ardeur que nous invitons les femmes du Dominion à se joindre à nous pour présenter au monde les renseignements sur la condition, les opportunités, le développement et les promesses de leur sexe dans leur propre pays, et exhiber à l'exposition des spécimens de leurs productions et des exemples de leur activité, manuelle et mentale, scientifique et artistique.

Et joint à cette invitation, nous avons l'espoir qu'il nous sera permis d'être de quelque service aux femmes qui visiteront l'Exposition, ou de donner une attention spéciale aux articles exposés appartenant à celles qui ne pourront venir.

Sollicitant les bons offices de Votre Excellence à l'effet que publicité soit donnée à l'invitation pour qu'elle parvienne à la connaissance des femmes du Canada, veuillez accepter l'assurance de ma haute considération,

Votre obéissante servante,
MARY MARGARETTA MANNING,
36-2 Présidente.

PRÉSENT :

SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL EN CONSEIL.

VU un memorandum daté le 20 de février 1904, du ministre de la Marine et des Pêcheries, recommandant que dans le but de faire face aux exigences toujours croissantes du service relatif à la construction et entretien des phares et signaux de brume, etc., par tout le Canada, et en vertu des dispositions du chapitre 70 des Statuts Revisés du Canada, tel que modifié par 51-58 Victoria, chapitre 41, une Commission désignée "Commission des phares du Canada", soit nommée pour s'enquérir et lui faire rapport de temps à autre, de toutes questions concernant le choix des emplacements de phares, la construction et l'entretien des phares, des signaux de brume et de toutes autres matières attribuées au ministre de la Marine et des Pêcheries par l'article 2 du chapitre 70 des Statuts Révisés du Canada.

Le lieutenant-colonel F. Gourdeau, sous-ministre de la Marine et des Pêcheries, surintendant.

Le lieutenant-colonel W. P. Anderson, ingénieur en chef du ministère de la Marine et des Pêcheries.

Le commandant O. G. V. Spain, commandant du service maritime canadien.

M. J. F. Fraser, commissaire des phares, et M. Hugh A. Allan, de Montréal, comme représentant les intérêts maritimes généralement.

Le Ministre recommande aussi que chaque fois qu'une question touchant les aides à la navigation dans les circonscriptions de pilotage de Québec ou Montréal viendra devant la Commission pour être étudiée, le président alors en exercice de la corporation des pilotes pour les circonscriptions respectives soit ex-officio membre de la Commission des phares, lorsqu'il est assigné par le président pour assister à ces assemblées.

Le Ministre recommande de plus que les membres de la Commission, autres que les officiers du ministère de la Marine et des Pêcheries—pour les frais de voyage lesquels il est déjà pourvu,—aient droit à leurs frais de voyage lorsqu'ils assisteront aux assemblées de la Commission ; et qu'en outre de cela, ces membres reçoivent un honoraire de $5 par jour tant qu'ils assisteront aux assemblées, le jour de départ de leurs domiciles et le jour de départ de l'endroit où la Commission tiendra son assemblée étant comptés comme jours de présence pour le paiement de cet honoraire.

Le Ministre recommande que M. W. C. Gordon, un commis dans le Ministère de la Marine et des Pêcheries, soit nommé pour agir en qualité de secrétaire de la dite Commission.

Le comité soumet ce qui précède à l'approbation.

HOTEL DU GOUVERNEMENT À OTTAWA

Mercredi, le 27e jour de janvier 1904.

PRÉSENT :

SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL EN CONSEIL.

SUR un rapport daté le 23e jour de janvier 1904, du ministre de l'Intérieur, disant qu'en juillet 1903, certaines terres situées dans les townships 32 et 33, rangs 7 et 8, ouest du principal méridien, ont été retirées des inscriptions de homesteads afin de donner à Mr. Hugh Sutherland, de Winnipeg, l'occasion d'y prospecter afin de constater si ces terres contenaient ou non un dépôt suffisant de gypse pour justifier l'achat d'une certaine étendue d'icelles pour cette fin.

Le Ministre dit de plus que Mr. Sutherland, après avoir soigneusement prospecté le territoire, et l'avoir fait arpenter, demande aujourd'hui la permission d'acheter les terres fédérales suivantes :—

Le ¼ N. E. de la section 34, township 32, rang 8
" ¼ N.-O. " 10, " 33, " 8
" ¼ S.-O. " 10, " 33, " 8
" ½ N. " 14, " 33, " 8
" ¼ S.-O. " 24, " 33, " 8
" ¼ N.-E. " 12, " 33, " 8
Le tout à l'ouest du principal méridien.

Le Ministre dit aussi que le requérant représente que le plâtre qu'on a l'intention de manufacturer du gypse découvert sur les susdites terres n'est pas produit dans les limites de la province ; que le marché est approvisionné principalement des importations des Etats-Unis ; qu'avec un peu d'encouragement tout promet d'établir dans la province du Manitoba une nouvelle industrie importante ; que la localité où les terres sont situées est si inégale qu'elle est presque inaccessible ; qu'il sera nécessaire de construire vingt-cinq milles d'un tramway pour transporter le produit au lac Winnipeg d'où il sera porté au marché par bateaux, que cela nécessitera de forts déboursés qu'on ne peut encourir à moins d'acquérir une large étendue de terrain ; et qu'on peut calculer en toute sûreté que ces dépôts ne peuvent être avantageusement exploités qu'avec un capital d'au moins un demi-million de piastres.

Le Ministre recommande, sur la représentation de Mr. Sutherland qu'il a acquis les sections impaires nécessaires, et que vu l'importance de l'industrie qu'il propose d'établir le Ministre soit autorisé à vendre au requérant les droits miniers de surface et de gypse des terres susdites au taux de $5 l'acre.

Le comité soumet ce qui précède à l'approbation.

JOHN J. McGEE,
35-4 Greffier du Conseil privé.

Il doit être signifié, à la diligence de l'époux pétitionnaire, un mois au moins avant la présentation de la pétition, une copie de cet avis à l'autre époux en personne, si cela est possible.

Huit jours avant l'ouverture du Parlement, le pétitionnaire déposera au bureau du greffier du Sénat, une copie en langue anglaise ou française du bill de divorce qui doit être présenté, et en même temps une somme suffisante pour payer la traduction et l'impression et tirage à 600 exemplaires anglais et 200 exemplaires français de ce bill.

JOHN J. McGEE,
Clerk of the Privy Council.

PATENTS OF INVENTION.

Rules and Forms of the Canadian Patent Office by Order in Council, dated 23rd February, 1904.

1. A personal appearance of the applicant, or his representative, at the Patent Office is not required, unless specially called for by the Commissioner.

2. In all cases the applicant or depositor of any paper is responsible for the merits of his allegations, and the validity of the instruments furnished by him or his agent.

3 Correspondence may be carried on either with the applicant, or his agent, but only with one person, and will be conveyed through the Canadian mails free of charge.

4. All documents must be legibly and neatly written or printed on foolscap paper, 13 inches long and 8 wide, with an inner margin of one inch and a half wide.

5. All communications are to be addressed—"The Commissioner of Patents, Ottawa, Canada." Papers forwarded to the Office should be accompanied by a letter, and a separate letter should be written on every subject.

6. As regards proceedings not specially provided for in the accompanying forms, any other form being conformable to the letter and spirit of the law may be accepted, and if not conformable therewith will be returned for correction.

7. Models need only be furnished when required by the Commissioner, and must be neat and substantial working ones, not exceeding 12 inches on the longest side, unless otherwise allowed by special permission; models must be so constructed as to show exactly every part of the invention claimed and its mode of working. In cases where samples of ingredients are required by law, they must be contained in glass bottles properly arranged; but dangerous or explosive substances must not be sent. Both models and bottles must bear the name of the inventor, the title of the invention and date of the application; they must be furnished to the Patent Office free of charge and in good order.

8. All fees should be transmitted with the application for any action by the office. Remittances must be in current bankable funds, bank drafts, money orders, or certified cheques payable at par at Ottawa. Money sent by mail should be in registered letters and is at the risk of the sender. Drafts, money orders and cheques should be made payable to the Commissioner of Patents, Ottawa.

9. An applicant for an original patent, or for the re-issue of a patent, shall proceed with his application with due diligence; and upon his failure to prosecute the same within a period of one year after the date of the acknowledgment of the filing of his application, or other subsequent official action of which notice have been duly given, the same shall be held to be abandoned, and any fees paid thereon forfeited, unless the Commissioner is satisfied that the cause of the delay was not the fault of the applicant.

In any case, however, in which it is established to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that there is unnecessary delay on the part of the applicant in the prosecution of his application, and that such delay may injure the rights of other parties, the Commissioner may require the applicant to proceed with the prosecution of his application within such period less than one year as to the Commissioner may seem reasonable; and upon the failure of the applicant so to do, his application shall be held to be abandoned, with forfeiture of fees, as aforesaid.

Prosecution of an application, to save it from abandonment, must include such proper action as the condition of the case may require.

10. Two or more separate inventions cannot be claimed in one application, nor included in one Patent. But if separate matters are represented to be so dependent on, and connected with, each other as to be necessarily taken together, to obtain the end sought for by the inventor, the Commissioner of Patents shall be the judge whether or not the pretensions of the applicant in such respect can be entertained.

11. The filing of a protest against the issuing of a Patent shall not be taken in itself as sufficient reason to withhold the granting of such Patent to an applicant.

12. A Caveat can only be filed by an inventor, and shall be composed of a specification (and drawings), certified on oath [Form No. 22] and the applicant may, while it is pending, lodge additional papers, provided they relate exclusively to the same invention. The person filing a Caveat will not be entitled to notice of any application pending at the time of filing his Caveat. A Caveat must be limited to a single invention.

The specification of a Caveat should be sufficiently precise to enable the Office to judge whether there is a probable interference when a subsequent application is filed.

13. Drawings in duplicate, to be attached to the duplicate specification, must be made in India or carbon ink, on sheets of tracing cloth other than Linaura or similar fabric, eight by thirteen inches, neatly executed and without colours.

Each sheet of tracing linen shall contain the following certificate at the bottom: "Certified to be the drawings referred to in the specification hereunto annexed," and signed by the inventor or his attorney; place, date, and signature of two witnesses.

All drawings must be clear, sharp, well-defined, not too fine and perfectly black.

Lines that are pale, ashy, very fine, ragged or broken, give bad results when photo-lithographed.

Brush-shading, tinting and imitation surface graining should never be used; and in fine-shading the result should be attained with as few lines as possible.

Section lines also should be as open in their spacing as the case will admit of, and these, as well as all right lines, in order to insure clearness, should be made with a ruling pen. The shading of convex and concave surfaces may be dispensed with when the invention is otherwise well illustrated.

Shade lines may sometimes be used with good effect, but heavy shadows where they would obscure lines or letters of reference, should be avoided.

With each application an extra full set of drawings must be supplied on double Bristol Board, 8 by 13 inches, without writing on its face, merely the usual reference letters; no title, certificate, nor signatures; on the back of the sheet the name of the inventor and the title of the invention must be written in pencil.

The card board drawing should be rolled on a roller for transmission to the office, as folding will prevent its usefulness for photo-lithographing.

14. In the matter of a re-issue, under Section 23 of the Act, whatever is really embraced in the original application and so described or shown in the same, that it might have been embraced in the original Patent, may be ground for a re-issue. No new matter can be introduced into the specifications, nor shall the models or drawings be amended except each by the other. In the absence of model or drawing, the reissue may contain amendments, upon satisfactory proof to the Commissioner that such amendments were part of the invention, although omitted in the original application. Separate patents may be issued for each separate and distinct part of the invention, comprehended in the original patent.

15. Information in relation to pending applications will be furnished only to applicants, or to such persons as may be duly authorized in writing by them to obtain the same.

16. The Office can not respond to inquiries as to the probability of an alleged invention being patented in advance of an application for a Patent; nor to inquiries founded on brief or imperfect descriptions, propounded with a view of ascertaining whether alleged improvements have been patented, nor unless the name of the patentee, and, as nearly as possible, the date of the Patent, be given; nor can it act as an expounder of the Patent Law, nor as counsellor for individuals, except as to questions within the office.

In order to avoid unnecessary explanations and useless loss of time and labour, it is particularly recommended that reference be made to the law before writing on any subject to the Patent Office.

A copy of the Rules with a particular section marked, sent to any person making an inquiry, will be deemed a respectful answer by the Office.

17. It is desirable, both in the interests of the applicant and of the public service, that the papers and drawings should be prepared by competent persons. Therefore, the applicant is advised, unless himself competent to draw up papers, in connection with the application, to employ a skilled attorney, as the value of patents is largely based upon the ability with which the specification and claims have been prepared. The Office will always decline to advise the selection of an attorney.

18. All business with this Office should be transacted in writing. The action of the Office will be based exclusively on the written record. No attention will be paid to any alleged verbal promise or understanding in relation to which there is any disagreement or doubt.

19. An assignment is to be accompanied by a copy thereof; the original will be kept in the Patent Office, and the copy will be returned to the person sending it, with certificate of registration thereon.

20. All cases connected with the intricate and multifarious proceedings arising from the working of the Patent Office, which are not specially defined and provided for in these Rules, will be decided in accordance with the merits of each case under the authority of the Commissioner; and such decision will be communicated to the interested parties in writing.

21. Applications for patents sent to this Office, unaccompanied by the fee provided by law, will receive no official recognition, nor be filed nor numbered; they will merely be pigeon-holed, and only marked filed the day on which the fee shall have been received.

22. The applicant has a right to amend before or after the first rejection or action; and he may amend as often as the examiner presents new references or reasons for rejection. In so amending, the applicant must clearly point out by letter accompanying his amendments and not therein, all the patentable novelty which he thinks the case presents in view of the state of the art disclosed by the references cited or the objections made. He must also show how the amendments avoid such references or objections.

23. The specification and drawing must be amended and revised when required, to correct inaccuracies of description or unnecessary prolixity, and to secure correspondence between the claim, the specification and the drawing. But no change in the drawing may be made except by written permission of the office.

24. Amendments must not be made by erasures or insertions in the original papers, but must be made on fresh sheets of paper, so that the sheets containing the matter to be amended may be removed from the application and replaced by sheets containing the amendments.

Amendments to the specifications must be made in duplicate, and those to the claims in triplicate.

COMPULSORY LICENSES.

25. A petition to the Commissioner for an order for a license under section 7, paragraph (a), of the Act to amend the Patent Act, 1903, shall show clearly the ground or grounds upon which the petitioner claims to be entitled to a license, and shall state in detail the circumstances of the case, the terms upon which he asks that an order may be made, the purpose of such order, and the name and address of the patentee and of any other person who is alleged in the petition to have made default.

26. The petition and an examined copy thereof shall be left at the Patent Office, accompanied by affidavits or statutory declarations in proof of the allegations contained in the petition, together with any other documentary evidence in support; and petitioner shall within ten days after the leaving of such petition deliver to the patentee and any other person who is alleged in the petition to have made default, copies of the petition and of such affidavits or statutory declarations and other documentary evidence in support.

27. The person to whom such copies are delivered by the petitioner may, within ten days after being invited to do so by the Commissioner, leave at the Patent Office their oppositions to such petition, together with their affidavits or statutory declarations or other documentary evidence in support, in answer, and if they do so, shall deliver copies thereof to the petitioner within ten days, and the petitioner may within ten days from such last mentioned delivery leave at the Patent Office his affidavits or statutory declarations and other documentary evidence, in reply; and if he does so, shall deliver copies thereof to the patentee or any other person alleged in the petition to have made default within ten days, such last mentioned affidavits or statutory declarations being confined to matters strictly in reply.

28. No further evidence than as aforesaid may be left by either side at the Patent Office, except by leave or on requisition of the Commissioner, and upon such terms, if any, as he may think fit.

29. The Commissioner may at any stage of the proceedings before granting his order, give notice of the proceedings, and furnish copies thereof to any person not a party thereto who may be interested in the patent and whose rights may be affected by his order, and may allow such person to intervene in the proceedings. After such person has been allowed to intervene, he shall be governed by these rules as though the petitioner had alleged in his petition that such person was in default.

30. On completion of the evidence, or after the expiration of the time for completing the same, the Commissioner, on the request of the petitioner, shall fix a time for hearing the petition, and shall give notice to the petitioner, the patentee, and all other parties to the proceedings, that it is his intention to hear the petition on a specified day, which day shall not be less than two weeks from the date when the notice is served.

31. All petitions and other documents lodged at the Patent Office shall (unless the Commissioner otherwise directs), be typewritten or printed, and the parties shall furnish as many copies of the documents lodged by them as shall be required by the Commissioner.

32. Parties shall be entitled to have copies of all papers lodged in respect to the petition, at their own expense. The petitioner and each of the other parties shall specify an address for service in Canada, and may be heard in person or by counsel or by a duly authorized agent.

33. The Commissioner shall, if so requested, hear counsel on behalf of the Crown on the question of granting the prayer of any petition. Counsel on behalf of the Crown shall not be required to give notice of the grounds of any objection he may think fit to take or of any evidence which he may think fit to place before the Commissioner.

34. Any notice required to be served or given by the rules relating to compulsory license may be served or given by posting the same to the party to be notified in a registered envelope, and documents required to be delivered may be delivered in the same way.

35. The times prescribed by these rules may be altered or enlarged by the Commissioner if he thinks fit, upon such notice to parties interested and upon such terms, if any, as he may direct.

SPECIFICATIONS.

Form 9.

FOR A MACHINE.

To all whom it may concern :

Be it known that I, William Woodworth, of the town of Poughkeepsie, in the County of Duchess, in the State of New York, gentleman, having invented certain new and useful improvements in Meat Chopping Machines (for which I have obtained a patent in [here name the country] No , bearing date 189);* do hereby declare that the following is a full, clear, and exact description of the same.

My invention relates to improvements in meat-chopping machines in which vertically-reciprocating knives operate in conjunction with a rotating chopping-block ; and the objects of my improvement are, first, to provide a continuously-lubricated bearing for the block ; second, to afford facilities for the proper adjustment of the knives independently of each other in respect to the face of the block ; and, third, to reduce the friction of the reciprocating rod which carries the knives.

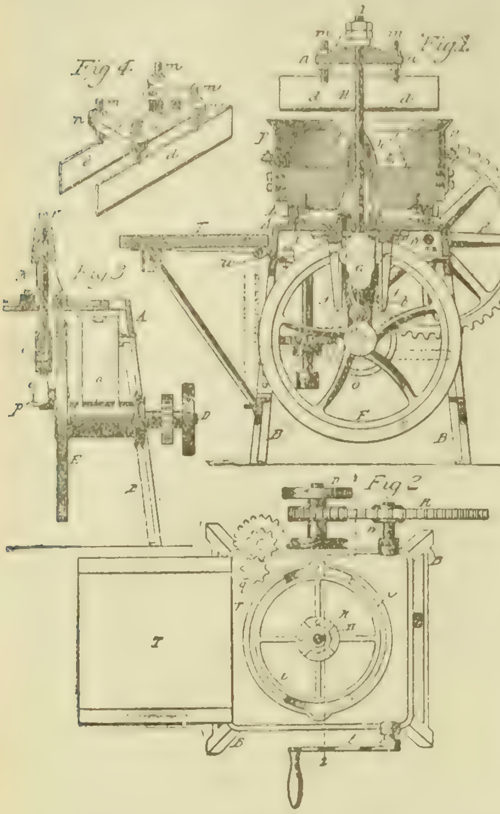
* NOTE.—If no foreign patent has been obtained, the words in parenthesis should be omitted.

I attain these objects by the mechanism illustrated in the accompanying drawing, in which—



Certified to be the Drawings referred to in the specification hereunto annexed.

(Place and date.)

Similar letters refer to similar parts throughout the several views.

The table or plate A, its legs or standards B B, and the hanger a, secured to the under side of the table, constitute the frame-work of the machine. In the hanger a turns the shaft D, carrying a fly-wheel E, a crank-pin, on the hub of which is connected by a link b to a pin passing through a cross-head G, and to the latter is secured a rod H, having at its upper end a cross-head I, carrying the adjustable chopping-knives d d, referred to hereinafter.

The cross-head G, reciprocated by the shaft D, is provided with antifriction rollers e e, adapted to guides f f, secured to the under side of the table A, so that the reciprocation of this cross-head may be accompanied with as little friction as possible.

To the under side of a wooden chopping-block J is secured an annular rib h adapted to and bearing in an annular grove i in the table A. (See Figs. 1 and 2.) This annular groove or channel is not of the same depth throughout, but communicates at one or more points (two in the present instance) with the pockets or receptables j j, deeper than the groove, and containing supplies of oil in contact with which the rib h rotates, so that the continuous lubrication of the groove and rib is assured. The rod H passes through and is guided by a central stand K, secured to the table A, and projecting through a central opening in the chopping-block without being in contact therewith, the upper portion of the said stand being contained within a cover k, which is secured to the block, and which prevents particles of meat from escaping through the central opening of the same.

The cross-head I, previously referred to, and shown in perspective in Fig. 4, is vertically adjustable on the rod H, and can be retained after adjustment by a set-screw x, the upper end of the rod being threaded for the reception of nuts, which resist the shocks imparted to the cross-head when the knives are brought into violent contact with the meat on the chopping-block.

The knives d d are adjustable independently of each other and of the said cross-head, so that the coincidence of the cutting-edge of each knife with the face of the chopping-block may always be assured.

I prefer to carry out this feature of my invention in the manner shown in Fig. 4, where it will be seen that two screw-rods m m rise vertically from the back of each knife and pass through lugs n n on the cross-head, each rod being furnished with two nuts, one above and the other below the lug through which it passes. The most accurate adjustment of the knives can be effected by the manipulation of these nuts.

A circular casing p is secured to the chopping-block, so as to form on the same a trough P for keeping the meat within proper bounds; and on the edge of the annular rib h, secured to the bottom of the block, are teeth for receiving those of a pinion q, which may be driven by the shaft D through the medium of any suitable system of gearing, that shown in the drawing forming no part of my present invention.

This shaft D may be driven by a belt passing round the pulleys s, or it may be driven by hand from a shaft W, furnished at one end with a handle t, and at the other with a cog-wheel R, gearing into a pinion on the said shaft D.

A platform T may be hinged, as at w, to one edge of the table A, to support a vessel in which the chopped meat can be deposited. The means by which it may be supported, and the most convenient method of disposing of it when not in use, are shown in Fig. 1.

I am aware that prior to my invention meat-chopping machines have been made with vertically-reciprocating knives operating in conjunction with rotating chopping-blocks. I therefore do not claim such a combination broadly; but

What I do claim as my invention, and desire to secure by letters patent, is—

1. The combination, in a meat-chopping machine, of a rotary chopping-block having an annular rib, with a table having an annular recess and a pocket communicating with the said recess, all substantially as set forth.

2. In a meat-chopping machine, the combination of a rotary chopping-block with a reciprocating cross-head carrying knives, each of which is vertically adjustable on the said cross-head independently of the other, substantially as described.

3. The knife d, having two screw-rods, m m, attached to its back, substantially as shown, for the purpose specified.

4. The combination, in a meat-chopping machine, of the reciprocating rod, carrying the knives, the cross-head secured to the said rod, and having anti-friction rollers, with guides, adapted to the said rollers, all substantially as set forth.

FORM 10.

FOR AN ART OR PROCESS.

To all whom it may concern:

Be it known that we, Marion Ellsworth, of Chicago, County of Cook, and State of Illinois, gentleman, and Joseph Richard Shaw, of Indianapolis, County of Marion, and State of Indiana, gentleman, have jointly invented a certain new and useful Process of Treating Sludge Oil, in order to obtain from it a resinous substance, (for which we have obtained a patent in [here name the country], No. , bearing date 189 , * of which the following is a specification :

In the purification of hydrocarbon oils produced by the distillation of crude petroleum, asphalts, or bitumens, or by the destructive distillation of coal, resins, or bituminous shales, the oils are agitated with 2 per cent or more of concentrated sulphuric acid (60° Baumé, 1·86 specific gravity), in order to remove certain oils contained in the distillate which would, in course of time, absorb oxygen from the air, and cause the oil to become dark-coloured and gummy, and also to remove tarry substances and the disagreeable odour. Sulphuric acid combines chemically with these bodies and dissolves them, forming a dark-red, heavy liquid, which settles on the bottom of the agitator, and can then be readily drawn off from the purified oil. This peculiar compound of sulphuric acid and hydrocarbon oils, dissolved in the excess of acid, is known as "sludge." At present it is purchased by superphosphate manufacturers, who mix it with a little water, which decomposes the compound of acid and oil, producing a weaker acid (about 50° Baumé) used in the manufacture of superphosphate of lime, and a dark-coloured offensive oil, which rises to the surface of the acid, and usually is thrown away, no commercial use having been found for it. This waste product is called "sludge oil."

The mode of practising our invention is as follows : In our process, when the sludge has been decomposed by the addition of water, the sludge oil is drawn off, and is then purified by repeated washings with water, until the acid remaining in it is removed. For this purpose equal volumes of water and sludge oil may be used ; but the washing can be effected by a less quantity of water. The acid remaining in the oil, if any, is then neutralized with quicklime or caustic soda. The purified oil has a strong and somewhat disagreeable odour, and contains about 10 per cent of volatile oils, which are converted into a hard resin with difficulty. To remove these volatile substances, the sludge oil thus purified is introduced into a still with the addition of from 2 to 4 per cent of caustic soda and about 2 per cent of the oxides of lead or manganese, to oxidize any sulphurous body which may be in the oil and combine with it, and steam is then blown through the oil, the oil being kept hot either by a fire under the still or by the use of steam heated to the required temperature (between 212° and 450° Fahrenheit). The action of the steam is continued until no more volatile oils are removed, usually from five to ten hours. The steam is then shut off, and the contents of the still allowed to settle, when a sediment of tarry impurities and soda subsides, from which the pure oil may be drawn off. The oil is then introduced into a still or tank, and oxidized by blowing currents of air through it, the oil being kept at a moderate temperature (from 200° to 300° Fahrenheit), either by a slow fire under the still, or by a steam coil in the bottom of the tank, or by heating the air by a hot-blast oven to the proper temperature before it is blown through the oil, and the action of the air is continued until complete oxidation is effected, and a sample on cooling solidifies to a more or less hard resin.

The time required to effect the oxidation varies with the working temperature and with the extent of surface of oil brought in contact with the air. We may define it as between four and twelve days. The action of the air upon the oil is stopped when samples on cooling, taken from the contents of the still, are found to be of the proper degree of hardness and toughness for the particular purpose to which the product is to be applied, and after letting the contents of the still settle the hot resin is drawn off from the sediment of soda and impurities.

The action of the air may be accelerated by adding other oxidizing agents—for example, about 2 per cent of the oxides of lead or manganese, or about 2 per cent of the manganates of soda and potassa to the oil. These substances act either by giving up oxygen to the oil or by their presence inducing a combination of the oxygen and the hydrocarbon.

An inferior quality of resin may be produced by treating the washed sludge oil in a still with caustic soda and litharge (5 per cent soda to 1 to 2 per cent litharge) and blowing a current of air through it at about the temperature of 350° Fahrenheit, which at the same time oxidizes the oil and removes the more volatile portions, which are distilled off until it is converted into a resin, which, on cooling, becomes hard and brittle. This process last mentioned requires from two to six days, but the resin produced is darker in colour than that made by first treating with steam and then with air at a lower temperature, as the colouring matter is not affected by steam at 400°, while air at that temperature rapidly darkens it by oxidation. Sunlight bleaches the colour of sludge oil, and, at the same time, greatly accelerates the absorption of oxygen from the air. To produce the lightest-coloured resins the sludge oil is steamed with 5 per cent of a solution of soda, 20° Baumé, at a low temperature (about 200° to 250° Fahrenheit for ten hours), to remove the more volatile portions, and then oxidized and bleached by exposing the oil, in shallow tanks covered by glass, to the action of the sunlight, the oil being kept hot and fluid by a steam coil in the bottom of the tank, and currents of air blown through it to produce the oxidation.

Inferior qualities of sludge oil, as those produced in the purification of lubricating oils, and which contain a large quantity of tarry substances, are treated as follows : The oil is charged in to a still, and caustic soda and black oxide of manganese, in the proportion of about 5 per cent of soda and 2 per cent of manganese, are added, and the charge distilled by a current of steam blown through the oil, assisted by a fire under the still, until only tar and coke remain behind. The distillation commences at about 350° Fahrenheit, and, the fire being increased, the temperature in the still gradually rises to about 800°, when only the thick pitch remains in the still.

By the use of steam under pressure the oil can be distilled with scarcely any decomposition, and the distillate, which is of a yellow light-red colour, can be converted into a superior resin by oxidizing it with a current of hot air. The resin produced by this oxidation of sludge oil is distinguished from all other known resins and resinous substances by its behaviour with different chemicals and solvents. It varies in colour from yellow to dark garnet red, according to the method of its production. It is hard, brittle, and odourless at ordinary temperatures, tasteless, insoluble, and not acted upon by water, soda, potassa, and ammonia, even when heated.

Alcohol of 95 per cent dissolves but small quantities of this resin, even when boiled with it. Petroleum-naphtha dissolves it very quickly without the aid of heat, producing a varnish. Spirits of turpentine readily dissolves the melted resin, forming a varnish. Benzole, chloroform, and bisulphide of carbon all dissolve the resin, the solution being aided by warming. Ether and a mixture of ether and alcohol, in equal parts, quite readily dissolve it, but not so readily as pure ether. Linseed oil and olive oil dissolve the melted resin. A solution of the resin in linseed oil and spirits of turpentine forms an "oil varnish." Concentrated sulphuric acid dissolves it completely ; the resin separates again on adding water. Nitric acid attacks it violently and converts it into a brown tarry or gummy substance, having a pleasant, peculiar odour. Hydrochloric acid seems to have little or no action on it.

It is well known that it has been proposed to use sludge oil as a paint oil, but this has not been attended with practical success. We do not wish to be understood, however, as making claim, broadly, to a process for freeing sludge oil from the acid by the use of water and caustic alkalies, or by still further purifying it by subjecting it to distillation, or by blowing steam through it, for the purpose of removing impurities, all of which, it is well known, have been practised since the discovery of the present processes of refining petroleum. Nor do we wish to be understood as laying claim in this application to the resinous substance produced by my process, as that forms the subject-matter of another application by me for letters patent.

NOTE.—If no foreign patent has been obtained, the words n parenthesis may be omitted.

We claim—

1. The process herein described for producing from sludge oil a resinous substance possessing the properties described, which consists in combining the oxygen of the air with the sludge oil with the aid of a moderate degree of heat.

2. The process of producing from sludge oil a substance of a resinous character, which consists in treating the sludge oil while heated to a moderate temperature, with air and with other oxidizing agents, substantially as described.

3. The process of treating sludge oil in order to obtain from it a resinous substance, which consists in purifying such oil, distilling from it the volatile substances present therein, heating the residue to a temperature of from 200° to 300° Fahrenheit, and blowing air into it while it is so heated, substantially as described.

FORM 11.

FOR A COMPOSITION OF MATTERS.

To all whom it may concern :

Be it known that I, Ebenezer Whitney, of the city of Charleston, in the District of Charleston and State of South Carolina, gentleman, am the administrator of the estate of Benjamin Browning, in his lifetime of the said city, gentleman, and that the said Benjamin Browning did invent a certain new and useful Composition of Matter to be Used for the Removal of Hair and Grease from Hides preparatory to tanning, (for which I have obtained a patent in [here name the country], No. , dated , 189)* of which the following is a specification :

The composition of the said Benjamin Browning consists of the following ingredients, combined in the proportions stated, viz. :

Water substantially pure.....................	500 gallons.
Unslaked lime.......	350 pounds.
Soda-ash (sodium carbonate)................	100 pounds.
Saltpeter (nitrate of an alkali metal)....	20 pounds.
Sulphur (preferable flowers of sulphur).	10 pounds.

These ingredients are to be thoroughly mingled by agitation.

In using the above named composition the hides should first be freed from all salt and impurities, by soaking green hides one day and dry hides eight days. The hides so cleaned are then placed in the said solution, and allowed to remain in it forty-eight hours. They should then be removed from the solution and unhaired in the usual way.

By the use of the above composition the hair is speedily and thoroughly loosened, and the hides, while retaining all that portion of the substance which can be converted into leather, are at the same time entirely cleaned from grease and other substances which would prevent them from being tanned quickly.

I am aware that a composition consisting of soda-ash-water, lime, and sulphur has been used for the same purpose, and that a patent therefor was granted to C. D., July 10, 18—, No.———. I am also aware that saltpeter has been used in depilatory processes ; but I am not aware that all of the ingredients of my composition have been used together.

What I claim, and desire to secure by letters patent of the Dominion of Canada, is—

1. The herein-described composition of matter, consisting of water, unslaked lime, soda-ash, saltpeter, and sulphur, substantially as described and for the purpose specified.

2. The herein-described composition of matter for depilating and preparing hides for tanning, consisting of pure water five hundred gallons, unslaked lime three hundred and fifty pounds, soda-ash one hundred pounds, saltpeter twenty pounds, and flowers of sulphur ten pounds, substantially as described.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 1st February, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has made application to be allowed to construct a spur line at a point on their main line of railway near Banff within the Rocky Mountains Park in order to reach their coal mines which are now being operated within the tract of land shewn on the accompanying plan outlined in pink. This spur line is some two miles in length and is particularly described as follows, that is to say :—

Composed of that certain tract or parcel of land situated in the Rocky Mountains Park of Canada, in the Provisional District of Alberta, in the North-west Territories of Canada, which may be more particularly described as lying between two lines parallel with and each said line being forty-nine and one-half feet perpendicularly distant on opposite sides from the centre line of the proposed spur line of The Canadian Pacific Railway as shown upon a plan of location of said spur line of record in the Department of the Interior under number 10,010, a duplicate whereof is on file in the Calgary Land Titles Office under number Ry. 31, which said centre line may be more particularly described as follows :—Beginning at a point on the centre line of the main line of The Canadian Pacific Railway as the same is now constructed through said Rocky Mountains Park of Canada and as shown on a plan of said railway signed by George A. Bayne, Dominion Land Surveyor, on the 14th day of June, A.D. 1894, of record in the Department of the Interior under number 7,480, a duplicate whereof is on file in the Land Titles Office for the South Alberta Land Registration District at Calgary as plan number Ry. 10 under section 134 of The Railway Act, 1888, said point being distant 43,768 feet measured easterly along said centre line from the eastern boundary of Section 26, Township 25, Range 13, west 5th Meridian, thence in a northerly direction following the circumference of a circle a distance of 300 feet the said circle having its centre towards the west and having a radius of 764½ feet and being so drawn that the said centre line of the main line of The Canadian Pacific Railway shall be tangent thereto at the point of commencement ; thence north 12° 45′ east astronomically a distance of 680 feet, thence in a northerly direction following the circumference of a circle a distance of 1,100 feet, the said circle having a radius of 5,730 feet and having its centre towards the east and being so drawn that the preceding course shall be tangent thereto, thence north 23° 45′ east astronomically a distance of 2,640 feet, thence in a northerly direction following the circumference of a circle a distance of 825 feet, said circle having a radius of 1,433 feet and having its centre towards the west and being so drawn that the preceding course shall be tangent thereto, thence north 9° 15′ west astronomically a distance of 230 feet, thence in a northerly direction following the circumference of a circle a distance of 1,583·3 feet said circle having a radius of 2,865 feet and having its centre towards the east and being so drawn that the preceding course shall be tangent thereto, thence north 22° 25′ east astronomically a distance of 1,980·2 feet, thence in a northerly direction following the circumference of a circle a distance of 995·8 feet said circle having a radius of 1,433 feet and having its centre towards the east and being so drawn that the preceding course shall be tangent thereto, thence in a northerly direction following the circumference of a circle a distance of 225·7 feet to a point said circle having a radius of 1,433 feet and having its centre towards the west and being so drawn that it shall have a common tangent with the last described circle. The said tract or parcel of land being bounded towards the north by the radius of the last described circle drawn through the terminal point and being bounded towards the south by the northern limit of the land taken for right of the way of the main line of said railway as above described. The land hereby described containing by admeasurement twenty-three and nine-hundreths (23·09) acres, more or less, and being shown coloured pink on a copy of the plan of said spur line hereto attached.

The Minister recommends that the company be allowed to construct and operate the said spur line upon the understanding that they are to carry on their mining operations within the said tract as outlined in pink and in accordance with the provisions of the license to mine coal within the Rocky Mountains Park of Canada, authorized by Order in Council bearing date the 12th of June, 1902, in so far as these provisions are applicable.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Wednesday, the 27th day of January, 1904.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 23rd January, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that in July, 1903, certain lands situated in Townships 32 and 33, Ranges 7 and 8, west of the Principal Meridian, were withdrawn from Homestead entry in order that Mr. Hugh Sutherland, of Winnipeg, might have an opportunity of prospecting thereon, with the view of determining whether or not these lands, or any of them, contained a sufficient deposit of gypsum to warrant the purchase of an area thereof for that purpose.

The Minister further states that Mr. Sutherland, after carefully prospecting the territory and having a survey thereof made, has now applied for permission to purchase the following Crown Lands :—

The N. E. ¼ of Section 34, Township 32, Range 8
" N. W. ¼ of Section 2, " 33, " 8
" S. E. ¼ of Section 10, " 33, " 8
" N. ½ of Section 14, " 33, " 8
" S. W. ¼ of Section 24, " 33, " 8
" N. E. ¼ of Section 12, " 33, " 8
all west of the Principal Meridian.

The Minister also states that the applicant represents that the plaster which it is the intention to manufacture from the gypsum discovered on the above lands is not produced within the limits of the Province; that the market is supplied by importations made chiefly from the United States; that with a little encouragement there is a fair prospect of establishing in the Province of Manitoba a new and very important industry; that the locality in which the lands are situated is so rough as to be almost inaccessible; that it will be necessary to construct twenty-five miles of a tramway to carry the product to Lake Winnipeg where it can be taken to market by boat; that this will necessitate a large outlay which cannot be undertaken unless a sufficient area of land can be acquired; and that it is safe to assume that these deposits cannot be successfully worked with less than a capital of one half a million dollars.

The Minister recommends, upon Mr. Sutherland's representation that he has acquired the necessary intervening odd-numbered sections, and in view of the importance of the industry which it is proposed to establish, that he, the Minister, be authorized to sell to the applicant the surface and gypsum mining rights of the above land at the rate of $5.00 an acre.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

JOHN J. McGEE,
35-4 Clerk of the Privy Council.

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Saturday, the 30th day of January, 1904.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 14th January, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that his attention has been called to the great scarcity of water in portions of the Yukon Territory, and representations have been made to him that this want of water is the principal factor in retarding the development of the gold bearing gravels of Bonanza and Eldorado Creeks, and in reducing the gold output; that in the springtime, and during the rainy seasons, considerable surplus water is allowed to escape which would be of great value to the miners if it could be impounded and held for periods of scarcity; and that the creation of reservoirs in the creeks and gulches of the Territory, and the storage of water on worthless or worked out ground, would temporarily assist in solving the water question in portions of the Territory.

The Minister further states that to facilitate the carrying out of such a plan it would appear to be necessary to close from placer mining entry under the Regulations the ground upon which it might be decided to create a reservoir for the storage of water, since a scheme which might be of the greatest advantage to the miners of any particular locality might be blocked by any free miner who might, for the purpose of obstruction, stake out under the Regulations a portion of the ground required for the reservoir site.

The Minister therefore recommends that the Commissioner of the Yukon Territory may upon approval by him of an application for permission to impound the surplus waters of any creek or gulch, withdraw from mining entry, under the Regulations in that behalf, any vacant ground required as a reservoir site or for any other purpose in connection with the storage of water, but only such ground as has been thoroughly prospected and has been found to be worthless for placer mining purposes, or ground which has been worked out and abandoned, shall be eligible for withdrawal from entry for the purpose mentioned. The approval by the Commissioner of an application, and the withdrawal by him of the ground from mining entry, to be subjet to cancellation by the Minister of the Interior during a period of ninety days after public notice of such action having been taken has been given by the Commissioner.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

35-4 Clerk of the Privy Council.

Saturday, the 30th day of January, 1904.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 22nd January, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, submitting that by Orders in Council dated the 27th of May and 30th of July, 1903, provision was made that the Honourable Byron Moffat Britton, one of His Majesty's Justices of the High Court of Justice for the Province of Ontario, and Mr. Benjamin Taylor A. Bell of the City of Ottawa, Secretary of the Canadian Mining Institute, be appointed Commissioners to conduct a public enquiry into certain matters in the Yukon Territory, holding the same in the City of Dawson and elsewhere in the said Territory as they might determine.

The Minister recommends as the evidence of certain important witnesses not resident in that Territory could not be obtained during the enquiry held there that the Commissioners appointed under the above authority, or either one of them, be authorized to continue this enquiry at Ottawa, or elsewhere in Canada with all the powers conferred upon them by the Order in Council dated the 27th of May, 1903, above referred to.

PROCLAMATION.

EDOUARD, R. et I.

CONSIDÉRANT que Nous sommes heureusement en paix avec tous les Souverains, Puissances et Etats :

Et considérant qu'il existe malheureusement une guerre entre Sa Majesté l'Empereur de toutes les Russies et Sa Majesté l'Empereur du Japon, et entre leurs divers sujets, citoyens et autres qui habitent leurs pays, territoires ou possessions ;

Et considérant que Nous sommes en termes d'amitié et de rapports amicaux avec chacun de ces Etats, et avec leurs divers sujets et autres habitant leurs pays, territoires ou possessions ;

Et considérant que grand nombre de Nos loyaux sujets sont domiciliés et font le commerce, et possèdent des propriétés et des établissements et jouissent de droits et de privilèges, dans les possessions de chacun des dits Etats, lesquels sont protégés par la foi des traités existant entre nous et chacun des dits Etats ;

“(2.) Tous navires et leurs équipements, et toutes armes et munitions de guerre employées dans cette expédition ou en formant partie, seront confisqués au profit de Sa Majesté.

“Toute personne qui aide, favorise, conseille ou cause l'accomplissement d'une offense, sous le présent acte, sera passible d'être jugée et punie comme auteur du délit.”

Et considérant que par le dit acte il est de plus statué que les navires construits, commissionnés, équipés ou expédiés en contravention au dit acte pourront être condamnés et confisqués par jugement de la Cour d'Amirauté ; et que si le Secrétaire d'Etat ou l'autorité exécutive sont convaincus qu'il y a cause raisonnable et probable de croire qu'un navire, dans les limites de Nos possessions a été construit ou est en voie de construction, commissionné ou équipé en contravention au dit acte, et qu'il doit être conduit en dehors des limites de ces possessions, ou qu'un navire est sur le point d'être expédiés contrairement au dit acte, le dit Secrétaire d'Etat ou l'autorité exécutive auront pouvoir d'émettre un mandat autorisant la saisie et la visite de ce navire et sa détention jusqu'à ce qu'il y ait eu légalement condamnation ou acquittement ; et considérant que certains pouvoirs de saisie et de détention sont conférés par le dit acte à certaines autorités locales :

A ces causes, et afin qu'aucun de Nos sujets ne puisse se rendre passible à la légère des peines imposées par le statut, Nous commandons strictement par les présentes que nulle personne ou personnes quelconques ne commettent aucun acte ou ne fassent quoi que ce soit contrairement aux dispositions du dit statut, sous peine d'encourir les différentes peines imposées par le dit statut, et Notre grand déplaisir.

Et Nous avertissons et enjoignons de plus tous Nos bien-aimés sujets, et toutes les personnes quelconques qui ont droit à Notre protection, d'observer envers chacun des Etats susdits, leurs sujets et territoires, et envers tous les belligérants quelconques avec lesquels Nous sommes en paix, les devoirs de la neutralité, et de respecter, chez tous et chacun d'eux, l'exercice des droits de belligérants.

Et Nous avertissons de plus tous Nos bien-aimés sujets, et toutes les personnes quelconques qui ont droit à Notre protection, que si quelqu'un d'entre eux se permet, au mépris de Notre présente Proclamation Royale, et à Notre grand déplaisir, de commettre quelques actes qui soient une dérogation à leurs devoirs comme sujets d'un souverain neutre dans une guerre entre d'autres Etats, ou une violation ou contravention du droit des gens à cet égard, et plus particulièrement en forçant ou cherchant à forcer un blocus légalement et effectivement établi par ou au nom de l'un ou l'autre des dits Etats, ou en transportant des officiers, soldats, dépêches, armes, munitions de guerre, approvisionnements ou matériaux militaires, ou quelque article ou des articles regardés et réputés comme contrebande de guerre par le droit des gens ou les usages modernes des nations pour l'usage ou le service de l'un ou de l'autre des dits Etats, que toutes les personnes se rendant coupables de pareils actes, ainsi que leurs navires et marchandises, s'exposeront justement à une capture hostile et aux peines prononcées par le droit des gens à cet égard.

Et Nous donnons par le présent avis à tous Nos sujets et aux personnes qui ont droit à Notre protection qui pourront se mal conduire à cet égard, qu'ils le feront à leur péril et se mettront dans leur propre tort ; et qu'ils n'obtiendront aucune protection de Notre part contre une pareille capture ou les peines susdites, mais qu'au contraire ils encourront Notre grand déplaisir par une pareille conduite.

Donné en Notre Cour au château de Buckingham le onzième jour de février de l'année de Notre-Seigneur mil neuf quatre et dans la quatrième année de Notre Règne.

DIEU PROTÈGE LE ROI.

LE Très honorable marquis de Lansdowne aux Lords Commissaires de l'Amirauté :*—

AFFAIRES ETRANGÈRES,
10 février 1904.

MILORDS,

Sa Majesté, étant fermement résolue d'observer les devoirs de la neutralité durant la guerre actuelle entre la Russie et le Japon, et voulant, de plus, empêcher, autant que possible l'usage des havres, ports et côtes de Sa Majesté, et des eaux situées dans la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté, pour aider aux opérations de l'un ou de l'autre des belligérants, m'a chargé de communiquer à Vos Seigneuries, pour vous servir de guide, les règlements qui suivent, lesquels devront être traités et mis à exécution comme étant les ordres et instructions de Sa Majesté :—

1. Tant que durera la guerre actuelle, il est défendu à tous les navires de guerre de l'un ou l'autre des belligérants de se servir d'aucun port ou rade du Royaume-Uni, de l'Ile de Man ou des Iles de la Manche ou d'aucune des colonies ou possessions ou dépendances étrangères de Sa Majesté, ni d'aucune des eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de la Couronne britannique, comme station ou lieu de rendez-vous, pour aucune fin guerrière, ou dans le but de se procurer des moyens ou des équipements de guerre ; et aucun navire de guerre de l'un ou l'autre des belligérants n'aura à l'avenir la permission de faire voile ou de partir d'un port, d'une rade, ou des eaux soumises à la juridiction britannique, d'où quelque navire de l'autre belligérant (que ce soit un navire de guerre ou un navire marchand) sera préalablement parti, avant qu'il ne se soit écoulé au moins vingt-quatre heures depuis le départ du navire en dernier lieu mentionné, hors de la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté.

Règle 2. Si quelque navire de guerre de l'un ou l'autre belligérant se trouve actuellement dans tout tel port, rade ou eaux soumis à la juridiction territoriale de la Couronne britannique, ce navire quittera ce port, rade ou eaux, dans un delai de pas moins de vingt-quatre heures qui sera raisonnable, eu égard à toutes les circonstances et la condition de ce navire quant aux réparations, provisions ou choses nécessaires à la subsistance de son équipage ; et si après la date de la présente quelque navire de guerre de l'un ou l'autre belligérant entre dans tout tel port, rade, ou eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de la Couronne britannique, ce navire sera invité à en partir et à reprendre la mer dans les vingt-quatre heures de son entrée dans tel port, rade, ou eaux, sauf dans le cas de mauvais temps, ou s'il a besoin de se procurer des provisions ou autres choses nécessaires pour la subsistance de son équipage, ou de subir des réparations, et dans ces cas les autorités du port, ou du port le plus rapproché, selon le cas, exigeront qu'il reprenne la mer le plus tôt possible après l'expiration de cette période de vingt-quatre heures, sans lui permettre de se ravitailler au delà de ce qui pourra être nécessaire pour ses besoins immédiats ; et nul tel vaisseau auquel il aura été permis de rester dans les eaux britanniques pour y subir des réparations ne restera dans ce port, cette rade, ou ces eaux pendant plus de vingt-quatre heures après que les réparations nécessaires auront été terminées. Pourvu, néanmoins, que dans tous les cas où il se trouverait quelque vaisseau (que ce soit un navire de guerre ou un navire marchand) des dites parties belligérantes dans le même port, rade, ou eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté, il ne s'écoulera pas un intervalle de moins de vingt-quatre heures entre le départ d'aucun tel vaisseau (que ce soit un navire de guerre ou un navire marchand) de l'un des belligérants, et le départ subséquent d'un navire de guerre de l'autre belligérant ; et le temps par le présent limité pour le départ de ces navires de guerre, respectivement, sera toujours, en cas de nécessité, prolongé autant qu'il sera nécessaire pour donner effet au présent proviso, mais pas plus ni autrement.

Règle 3. Il ne sera permis à l'avenir à aucun navire de guerre de l'un ou l'autre des belligérants, tant qu'il sera dans un port, une rade, ou des eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté, de se ravitailler, sauf de provisions et autres choses nécessaires à la subsistance de son équipage, et sauf de la quantité de charbon qui sera seulement nécessaire pour le conduire au port le plus rapproché de son propre pays ou à quelque autre destination neutre plus rapprochée ; et il ne sera non plus fourni de charbon à aucun tel navire de guerre dans le même ou quelque autre port, rade, ou eaux soumises à la juridiction territoriale de Sa Majesté, sans une permission spéciale, jusqu'après l'expiration de trois mois de la date à laquelle ce charbon lui aura été en dernier lieu fourni dans les eaux britanniques comme susdit.

Règle 4. Il est interdit aux navires armés de l'une ou l'autre partie d'amener les prises faites par eux dans les ports, havres, rades, ou eaux du Royaume-Uni, de l'Ile de Man, des Iles de la Manche, ou d'aucun des colonies ou possessions étrangères de Sa Majesté.

Le Gouverneur ou autre autorité exécutive de chacun des territoires ou possessions de Sa Majesté au delà des mers, publieront sans délai les règles ci-dessus.

J'ai, etc.,

BREVETS D'INVENTION.

RÈGLES et formules du Bureau canadien des brevets. Par arrêté en conseil daté le 23 de février 1904.

1. Il n'est pas nécessaire que celui qui demande un brevet d'invention, ou son représentant, se présente personnellement au bureau des brevets, à moins qu'il n'y soit spécialement invité par le commissaire.

2. Le requérant ou celui qui dépose quelque document relatif à une demande de brevet, est dans tous les cas responsable du mérite de ces allégations et de la validité des documents soumis par lui ou par son agent.

3. La correspondance peut se faire soit avec le pétitionnaire, soit avec son agent, mais avec une seule personne, et elle sera transmise franco par les malles canadiennes.

4. Tous les documents doivent être lisiblement et proprement écrits ou imprimés sur papier tellière (foolscap), de 13 pouces de longueur par 8 de largeur, en conservant une marge intérieure d'un pouce et demi.

5. Toutes communications doivent être adressées : —Au Commissaires des Brevets, Ottawa, Canada. Les documents envoyés au bureau doivent être accompagnés d'une lettre, et une lettre distincte doit être écrite sur chaque sujet.

6. Au sujet des manières de procéder auxquelles il n'est pas spécialement pourvu par les formules ci-jointes, toute formule conforme à la lettre et à l'esprit de la loi sera acceptée, et dans le cas contraire, elle sera renvoyée pour être corrigée.

7. Il suffit de fournir des modèles que si le commissaire l'exige, et ils doivent être bien faits et pouvoir fonctionner ; ils ne doivent pas avoir plus de douze pouces dans leur plus grande longueur, à moins d'une permission spéciale ; et ils doivent être construits de manière à faire voir exactement chaque partie de l'invention et son fonctionnement. Lorsque la loi exige des échantillons d'ingrédients, ils doivent être contenus dans des fioles convenablement arrangées ; mais les substances dangereuses ou explosives ne doivent pas être transmises. Les modèles et les fioles devront porter le nom de l'inventeur, celui de l'invention et la date de la requête, et devront être envoyés au bureau des brevets en bon état, aux frais du pétitionnaire.

9. Le requérant pour un brevet original, ou pour redélivrance d'un brevet, doit poursuivre sa demande avec célérité ; et s'il manque de la poursuivre dans un an après la date de l'accusé de réception de sa demande, ou autre action officielle dont avis a été dûment donné, la demande sera regardée comme abandonnée, et tous les droits payés seront confisqués, à moins que le commissaire ne soit convaincu que le délai n'était pas dû à la négligence du requérant.

Toutefois s'il est établi à la satisfaction du commissaire qu'il y a eu un délai inutile de la part du requérant dans la poursuite de sa demande, et que ce délai peut léser les droits d'autres personnes, le commissaire pourra exiger que le requérant poursuive sa demande sous tel délai moins d'un an que le commissaire jugera convenable, et si le requérant manque de le faire sa demande sera censée être abandonnée, avec confiscation des droits comme susdit.

Pour que la poursuite d'une demande soit considérée active il faut que toutes les démarches voulues dans l'affaire soient parfaites.

10. Deux ou plusieurs inventions distinctes ne peuvent faire la matière d'une seule demande, ni être comprises dans un même brevet. Mais s'il est allégué que les différentes matières sont si étroitement liées entre elles qu'il devient nécessaire de les rattacher ensemble pour obtenir le but que se propose l'inventeur, le commissaire des brevets décidera si les prétentions du requérant à cet égard peuvent être maintenues.

11. Le dépôt d'un protêt contre la concession d'un brevet ne sera pas regardé comme étant une raison suffisante pour empêcher cette concession au pétitionnaire.

12. Un caveat ne peut être déposé que par un inventeur, et se composera d'une spécification (et de dessins) certifiée sous serment [formule n° 17], et celui qui l'aura déposé pourra, pendant sa durée, y joindre des documents supplémentaires, pourvu qu'ils se rattachent exclusivement à la même invention. La personne qui aura déposé un caveat n'aura pas le droit d'être notifiée des demandes pendantes lors du dépôt de son caveat. Un caveat ne doit s'appliquer qu'à une seule invention.

La spécification d'un caveat doit être suffisamment précise pour permettre au bureau de juger s'il y a conflit probable lors d'une demande subséquente.

13. Les dessins en double qui sont attachés au double de la spécification, doivent être faits en encre de Chine sur des feuilles de toile à calquer autre que la linora ou tissu semblable, de huit sur treize pouces, proprement exécutés et non colorés.

Chaque feuille sur la toile à calquer contiendra le certificat suivant au pied : "Certifiés être les dessins mentionnés dans la spécification ci-annexée," et signée par l'inventeur ou son fondé de pouvoirs ; le lieu, la date, et la signature de deux témoins.

Toutes les lignes doivent être claires, nettes, bien accentuées, pas trop fines, et parfaitement noires.

Les lignes pâles, grises, très fines, imparfaites ou embrouillées, donnent de mauvais résultats à la photolithographie.

Les ombres au pinceau, les hachures et les imitations du bois doivent être évitées ; et les ombres fines au trait doivent être faites avec le moins de lignes possible.

L'on peut parfois employer les lignes ombrées avec avantage, mais les fortes ombres, qui auraient l'effet d'obscurcir les traits ou les lettres de renvoi, doivent être évitées.

Avec chaque demande de brevet, il faut envoyer une série de dessins à part sur du fort carton de Bristol, de 8 x 13 pouces, sans aucune écriture sur sa face, sauf les lettres de renvoi. Il ne sera pas nécessaire d'y mettre ni titre, ni certificat, ni signatures, etc. ; le nom de l'inventeur et celui de l'invention devront être inscrits au crayon sur le revers.

14. A l'égard de la redélivrance d'un brevet, en vertu de l'article 23 de l'acte, tout ce qui est réellement compris dans la requête primitive et décrit ou indiqué dans la spécification de manière à pouvoir être compris dans le premier brevet, pourra faire le sujet d'un nouveau brevet. Aucune nouvelle matière ne sera introduite dans la spécification, et les modèles et dessins ne pourront être amendés que les uns par les autres. En l'absence de modèles ou de dessins, la nouvelle spécification pourra être amen-

dée sur preuve donnée à la satisfaction du commissaire que les amendements faisaient partie de l'invention, bien qu'ils aient été omis dans la première description. Des brevets distincts pourront être émis pour chaque partie séparée et distincte de l'invention, comprise dans le brevet primitif.

15. Les renseignements relatifs aux demandes pendantes ne seront fournis qu'aux requérants, ou aux personnes qu'ils auront autorisées par écrit à les obtenir.

16. Le bureau ne peut répondre aux questions relatives à la probabilité de la concession d'un brevet pour une prétendue invention, avant que la demande de brevet ne soit régulièrement faite, non plus qu'aux questions basées sur des descriptions abrégées ou imparfaites, posées dans le but de constater si quelque prétendu perfectionnement a été breveté, ni à moins que le nom du breveté, et la date du brevet, aussi exactement que possible, ne soient donnés. Le bureau ne peut, non plus, agir comme interprète de la loi des brevets, ni comme conseiller des particuliers, excepté pour les questions surgissant dans le bureau.

On recommande particulièrement d'examiner la loi avant d'écrire au département sur un sujet quelconque, afin d'éviter des explications et un travail inutiles.

Un exemplaire des règlements, avec indication particulière d'un article quelconque, expédié à une personne demandant quelque renseignement, servira de réponse par le bureau.

17. Il est de l'intérêt, tant du pétitionnaire que du service public, que les documents et dessins soient préparés par des personnes entendues, ce qui facilitera l'expédition et la régularité des procédés. On conseille donc au requérant, à moins qu'il ne soit lui-même capable de dresser les papiers relatifs à sa demande, d'employer un procureur capable, vu que la valeur des brevets dépend beaucoup de l'habileté avec laquelle la spécification et les réclamations ont été préparés. Le bureau refusera toujours de suggérer le choix d'un procureur.

18. Toute affaire avec le bureau doit être exécutée par écrit. Les décisions du bureau ne seront basées que sur les documents écrits. Il ne sera fait aucune attention aux prétendues promesses verbales ou ententes au sujet desquelles il y aura désaccord ou doute.

19. Une cession devra être accompagnée d'une copie de la cession ; l'original sera gardé au bureau des brevets, et la copie sera renvoyée à la personne qui l'aura transmise, avec le certificat d'enregistrement y inscrit.

20. Tous les cas difficiles pouvant naître de l'application de la loi des brevets d'invention, auxquels il n'est pas spécialement pourvu dans ces règlements, seront décidés, suivant leur mérite, par autorité du commissaire ; et cette décision sera communiquée par écrit aux intéressés.

21. Les demandes de brevets envoyées à ce bureau, non accompagnées des droits exigés par la loi ne seront pas reconnues officiellement, ni notées ni numérotées ; elles seront simplement mises dans les casiers, et ne seront reçues comme déposées que le jour où les droits auront été reçus.

24. Les modifications ne doivent pas être faites au moyen de ratures ou d'intercalations dans les papiers originaux, mais doivent être faites sur des feuilles de papier distinctes, de façon que les feuilles contenant la matière à modifier puissent être enlevées de la demande et remplacées par les feuilles contenant les modifications.

Les modifications aux spécifications doivent être faites en double, et celles aux réclamations en triple expédition.

PERMIS COMPULSOIRES.

26. La pétition et une copie vérifiée d'icelle seront laissées au bureau des brevets, accompagnées d'affidavits ou déclarations statutaires à l'appui des énoncés contenus dans la pétition, ainsi que toute autre preuve documentaire à l'appui ; et sous dix jours après le dépôt de cette pétition, le pétitionnaire délivrera au breveté et toute autre personne que la pétition accuse d'avoir fait défaut, des copies de la pétition et des affidavits ou déclarations statutaires et autre preuve documentaire à l'appui.

29. Le commissaire pourra à toute phase des procédures avant d'accorder son ordre, donner avis des procédures, et en fournir des copies à toute personne qui pourrait être intéressée dans le brevet, et dont les droits pourraient être lésés par son ordre, et pourra permettre à cette personne d'intervenir dans les procédures. Après que cette personne aura eu la permission d'intervenir elle sera régie par les présentes règles au même degré que si le pétitionnaire avait déclaré dans sa pétition que cette personne était en défaut.

31. Toutes les pétitions et autres documents déposés au bureau des brevets seront (à moins que le commissaire n'en ordonne autrement), clavigraphiées ou imprimées, et les parties fourniront autant de copies des documents déposés par eux que le commissaire exigera.

32. Les parties auront droit d'avoir des copies de tous papiers déposés au sujet de la pétition à leurs propres frais. Le pétitionnaire et chacune des autres parties donneront une adresse pour signification en Canada, et pourront être entendues en personne ou par un avocat ou par un agent dûment autorisé.

FORMULE 9.

POUR UNE MACHINE.

A tous les intéressés :

Sachez que moi, William Woodworth, de la ville de Poughkeepsie, dans le comté de Duchess, dans l'Etat de New-York, bourgeois, ayant inventé certains perfectionnements nouveaux et utiles dans les appareils à hacher la viande (pour lesquels j'ai obtenu un brevet en (ici nommez le pays) No. , daté le 189); * je déclare par les présentes que ce qui suit en est une description claire, entière et exacte.

Mon invention se rapporte à des perfectionnements aux machines à hacher la viande, dans lesquelles des couperets verticaux opèrent alternativement avec un billot rotatoire ; et le but de mon perfectionnement est premièrement de fournir un coussinet toujours graissé pour le billot ; secondement, donner des facilités pour l'ajustement convenable des couperets indépendamment l'un de l'autre à l'égard de la face du billot ; et troisièmement, réduire la friction de la tige alternative qui porte les couperets.

Attestés être les dessins mentionnés dans la spécification ci-jointe.

Au-dessous d'un billot de bois J est attaché un tirant annulaire h adapté à et portant sur une rainure i dans la table A. (Voir figures 1 et 2.) Cette rainure annulaire n'est pas partout de la même profondeur mais communique à un ou plusieurs points (deux dans le cas-ci) avec des poches ou réceptacles j j, plus profonds que la rainure et contenant de l'huile dans laquelle tourne le tirant h, de façon qu'il s'opère un graissage continu de la rainure et du tirant. La tige H passe à travers d'un, et est guidé par, un support central K, assujéti à la table A, et projetant par une ouverture centrale dans le billot sans y toucher, la partie supérieure du dit support étant contenue dans un couvercle k, qui est assujéti au billot, et empêche les parcelles de viande de s'échapper par l'ouverture centrale.

*Note.—S'il n'a pas obtenu de brevet étranger, les mots entre parenthèses doivent être omis.

La traverse I, déjà mentionnée, et indiquée en perspective dans la fig. 4, est ajustable verticalement sur la tige H, et peut être retenue après ajustage par une vis à demeure x, la tête de la tige étant filetée pour recevoir un écrou qui résiste aux chocs causés à la traverse lorsque les couperets viennent en contact violent avec la viande sur le billot.

1. La combinaison, dans une machine à hacher la viande, d'un billot rotatoire ayant un tirant annulaire avec une table ayant une cavité annulaire et une poche communiquant avec la dite cavité, le tout tel que décrit en substance.

2. Dans une machine à hacher la viande, la combinaison d'un billot rotatoire avec une traverse alternative portant des couperets, dont chacun est verticalement ajustable sur la dite traverse indépendamment de l'autre, tel que décrit en substance.

3. Le couperet d, ayant deux tiges à vis m m, attachées à son dos, tel que décrit en substance, pour la fin spécifiée.

FORMULE 10.

POUR UN ART OU PROCÉDÉ.

A tous les intéressés :

Sachez que nous, Marion Ellsworth, de Chicago, comté de Cooke et Etat de l'Illinois, bourgeois, et Joseph Richard Shaw, d'Indianapolis, comté de Marion, Etat d'Indiana, bourgeois, avons conjointement inventé un procédé nouveau et utile pour traiter l'huile de résidu, afin d'en obtenir une substance résineuse pour lequel nous avons obtenu un brevet dans (ici nommez le pays), No. , date 189 , * dont suit une spécification :—

Dans la purification des huiles hydrocarboniques produites par la distillation du pétrole cru, d'asphaltes ou de bitume, ou par la distilation destructive de la houille, des résines, ou des schistes bitumineux, les huiles sont agitées avec 2 pour 100 ou plus d'acide sulfurique concentré (60° Baumé, 1.86 poids spécifique) afin d'enlever certaines huiles contenues dans la distillation qui, dans le cours du temps, absorberaient de l'oxygène de l'air, et rendraient l'huile brune et gommeuse, et aussi enlever les substances goudronneuses et l'odeur désagréable. L'acide sulfurique se combine chimiquement avec ces corps et les dissout, formant un liquide rouge foncé et lourd, qui se dépose au fond de l'agitateur et peut être alors aisément retiré de l'huile purifiée. Ce composé particulier d'acide sulfurique et d'huiles hydrocarboniques, dissous dans l'excédent d'acide, est appelé "résidu." Actuellement, il est acheté par les fabricants de superphosphates, qui le mélangent avec un peu d'eau qui décompose le composé d'acide et d'huile, produisant un acide plus faible (environ 50° Baumé) utilisé dans la manufacture du superphosphate de chaux, et une huile désagréable de couleur foncée, qui s'élève à la surface de l'acide et est généralement jetée de côté n'ayant aucune valeur commerciale, ce rebut est appelé "huile de résidu."

Le mode de pratiquer notre invention est comme suit : Dans mon procédé, lorsque le résidu a été décomposé par addition de l'eau, l'huile de résidu est retirée et est ensuite purifiée en la lavant fréquemment avec de l'eau, jusqu'à ce que l'acide qui y reste soit enlevé. Dans ce but, des volumes égaux d'eau et d'huile de résidu peuvent être employés, mais le lavage peut se faire avec une moindre quantité d'eau. L'acide qui reste dans l'huile, s'il s'en trouve, est alors neutralisé au moyen de chaux vive ou de soude caustique. L'huile purifiée a une odeur forte et quelque peu désagréable et contient environ 10 par 100 d'huiles volatiles, qui sont difficilement converties en une résine dure. Pour enlever ces substances volatiles, l'huile de résidu ainsi purifiée est introduite dans un alambic avec addition de 2 à 4 par 100 de soude caustique et d'environ 2 par 100 des oxydes de plomb ou de manganèse, afin d'oxyder tout corps sulfureux qui pourrait se trouver dans l'huile et se combiner avec elle, et la vapeur est alors forcée dans l'huile, l'huile étant tenue chaude au moyen d'un feu sous l'alambic, ou au moyen de la vapeur chauffée à la température voulue (entre 212° et 240° Fahrenheit). L'action de la vapeur est continuée jusqu'à ce qu'il ne reste plus d'huiles volatiles à retirer,—de cinq à dix heures généralement). La vapeur est alors fermée, on laisse reposer le contenu de l'alambic, et il en résulte un dépôt d'impuretés goudronneuses et de soude, duquel l'huile pure peut être retirée. L'huile est alors introduite dans un alambic ou réservoir, et oxydée en y soufflant des courants d'air, l'huile étant tenue à une température modérée (de 200° à 300° Fahrenheit), soit par un feu lent sous l'alambic, soit par un serpentin à vapeur au fond du réservoir ou en chauffant l'air par un fourneau à eau chaude à la température voulue avant de la souffler dans l'huile, et l'action de l'air est continuée jusqu'à complète oxydation, et un échantillon se solidifie en refroidissant en résine plus ou moins dure.

Le temps requis pour effectuer l'oxydation varie avec la température effective et avec l'étendue de la surface d'huile mise en contact avec l'air. Disons quatre et douze jours. L'action de l'air sur l'huile est arrêtée du moment que des échantillons, pris du contenu de l'alambic, atteignent en refroidissant le degré voulu de dureté et de raideur pour les fins auxquelles le produit est destiné, et après avoir laissé reposer le contenu de l'alambic, la résine chaude est retirée du sédiment de soude et d'impuretés.

L'action de l'air peut être accélérée en ajoutant à l'huile d'autres agents oxydants, par exemple, environ

NOTE.—S'il n'a pas été obtenu de brevet étranger, les mots entre parenthèses doivent être omis.

Une qualité inférieure de résine peut être produite en traitant l'huile de résidu lavée dans un alambic avec de la soude caustique et de la litharge (5 par 100 de soude à 1 ou 2 par 100 de litharge) et en y soufflant un courant d'air à une température d'environ 350° Fahrenheit, qui oxyde en même temps l'huile, et enlève les parties les plus volatiles, qui sont distillées jusqu'à ce qu'elle soit convertie en une résine qui devient dure et cassante en refroidissant. Ce dernier procédé exige de deux à six jours, mais la résine produite est plus foncée que celle obtenue en la traitant d'abord avec la vapeur et ensuite avec l'air à une température plus basse, vu que la matière colorante n'est pas affectée par la vapeur à 400°, tandis que l'air, à cette température, la rend rapidement plus foncée par l'oxydation. La lumière du soleil blanchit la couleur de l'huile de résidu, et, en même temps, accélère grandement l'absorption de l'oxygène de l'air. Pour produire les résines plus claires l'huile de résidu est traitée à la vapeur avec 5 pour 100 d'une solution de soude 20° Baumé, à une basse température (environ 200° à 250° Fahrenheit pendant dix heures,) pour enlever les parties plus volatiles, et ensuite oxydée et blanchie en exposant l'huile dans des bassins plats couverts de verre, à l'action de la lumière du soleil, l'huile étant tenue chaude et fluide au moyen d'un serpentin à vapeur au fond du bassin, et des courants d'air soufflés à travers pour produire l'oxydation.

L'alcool à 95 par 100 ne dissout que de petites quantités de cette résine, même lorsqu'elles sont bouillies ensemble. Le pétrole-naphte la dissout rapidement sans l'aide de la chaleur, produisant un vernis. L'esprit de térébenthine dissout facilement la résine fondue, formant un vernis. La benzole, le chloroforme et le bisulfite de carbone dissolvent la résine, la solution étant aidée par la chaleur. L'éther et un mélange d'éther et d'alcool, en parties égales, la dissolvent facilement, mais pas aussi rapidement que l'éther pur. L'huile de lin et l'huile d'olive dissolvent la résine fondue. Une solution de la résine dans de l'huile de lin et de l'esprit de térébenthine forme un "vernis à l'huile". L'acide sulfurique concentré les dissout complètement; la résine se sépare de nouveau en ajoutant de l'eau. L'acide nitrique l'attaque violemment et la convertit en une substance brune goudronneuse ou gommeuse ayant une odeur agréable et particulière. L'acide hydrochlorique ne semble presque pas l'affecter.

Il est bien connu qu'il a été proposé d'employer l'huile de résidu comme huile à peinture, mais ce projet n'a pas réussi. Nous ne voulons pas que l'on croie toutefois, que nous réclamons un procédé pour débarrasser l'huile de résidu de l'acide au moyen de l'eau et de soude caustique, ou de la purifier encore plus en la soumettant à la distillation ou en y passant de la vapeur afin d'en enlever les impuretés, toutes choses qui ont été pratiquées depuis la découverte du procédé actuel de raffiner le pétrole. Nous ne voulons pas non plus réclamer dans la présente demande la substance résineuse produite par notre procédé, vu que cela forme le sujet d'une autre demande de lettres patentes par nous.

2. Le procédé de produire de l'huile de résidu une substance d'une nature résineuse, qui consiste à traiter l'huile de résidu chauffée à une température modérée avec de l'air et autres agents oxydants, tel que décrit en substance.

FORMULE 11.

POUR UNE COMPOSITION DE MATIÈRES.

A tous les intéressés:

Sachez que je, Ebenezer Whitney, de la cité de Charleston, dans le district de Charleston, et l'Etat de la Caroline du Sud, bourgeois, suis l'administrateur de la succession de Benjamin Browning, en son vivant de la dite cité, bourgeois, et que le dit Benjamin Browning a inventé une certaine nouvelle et utile composition de matières qui doit servir pour enlever le poil et la graisse des peaux avant le tannage (pour laquelle j'ai obtenu un brevet dans [donnez ici le nom du pays] N° daté , 189) * dont ce qui suit est une spécification:

La composition du dit Benjamin Browning consiste des ingrédients suivants, combinés dans les proportions indiquées, savoir:

Eau, substantiellement pure..........	500 gallons.
Chaux vive..................................	350 livres.
Carbonate de soude......................	100 livres.
Salpêtre (nitrate de métaux alcalins).	20 livres.
Soufre (fleurs de soufre préférable).	10 livres.

Ces ingrédients doivent être parfaitement mélangés en les agitant.

En se servant de la composition susdite les peaux doivent d'abord être débarrassées de tous sels et impuretés en faisant tremper les peaux vertes un jour et les peaux sèches huit jours. Les peaux ainsi nettoyées, sont alors placées dans la dite solution et y sont laissées pendant quarante-huit heures. Elles doivent alors être sorties de la solution, et le poil enlevé de la manière ordinaire.

Je sais qu'une composition consistant en carbonate de soude, d'eau, de chaux et de soufre a été employée pour le même objet, et qu'un brevet pour icelle a été accordé à C. D., 10 juillet, 18 , N° . Je sais aussi que le salpêtre a été employé dans des procédés dépilatoires; mais je ne sache pas que tous les ingrédients de ma composition aient été employés ensemble.

*NOTE.—S'il n'a pas obtenu de brevet étranger, les mots entre parenthèses doivent être omis.

2° La composition ici décrite de matière pour dépiler et préparer les peaux pour le tannage, consistant d'eau pure, cinq cents gallons ; de chaux vive, trois cent cinquante livres ; de carbonate de soude, cent livres ; de salpêtre, vingt livres, et de fleurs de soufre, dix livres, tel que décrit.

PRÉSENT :

SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL EN CONSEIL.

Vu un memorandum daté le 20 de février 1904, du ministre de la Marine et des Pêcheries, recommandant que dans le but de faire face aux exigences toujours croissantes du service relatif à la construction et entretien des phares et signaux de brume, etc., par tout le Canada, et en vertu des dispositions du chapitre 70 des Statuts Revisés du Canada, tel que modifié par 51-58 Victoria, chapitre 41, une Commission désignée "Commission des phares du Canada", soit nommée pour s'enquérir et lui faire rapport de temps à autre, de toutes questions concernant le choix des emplacements de phares, la construction et l'entretien des phares, des signaux de brume et de toutes autres matières attribuées au ministre de la Marine et des Pêcheries par l'article 2 du chapitre 70 des Statuts Révisés du Canada.

Le lieutenant-colonel F. Gourdeau, sous-ministre de la Marine et des Pêcheries, surintendant.

Le lieutenant-colonel W. P. Anderson, ingénieur en chef du ministère de la Marine et des Pêcheries.

Le commandant O. G. V. Spain, commandant du service maritime canadien.

M. J. F. Fraser, commissaire des phares, et M. Hugh A. Allan, de Montréal, comme représentant les intérêts maritimes généralement.

Le Ministre recommande aussi que chaque fois qu'une question touchant les aides à la navigation dans les circonscriptions de pilotage de Québec ou Montréal viendra devant la Commission pour être étudiée, le président alors en exercice de la corporation des pilotes pour les circonscriptions respectives soit ex-officio membre de la Commission des phares, lorsqu'il est assigné par le président pour assister à ces assemblées.

Le Ministre recommande de plus que les membres de la Commission, autres que les officiers du ministère de la Marine et des Pêcheries—pour les frais de voyage lesquels il est déjà pourvu,—aient droit à leurs frais de voyage lorsqu'ils assisteront aux assemblées de la Commission ; et qu'en outre de cela, ces membres reçoivent un honoraire de $5 par jour tant qu'ils assisteront aux assemblées, le jour de départ de leurs domiciles et le jour de départ de l'endroit où la Commission tiendra son assemblée étant comptés comme jours de présence pour le paiement de cet honoraire.

Le Ministre recommande que M. W. C. Gordon, un commis dans le Ministère de la Marine et des Pêcheries, soit nommé pour agir en qualité de secrétaire de la dite Commission.

Le comité soumet ce qui précède à l'approbation.

HOTEL DU GOUVERNEMENT À OTTAWA.

Mercredi, le 27e jour de janvier 1904.

PRÉSENT :

SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL EN CONSEIL.

SUR un rapport daté le 23e jour de janvier 1904, du ministre de l'Intérieur, disant qu'en juillet 1903, certaines terres situées dans les townships 32 et 33, rangs 7 et 8, ouest du principal méridien, ont été retirées des inscriptions de homesteads afin de donner à Mr. Hugh Sutherland, de Winnipeg, l'occasion d'y prospecter afin de constater si ces terres contenaient ou non un dépôt suffisant de gypse pour justifier l'achat d'une certaine étendue d'icelles pour cette fin.

Le Ministre dit de plus que Mr. Sutherland, après avoir soigneusement prospecté le territoire, et l'avoir fait arpenter, demande aujourd'hui la permission d'acheter les terres fédérales suivantes :—

Le ¼ N. E. de la section 34, township 32, rang 8
" ¼ N.-O. " 10, " 33, " 8
" ¼ S.-O. " 10, " 33, " 8
" ½ N. " 14, " 33, " 8
" ¼ S.-O. " 24, " 33, " 8
" ¼ N.-E. " 12, " 33, " 8
Le tout à l'ouest du principal méridien.

Le Ministre dit aussi que le requérant représente que le plâtre qu'on a l'intention de manufacturer du gypse découvert sur les susdites terres n'est pas produit dans les limites de la province ; que le marché est approvisionné principalement des importations des Etats-Unis ; qu'avec un peu d'encouragement tout promet d'établir dans la province du Manitoba une nouvelle industrie importante ; que la localité où les terres sont situées est si inégale qu'elle est presque inaccessible ; qu'il sera nécessaire de construire vingt-cinq milles d'un tramway pour transporter le produit au lac Winnipeg d'où il sera porté au marché par bateaux, que cela nécessitera de forts déboursés qu'on ne peut encourir à moins d'acquérir une large étendue de terrain ; et qu'on peut calculer en toute sûreté que ces dépôts ne peuvent être avantageusement exploités qu'avec un capital d'au moins un demi-million de piastres.

Le Ministre recommande, sur la représentation de Mr. Sutherland qu'il a acquis les sections impaires nécessaires, et que vu l'importance de l'industrie qu'il propose d'établir le Ministre soit autorisé à vendre au requérant les droits miniers de surface et de gypse des terres susdites au taux de $5 l'acre.

Le comité soumet ce qui précède à l'approbation.

JOHN J. McGEE,
Greffier du Conseil privé.

Dans les provinces de Québec et de Manitoba, les insertions seront faites dans un journal anglais et un journal français, s'il en existe des deux langues dans le district : autrement, elles se feront en anglais et en français au même journal.

Il doit être signifié, à la diligence de l'époux pétitionnaire, un mois au moins avant la présentation de la pétition, une copie de cet avis à l'autre époux en personne, si cela est possible.

Aucune pétition en divorce n'est reçue après l'expiration des trente premiers jours de la session.

Elle énoncera sommairement le fait du mariage, le lieu et l'époque de sa célébration, les noms du célébrant, les griefs qui donnent lieu à la demande de redressement et la nature du redressement demandé, et en outre contiendra assurance qu'il n'y a pas eu réconciliation, collusion ni connivence. Les allégations de la pétition seront appuyées de la déclaration du pétitionnaire faite en vertu de "l'Acte de la preuve en Canada, 1893."

Huit jours avant l'ouverture du Parlement, le pétitionnaire déposera au bureau du greffier du Sénat, une copie en langue anglaise ou française du bill de divorce qui doit être présenté, et en même temps une somme suffisante pour payer la traduction et l'impression et tirage à 600 exemplaires anglais et 200 exemplaires français de ce bill.

La pétition en obtention d'un bill de divorce n'est présentée que lorsque le pétitionnaire a versé au bureau du greffier du Sénat une somme de $200.

La pétition, au moment de sa présentation, doit être accompagnée de la preuve de la publication d'avis, d'une déclaration qu'il a été signifié une copie de l'avis, et d'une copie du bill qui doit être présenté.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Memorandum dated 8th March, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that a free grant for church purposes was made under clause 31 of The Dominion Lands Act to the Trustees of the German Baptist Congregation of Josephburg of legal subdivision 13 of Section 2, Township 10, Range 3, west of the 4th Meridian; and that the church authorities have now made application for permission to sell this legal subdivision, as it is not suitable for the erection of a church.

The Minister further states that he is of the opinion that the trustees of the said church should be empowered to dispose of the legal subdivision in question.

The Minister therefore recommends that a quit-claim deed be issued of the said legal subdivision 13 of Section 2, Township 10, Range 3, West of the 4th Meridian, to the trustees of the said German Baptist Congregation of Josephburg, in order that they may be in a position to sell the land.

Thursday, the 10th day of March, 1904.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 5th February, 1904, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that Mr. Hewitt Bostock of Monte Creek in British Columbia has requested to be allowed to purchase the following lands in the "Forty Mile Railway Belt" in the said Province, the lands being of inferior quality and only fit for grazing purposes he has offered $2.00 per acre for them. The Homestead Inspector has examined and reported upon these lands and states that they can be considered of very little value except for grazing purposes, and as such grazing lands they cannot be considered valuable at present owing to the fact that the natural grasses have all been killed and are not in his opinion worth more per acre than offered by Mr. Bostock. The lands are as follows :—

E. ½ of Section	28	320	acres.
S. W. ¼ "	28	160	"
W. ½ "	27	320	"
W. ½ of S. E. ¼	27	80	"

in Township 19, in Range 14, west of the 6th Meridian, British Columbia.

The Minister further states that it is provided in section 10 of "Regulations for the survey, administration, disposal and management of Dominion Lands within the 'Forty Mile Railway Belt'," in the said Province, that no person shall be allowed to purchase a greater area of such lands than 640 acres, except by the authority of the Governor in Council.

The Minister recommends, as Mr. Bostock has already purchased this area, that he be authorized to sell M. Bostock the lands in Township 19, before mentioned, and at the rate per acre before stated.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

39-4 Clerk of the Privy Council.

JOHN J. McGEE,
Clerk of the Privy Council.

PATENTS OF INVENTION.

RULES and Forms of the Canadian Patent Office by Order in Council, dated 23rd February, 1904.

1. A personal appearance of the applicant, or his representative, at the Patent Office is not required, unless specially called for by the Commissioner.

2. In all cases the applicant or depositor of any paper is responsible for the merits of his allegations, and the validity of the instruments furnished by him or his agent.

3. Correspondence may be carried on either with the applicant, or his agent, but only with one person, and will be conveyed through the Canadian mails free of charge.

4. All documents must be legibly and neatly written or printed on foolscap paper, 13 inches long and 8 wide, with an inner margin of one inch and a half wide.

5. All communications are to be addressed—"The Commissioner of Patents, Ottawa, Canada." Papers forwarded to the Office should be accompanied by a letter, and a separate letter should be written on every subject.

6. As regards proceedings not specially provided for in the accompanying forms, any other form being conformable to the letter and spirit of the law may be accepted, and if not conformable therewith will be returned for correction.

7. Models need only be furnished when required by the Commissioner, and must be neat and substantial working ones, not exceeding 12 inches on the longest side, unless otherwise allowed by special permission; models must be so constructed as to show exactly every part of the invention claimed and its mode of working. In cases where samples of ingredients are required by law, they must be contained in glass bottles properly arranged; but dangerous or explosive substances must not be sent. Both models and bottles must bear the name of the inventor, the title of the invention and date of the application; they must be furnished to the Patent Office free of charge and in good order.

8. All fees should be transmitted with the application for any action by the office. Remittances must be in current bankable funds, bank drafts, money orders, or certified cheques payable at par at Ottawa. Money sent by mail should be in registered letters and is at the risk of the sender. Drafts, money orders and cheques should be made payable to the Commissioner of Patents, Ottawa.

9. An applicant for an original patent, or for the re-issue of a patent, shall proceed with his application with due diligence; and upon his failure to prosecute the same within a period of one year after the date of the acknowledgment of the filing of his application, or other subsequent official action of which notice have been duly given, the same shall be held to be abandoned, and any fees paid thereon forfeited, unless the Commissioner is satisfied that the cause of the delay was not the fault of the applicant.

In any case, however, in which it is established to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that there is unnecessary delay on the part of the applicant in the prosecution of his application, and that such delay may injure the rights of other parties, the Commissioner may require the applicant to proceed with the prosecution of his application within such period less than one year as to the Commissioner may seem reasonable; and upon the failure of the applicant so to do, his application shall be held to be abandoned, with forfeiture of fees, as aforesaid.

Prosecution of an application, to save it from abandonment, must include such proper action as the condition of the case may require.

10. Two or more separate inventions cannot be claimed in one application, nor included in one Patent. But if separate matters are represented to be so dependent on, and connected with, each other as to be necessarily taken together, to obtain the end sought for by the inventor, the Commissioner of Patents shall be the judge whether or not the pretensions of the applicant in such respect can be entertained.

11. The filing of a protest against the issuing of a Patent shall not be taken in itself as sufficient reason to withhold the granting of such Patent to an applicant.

12. A Caveat can only be filed by an inventor, and shall be composed of a specification (and drawings), certified on oath [Form No. 23] and the applicant may, while it is pending, lodge additional papers, provided they relate exclusively to the same invention. The person filing a Caveat will not be entitled to notice of any application pending at the time of filing his Caveat. A Caveat must be limited to a single invention.

The specification of a Caveat should be sufficiently precise to enable the Office to judge whether there is a probable interference when a subsequent application is filed.

13. Drawings in duplicate, to be attached to the duplicate specification, must be made in India or carbon ink, on sheets of tracing cloth other than Linaura or similar fabric, eight by thirteen inches, neatly executed and without colours.

Each sheet of tracing linen shall contain the following certificate at the bottom: "Certified to be the drawings referred to in the specification hereunto annexed," and signed by the inventor or his attorney; place, date, and signature of two witnesses.

All drawings must be clear, sharp, well-defined, not too fine and perfectly black.

Lines that are pale, ashy, very fine, ragged or broken, give bad results when photo-lithographed.

Brush-shading, tinting and imitation surface graining should never be used; and in fine-shading the result should be attained with as few lines as possible.

Section lines also should be as open in their spacing as the case will admit of, and these, as well as all right lines, in order to insure clearness, should be made with a ruling pen. The shading of convex and concave surfaces may be dispensed with when the invention is otherwise well illustrated.

Shade lines may sometimes be used with good effect, but heavy shadows where they would obscure lines or letters of reference, should be avoided.

With each application an extra full set of drawings must be supplied on double Bristol Board, 8 by 13 inches, without writing on its face, merely the usual reference letters; no title, certificate, nor signatures; on the back of the sheet the name of the inventor and the title of the invention must be written in pencil.

The card board drawing should be rolled on a roller for transmission to the office, as folding will prevent its usefulness for photo-lithographing.

14. In the matter of a re-issue, under Section 23 of the Act, whatever is really embraced in the original application and so described or shown in the same, that it might have been embraced in the original Patent, may be ground for a re-issue. No new matter can be introduced into the specifications, nor shall the models or drawings be amended except each by the other. In the absence of model or drawing, the re-issue may contain amendments, upon satisfactory proof to the Commissioner that such amendments were part of the invention, although omitted in the original application. Separate patents may be issued for each separate and distinct part of the invention, comprehended in the original patent.

15. Information in relation to pending applications will be furnished only to applicants, or to such persons as may be duly authorized in writing by them to obtain the same.

16. The Office can not respond to inquiries as to the probability of an alleged invention being patented in advance of an application for a Patent; nor to inquiries founded on brief or imperfect descriptions, propounded with a view of ascertaining whether alleged improvements have been patented, nor unless the name of the patentee, and, as nearly as possible, the date of the Patent, be given; nor can it act as an expounder of the Patent Law, nor as counsellor for individuals, except as to questions within the office.

In order to avoid unnecessary explanations and useless loss of time and labour, it is particularly recommended that reference be made to the law before writing on any subject to the Patent Office.

A copy of the Rules with a particular section marked, sent to any person making an inquiry, will be deemed a respectful answer by the Office.

17. It is desirable, both in the interests of the applicant and of the public service, that the papers and drawings should be prepared by competent persons. Therefore, the applicant is advised, unless himself competent to draw up papers, in connection with the application, to employ a skilled attorney, as the value of patents is largely based upon the ability with which the specification and claims have been prepared. The Office will always decline to advise the selection of an attorney.

18. All business with this Office should be transacted in writing. The action of the Office will be based exclusively on the written record. No attention will be paid to any alleged verbal promise or understanding in relation to which there is any disagreement or doubt.

19. An assignment is to be accompanied by a copy thereof; the original will be kept in the Patent Office, and the copy will be returned to the person sending it, with certificate of registration thereon.

20. All cases connected with the intricate and multifarious proceedings arising from the working of the Patent Office, which are not specially defined and provided for in these Rules, will be decided in accordance with the merits of each case under the authority of the Commissioner; and such decision will be communicated to the interested parties in writing.

21. Applications for patents sent to this Office, unaccompanied by the fee provided by law, will receive no official recognition, nor be filed nor numbered; they will merely be pigeon-holed, and only marked filed the day on which the fee shall have been received.

22. The applicant has a right to amend before or after the first rejection or action; and he may amend as often as the examiner presents new references or reasons for rejection. In so amending, the applicant must clearly point out by letter accompanying his amendments and not therein, all the patentable novelty which he thinks the case presents in view of the state of the art disclosed by the references cited or the objections made. He must also show how the amendments avoid such references or objections.

23. The specification and drawing must be amended and revised when required, to correct inaccuracies of description or unnecessary prolixity, and to secure correspondence between the claim, the specification and the drawing. But no change in the drawing may be made except by written permission of the office.

24. Amendments must not be made by erasures or insertions in the original papers, but must be made on fresh sheets of paper, so that the sheets containing the matter to be amended may be removed from the application and replaced by sheets containing the amendments.

Amendments to the specifications must be made in duplicate, and those to the claims in triplicate.

COMPULSORY LICENSES.

25. A petition to the Commissioner for an order for a license under section 7, paragraph (a), of the Act to amend the Patent Act, 1903, shall show clearly the ground or grounds upon which the petitioner claims to be entitled to a license, and shall state in detail the circumstances of the case, the terms upon which he asks that an order may be made, the purpose of such order, and the name and address of the patentee and of any other person who is alleged in the petition to have made default.

26. The petition and an examined copy thereof shall be left at the Patent Office, accompanied by affidavits or statutory declarations in proof of the allegations contained in the petition, together with any other documentary evidence in support; and petitioner shall within ten days after the leaving of such petition deliver to the patentee and any other person who is alleged in the petition to have made default, copies of the petition and of such affidavits or statutory declarations and other documentary evidence in support.

27. The person to whom such copies are delivered by the petitioner may, within ten days after being invited to do so by the Commissioner, leave at the Patent Office their oppositions to such petition, together with their affidavits or statutory declarations or other documentary evidence in support, in answer, and if they do so, shall deliver copies thereof to the petitioner within ten days, and the petitioner may within ten days from such last mentioned delivery leave at the Patent Office his affidavits or statutory declarations and other documentary evidence, in reply; and if he does so, shall deliver copies thereof to the patentee or any other person alleged in the petition to have made default within ten days, such last mentioned affidavits or statutory declarations being confined to matters strictly in reply.

28. No further evidence than as aforesaid may be left by either side at the Patent Office, except by leave or on requisition of the Commissioner, and upon such terms, if any, as he may think fit.

29. The Commissioner may at any stage of the proceedings before granting his order, give notice of the proceedings, and furnish copies thereof to any person not a party thereto who may be interested in the patent and whose rights may be affected by his order, and may allow such person to intervene in the proceedings. After such person has been allowed to intervene, he shall be governed by these rules as though the petitioner had alleged in his petition that such person was in default.

30. On completion of the evidence, or after the expiration of the time for completing the same, the Commissioner, on the request of the petitioner, shall fix a time for hearing the petition, and shall give notice to the petitioner, the patentee, and all other parties to the proceedings, that it is his intention to hear the petition on a specified day, which day shall not be less than two weeks from the date when the notice is served.

31. All petitions and other documents lodged at the Patent Office shall (unless the Commissioner otherwise directs), be typewritten or printed, and the parties shall furnish as many copies of the documents lodged by them as shall be required by the Commissioner.

32. Parties shall be entitled to have copies of all papers lodged in respect to the petition, at their own expense. The petitioner and each of the other parties shall specify an address for service in Canada, and may be heard in person or by counsel or by a duly authorized agent.

33. The Commissioner shall, if so requested, hear counsel on behalf of the Crown on the question of granting the prayer of any petition. Counsel on behalf of the Crown shall not be required to give notice of the grounds of any objection he may think fit to take or of any evidence which he may think fit to place before the Commissioner.

34. Any notice required to be served or given by the rules relating to compulsory license may be served or given by posting the same to the party to be notified in a registered envelope, and documents required to be delivered may be delivered in the same way.

35. The times prescribed by these rules may be altered or enlarged by the Commissioner if he thinks fit, upon such notice to parties interested and upon such terms, if any, as he may direct.

FORM 9.

FOR A MACHINE.

To all whom it may concern :

Be it known that I, William Woodworth, of the town of Poughkeepsie, in the County of Duchess, in the State of New York, gentleman, having invented certain new and useful improvements in Meat Chopping Machines (for which I have obtained a patent in [here name the country] No , bearing date 189) ;* do hereby declare that the following is a full, clear, and exact description of the same.

My invention relates to improvements in meat-chopping machines in which vertically-reciprocating knives operate in conjunction with a rotating chopping-block ; and the objects of my improvement are, first, to provide a continuously-lubricated bearing for the block ; second, to afford facilities for the proper adjustment of the knives independently of each other in respect to the face of the block ; and, third, to reduce the friction of the reciprocating rod which carries the knives.

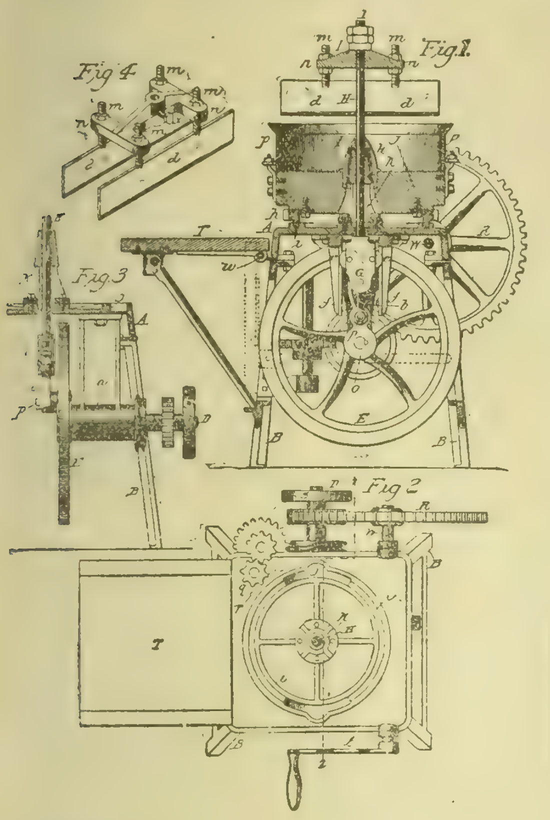
* NOTE.—If no foreign patent has been obtained, the words in parenthesis should be omitted.

I attain these objects by the mechanism illustrated in the accompanying drawing, in which—



Certified to be the Drawings referred to in the specification hereunto annexed.

(Place and date.)

Similar letters refer to similar parts throughout the several views.

The table or plate A, its legs or standards B B, and the hanger a, secured to the under side of the table, constitute the frame-work of the machine. In the hanger a turns the shaft D, carrying a fly-wheel E, a crank-pin, on the hub of which is connected by a link b to a pin passing through a cross-head G, and to the latter is secured a rod H, having at its upper end a cross-head I, carrying the adjustable chopping-knives d d, referred to hereinafter.

The cross-head G, reciprocated by the shaft D, is provided with antifriction rollers e e, adapted to guides f f, secured to the under side of the table A, so that the reciprocation of this cross-head may be accompanied with as little friction as possible.

To the under side of a wooden chopping-block J is secured an annular rib h adapted to and bearing in an annular grove i in the table A. (See Figs. 1 and 2.) This annular groove or channel is not of the same depth throughout, but communicates at one or more points (two in the present instance) with the pockets or receptables j j, deeper than the groove, and containing supplies of oil in contact with which the rib h rotates, so that the continuous lubrication of the groove and rib is assured. The rod H passes through and is guided by a central stand K, secured to the table A, and projecting through a central opening in the chopping-block without being in contact therewith, the upper portion of the said stand being contained within a cover k, which is secured to the block, and which prevents particles of meat from escaping through the central opening of the same.

The cross-head I, previously referred to, and shown in perspective in Fig. 4, is vertically adjustable on the rod H, and can be retained after adjustment by a set-screw x, the upper end of the rod being threaded for the reception of nuts, which resist the shocks imparted to the cross-head when the knives are brought into violent contact with the meat on the chopping-block.

The knives d d are adjustable independently of each other and of the said cross-head, so that the coincidence of the cutting-edge of each knife with the face of the chopping-block may always be assured.

I prefer to carry out this feature of my invention in the manner shown in Fig. 4, where it will be seen that two screw-rods m m rise vertically from the back of each knife and pass through lugs n n on the cross-head, each rod being furnished with two nuts, one above and the other below the lug through which it passes. The most accurate adjustment of the knives can be effected by the manipulation of these nuts.

A circular casing p is secured to the chopping-block, so as to form on the same a trough P for keeping the meat within proper bounds; and on the edge of the annular rib h, secured to the bottom of the block, are teeth for receiving those of a pinion q, which may be driven by the shaft D through the medium of any suitable system of gearing, that shown in the drawing forming no part of my present invention.

This shaft D may be driven by a belt passing round the pulleys s, or it may be driven by hand from a shaft W, furnished at one end with a handle t, and at the other with a cog-wheel R, gearing into a pinion on the said shaft D.

A platform T may be hinged, as at w, to one edge of the table A, to support a vessel in which the chopped meat can be deposited. The means by which it may be supported, and the most convenient method of disposing of it when not in use, are shown in Fig. 1.

I am aware that prior to my invention meat-chopping machines have been made with vertically-reciprocating knives operating in conjunction with rotating chopping-blocks. I therefore do not claim such a combination broadly; but

What I do claim as my invention, and desire to secure by letters patent, is—

1. The combination, in a meat-chopping machine, of a rotary chopping-block having an annular rib, with a table having an annular recess and a pocket communicating with the said recess, all substantially as set forth.

2. In a meat-chopping machine, the combination of a rotary chopping-block with a reciprocating cross-head carrying knives, each of which is vertically adjustable on the said cross-head independently of the other, substantially as described.

3. The knife d, having two screw-rods, m m, attached to its back, substantially as shown, for the purpose specified.

4. The combination, in a meat-chopping machine, of the reciprocating rod, carrying the knives, the cross-head secured to the said rod, and having anti-friction rollers, with guides, adapted to the said rollers, all substantially as set forth.

FORM 10.

FOR AN ART OR PROCESS.

To all whom it may concern:

Be it known that we, Marion Ellsworth, of Chicago, County of Cook, and State of Illinois, gentleman, and Joseph Richard Shaw, of Indianapolis, County of Marion, and State of Indiana, gentleman, have jointly invented a certain new and useful Process of Treating Sludge Oil, in order to obtain from it a resinous substance, (for which we have obtained a patent in [here name the country], No. , bearing date 189 , * of which the following is a specification :

In the purification of hydrocarbon oils produced by the distillation of crude petroleum, asphalts, or bitumens, or by the destructive distillation of coal, resins, or bituminous shales, the oils are agitated with 2 per cent or more of concentrated sulphuric acid (60° Baumé, 1·86 specific gravity), in order to remove certain oils contained in the distillate which would, in course of time, absorb oxygen from the air, and cause the oil to become dark-coloured and gummy, and also to remove tarry substances and the disagreeable odour. Sulphuric acid combines chemically with these bodies and dissolves them, forming a dark-red, heavy liquid, which settles on the bottom of the agitator, and can then be readily drawn off from the purified oil. This peculiar compound of sulphuric acid and hydrocarbon oils, dissolved in the excess of acid, is known as "sludge." At present it is purchased by superphosphate manufacturers, who mix it with a little water, which decomposes the compound of acid and oil, producing a weaker acid (about 50° Baumé) used in the manufacture of superphosphate of lime, and a dark-coloured offensive oil, which rises to the surface of the acid, and usually is thrown away, no commercial use having been found for it. This waste product is called "sludge oil."

The mode of practising our invention is as follows : In our process, when the sludge has been decomposed by the addition of water, the sludge oil is drawn off, and is then purified by repeated washings with water, until the acid remaining in it is removed. For this purpose equal volumes of water and sludge oil may be used ; but the washing can be effected by a less quantity of water. The acid remaining in the oil, if any, is then neutralized with quicklime or caustic soda. The purified oil has a strong and somewhat disagreeable odour, and contains about 10 per cent of volatile oils, which are converted into a hard resin with difficulty. To remove these volatile substances, the sludge oil thus purified is introduced into a still with the addition of from 2 to 4 per cent of caustic soda and about 2 per cent of the oxides of lead or manganese, to oxidize any sulphurous body which may be in the oil and combine with it, and steam is then blown through the oil, the oil being kept hot either by a fire under the still or by the use of steam heated to the required temperature (between 212° and 450° Fahrenheit). The action of the steam is continued until no more volatile oils are removed, usually from five to ten hours. The steam is then shut off, and the contents of the still allowed to settle, when a sediment of tarry impurities and soda subsides, from which the pure oil may be drawn off. The oil is then introduced into a still or tank, and oxidized by blowing currents of air through it, the oil being kept at a moderate temperature (from 200° to 300° Fahrenheit), either by a slow fire under the still, or by a steam coil in the bottom of the tank, or by heating the air by a hot-blast oven to the proper temperature before it is blown through the oil, and the action of the air is continued until complete oxidation is effected, and a sample on cooling solidifies to a more or less hard resin.

The time required to effect the oxidation varies with the working temperature and with the extent of surface of oil brought in contact with the air. We may define it as between four and twelve days. The action of the air upon the oil is stopped when samples on cooling, taken from the contents of the still, are found to be of the proper degree of hardness and toughness for the particular purpose to which the product is to be applied, and after letting the contents of the still settle the hot resin is drawn off from the sediment of soda and impurities.

The action of the air may be accelerated by adding other oxidizing agents—for example, about 2 per cent of the oxides of lead or manganese, or about 2 per cent of the manganates of soda and potassa to the oil. These substances act either by giving up oxygen to the oil or by their presence inducing a combination of the oxygen and the hydrocarbon.

An inferior quality of resin may be produced by treating the washed sludge oil in a still with caustic soda and litharge (5 per cent soda to 1 to 2 per cent litharge) and blowing a current of air through it at about the temperature of 350° Fahrenheit, which at the same time oxidizes the oil and removes the more volatile portions, which are distilled off until it is converted into a resin, which, on cooling, becomes hard and brittle. This process last mentioned requires from two to six days, but the resin produced is darker in colour than that made by first treating with steam and then with air at a lower temperature, as the colouring matter is not affected by steam at 400°, while air at that temperature rapidly darkens it by oxidation. Sunlight bleaches the colour of sludge oil, and, at the same time, greatly accelerates the absorption of oxygen from the air. To produce the lightest-coloured resins the sludge oil is steamed with 5 per cent of a solution of soda, 20° Baumé, at a low temperature (about 200° to 250° Fahrenheit for ten hours), to remove the more volatile portions, and then oxidized and bleached by exposing the oil, in shallow tanks covered by glass, to the action of the sunlight, the oil being kept hot and fluid by a steam coil in the bottom of the tank, and currents of air blown through it to produce the oxidation.

Inferior qualities of sludge oil, as those produced in the purification of lubricating oils, and which contain a large quantity of tarry substances, are treated as follows : The oil is charged in to a still, and caustic soda and black oxide of manganese, in the proportion of about 5 per cent of soda and 2 per cent of manganese, are added, and the charge distilled by a current of steam blown through the oil, assisted by a fire under the still, until only tar and coke remain behind. The distillation commences at about 350° Fahrenheit, and, the fire being increased, the temperature in the still gradually rises to about 800°, when only the thick pitch remains in the still.

By the use of steam under pressure the oil can be distilled with scarcely any decomposition, and the distillate, which is of a yellow light-red colour, can be converted into a superior resin by oxidizing it with a current of hot air. The resin produced by this oxidation of sludge oil is distinguished from all other known resins and resinous substances by its behaviour with different chemicals and solvents. It varies in colour from yellow to dark garnet red, according to the method of its production. It is hard, brittle, and odourless at ordinary temperatures, tasteless, insoluble, and not acted upon by water, soda, potassa, and ammonia, even when heated.

Alcohol of 95 per cent dissolves but small quantities of this resin, even when boiled with it. Petroleum-naphtha dissolves it very quickly without the aid of heat, producing a varnish. Spirits of turpentine readily dissolves the melted resin, forming a varnish. Benzole, chloroform, and bisulphide of carbon all dissolve the resin, the solution being aided by warming. Ether and a mixture of ether and alcohol, in equal parts, quite readily dissolve it, but not so readily as pure ether. Linseed oil and olive oil dissolve the melted resin. A solution of the resin in linseed oil and spirits of turpentine forms an "oil varnish." Concentrated sulphuric acid dissolves it completely ; the resin separates again on adding water. Nitric acid attacks it violently and converts it into a brown tarry or gummy substance, having a pleasant, peculiar odour. Hydrochloric acid seems to have little or no action on it.

It is well known that it has been proposed to use sludge oil as a paint oil, but this has not been attended with practical success. We do not wish to be understood, however, as making claim, broadly, to a process for freeing sludge oil from the acid by the use of water and caustic alkalies, or by still further purifying it by subjecting it to distillation, or by blowing steam through it, for the purpose of removing impurities, all of which, it is well known, have been practised since the discovery of the present processes of refining petroleum. Nor do we wish to be understood as laying claim in this application to the resinous substance produced by my process, as that forms the subject-matter of another application by me for letters patent.

NOTE.—If no foreign patent has been obtained, the words in parenthesis may be omitted.

We claim—

1. The process herein described for producing from sludge oil a resinous substance possessing the properties described, which consists in combining the oxygen of the air with the sludge oil with the aid of a moderate degree of heat.

2. The process of producing from sludge oil a substance of a resinous character, which consists in treating the sludge oil while heated to a moderate temperature, with air and with other oxidizing agents, substantially as described.

3. The process of treating sludge oil in order to obtain from it a resinous substance, which consists in purifying such oil, distilling from it the volatile substances present therein, heating the residue to a temperature of from 200° to 300° Fahrenheit, and blowing air into it while it is so heated, substantially as described.

FOR A COMPOSITION OF MATTERS.

To all whom it may concern :

Be it known that I, Ebenezer Whitney, of the city of Charleston, in the District of Charleston and State of South Carolina, gentleman, am the administrator of the estate of Benjamin Browning, in his lifetime of the said city, gentleman, and that the said Benjamin Browning did invent a certain new and useful Composition of Matter to be Used for the Removal of Hair and Grease from Hides preparatory to tanning, (for which I have obtained a patent in [here name the country], No. , dated , 189)* of which the following is a specification :

The composition of the said Benjamin Browning consists of the following ingredients, combined in the proportions stated, viz. :

Water substantially pure	500 gallons.
Unslaked lime	350 pounds.
Soda-ash (sodium carbonate)	100 pounds.
Saltpeter (nitrate of an alkali metal)	20 pounds.
Sulphur (preferable flowers of sulphur)	10 pounds.

These ingredients are to be thoroughly mingled by agitation.

In using the above named composition the hides should first be freed from all salt and impurities, by soaking green hides one day and dry hides eight days. The hides so cleaned are then placed in the said solution, and allowed to remain in it forty-eight hours. They should then be removed from the solution and unhaired in the usual way.

By the use of the above composition the hair is speedily and thoroughly loosened, and the hides, while retaining all that portion of the substance which can be converted into leather, are at the same time entirely cleaned from grease and other substances which would prevent them from being tanned quickly.

I am aware that a composition consisting of soda-ash-water, lime, and sulphur has been used for the same purpose, and that a patent therefor was granted to C. D., July 10, 18—, No.———. I am also aware that saltpeter has been used in depilatory processes ; but I am not aware that all of the ingredients of my composition have been used together.

What I claim, and desire to secure by letters patent of the Dominion of Canada, is—

1. The herein-described composition of matter, consisting of water, unslaked lime, soda-ash, saltpeter, and sulphur, substantially as described and for the purpose specified.

2. The herein-described composition of matter for depilating and preparing hides for tanning, consisting of pure water five hundred gallons, unslaked lime three hundred and fifty pounds, soda-ash one hundred pounds, saltpeter twenty pounds, and flowers of sulphur ten pounds, substantially as described.

PRÉSENT :

SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL EN CONSEIL.

IL plaît au Gouverneur général en conseil, en vertu des dispositions de l'article 52 du chapitre 61 des Statuts Revisés, intitulé " Acte concernant les brevets d'invention ", et de l'article 7 du chapitre 46, 3 Edouard VII, d'approuver les règles, règlements et formules ci-dessous du Bureau canadien des brevets, établis par le Commissaire des brevets, en remplacement des règles et formules autorisées par l'arrêté en conseil du 27 de juin 1898.

JOHN J. McGEE,
Greffier du Conseil privé.

BREVETS D'INVENTION.

RÈGLES et formules du Bureau canadien des brevets. Par arrêté en conseil dâté le 23 de février 1904.

1. Il n'est pas nécessaire que celui qui demande un brevet d'invention, ou son représentant, se présente personnellement au bureau des brevets, à moins qu'il n'y soit spécialement invité par le commissaire.

2. Le requérant ou celui qui dépose quelque document relatif à une demande de brevet, est dans tous les cas responsable du mérite de ces allégations et de la validité des documents soumis par lui ou par son agent.

3. La correspondance peut se faire soit avec le pétitionnaire, soit avec son agent, mais avec une seule personne, et elle sera transmise franco par les malles canadiennes.

4. Tous les documents doivent être lisiblement et proprement écrits ou imprimés sur papier tellière (foolscap), de 13 pouces de longueur par 8 de largeur, en conservant une marge intérieure d'un pouce et demi.

5. Toutes communications doivent être adressées :—Au Commissaires des Brevets, Ottawa, Canada. Les documents envoyés au bureau doivent être accompagnés d'une lettre, et une lettre distincte doit être écrite sur chaque sujet.

6. Au sujet des manières de procéder auxquelles il n'est pas spécialement pourvu par les formules ci-jointes, toute formule conforme à la lettre et à l'esprit de la loi sera acceptée, et dans le cas contraire, elle sera renvoyée pour être corrigée.

7. Il suffit de fournir des modèles que si le commissaire l'exige, et ils doivent être bien faits et pouvoir fonctionner ; ils ne doivent pas avoir plus de douze pouces dans leur plus grande longueur, à moins d'une permission spéciale ; et ils doivent être construits de manière à faire voir exactement chaque partie de l'invention et son fonctionnement. Lorsque la loi exige des échantillons d'ingrédients, ils doivent être contenus dans des fioles convenablement arrangées ; mais les substances dangereuses ou explosives ne doivent pas être transmises. Les modèles et les fioles devront porter le nom de l'inventeur, celui de l'invention et la date de la requête, et devront être envoyés au bureau des brevets en bon état, aux frais du pétitionnaire.

8. Tous les droits prescrits par la loi devront être transmis en même temps que la demande, pour que le bureau s'en occupe. Les remises doivent être en fonds de banque, traites, mandats-poste ou chèques certifiés payables au pair à Ottawa. Les deniers envoyés par la poste doivent l'être dans des lettres enregistrées et au risque de l'envoyeur. Les traites, mandats-poste, et chèques, doivent être faits à l'ordre du " Commissaire des brevets, Ottawa."

9. Le requérant pour un brevet original, ou pour redélivrance d'un brevet, doit poursuivre sa demande avec célérité ; et s'il manque de la poursuivre dans un an après la date de l'accusé de réception de sa demande, ou autre action officielle dont avis a été dûment donné, la demande sera regardée comme abandonnée, et tous les droits payés seront confisqués, à moins que le commissaire ne soit convaincu que le délai n'était pas dû à la négligence du requérant.

Toutefois s'il est établi à la satisfaction du commissaire qu'il y a eu un délai inutile de la part du requérant dans la poursuite de sa demande, et que ce délai peut léser les droits d'autres personnes, le commissaire pourra exiger que le requérant poursuive sa demande sous tel délai moins d'un an que le commissaire jugera convenable, et si le requérant manque de le faire sa demande sera censée être abandonnée, avec confiscation des droits comme susdit.

Pour que la poursuite d'une demande soit considérée active il faut que toutes les démarches voulues dans l'affaire soient parfaites.

10. Deux ou plusieurs inventions distinctes ne peuvent faire la matière d'une seule demande, ni être comprises dans un même brevet. Mais s'il est allégué que les différentes matières sont si étroitement liées entre elles qu'il devient nécessaire de les rattacher ensemble pour obtenir le but que se propose l'inventeur, le commissaire des brevets décidera si les prétentions du requérant à cet égard peuvent être maintenues.

11. Le dépôt d'un protêt contre la concession d'un brevet ne sera pas regardé comme étant une raison suffisante pour empêcher cette concession au pétitionnaire.

12. Un caveat ne peut être déposé que par un inventeur, et se composera d'une spécification (et de dessins) certifiée sous serment [formule n° 17], et celui qui l'aura déposé pourra, pendant sa durée, y joindre des documents supplémentaires, pourvu qu'ils se rattachent exclusivement à la même invention. La personne qui aura déposé un caveat n'aura pas le droit d'être notifiée des demandes pendantes lors du dépôt de son caveat. Un caveat ne doit s'appliquer qu'à une seule invention.

La spécification d'un caveat doit être suffisamment précise pour permettre au bureau de juger s'il y a conflit probable lors d'une demande subséquente.

13. Les dessins en double qui sont attachés au double de la spécification, doivent être faits en encre de Chine sur des feuilles de toile à calquer autre que la linora ou tissu semblable, de huit sur treize pouces, proprement exécutés et non colorés.

Chaque feuille sur la toile à calquer contiendra le certificat suivant au pied : " Certifiés être les dessins mentionnés dans la spécification ci-annexée," et signée par l'inventeur ou son fondé de pouvoirs ; le lieu, la date, et la signature de deux témoins.

Toutes les lignes doivent être claires, nettes, bien accentuées, pas trop fines, et parfaitement noires.

Les lignes pâles, grises, très fines, imparfaites ou embrouillées, donnent de mauvais résultats à la photolithographie.

Les ombres au pinceau, les hachures et les imitations du bois doivent être évitées ; et les ombres fines au trait doivent être faites avec le moins de lignes possible.

L'on peut parfois employer les lignes ombrées avec avantage, mais les fortes ombres, qui auraient l'effet d'obscurcir les traits ou les lettres de renvoi, doivent être évitées.

Avec chaque demande de brevet, il faut envoyer une série de dessins à part sur du fort carton de Bristol, de 8 x 13 pouces, sans aucune écriture sur sa face, sauf les lettres de renvoi. Il ne sera pas nécessaire d'y mettre ni titre, ni certificat, ni signatures, etc. ; le nom de l'inventeur et celui de l'invention devront être inscrits au crayon sur le revers.

14. A l'égard de la redélivrance d'un brevet, en vertu de l'article 23 de l'acte, tout ce qui est réellement compris dans la requête primitive et décrit ou indiqué dans la spécification de manière à pouvoir être compris dans le premier brevet, pourra faire le sujet d'un nouveau brevet. Aucune nouvelle matière ne sera introduite dans la spécification, et les modèles et dessins ne pourront être amendés que les uns par les autres. En l'absence de modèles ou de dessins, la nouvelle spécification pourra être amen-

dée sur preuve donnée à la satisfaction du commissaire que les amendements faisaient partie de l'invention, bien qu'ils aient été omis dans la première description. Des brevets distincts pourront être émis pour chaque partie séparée et distincte de l'invention, comprise dans le brevet primitif.

15. Les renseignements relatifs aux demandes pendantes ne seront fournis qu'aux requérants, ou aux personnes qu'ils auront autorisées par écrit à les obtenir.

16. Le bureau ne peut répondre aux questions relatives à la probabilité de la concession d'un brevet pour une prétendue invention, avant que la demande de brevet ne soit régulièrement faite, non plus qu'aux questions basées sur des descriptions abrégées ou imparfaites, posées dans le but de constater si quelque prétendu perfectionnement a été breveté, ni à moins que le nom du breveté, et la date du brevet, aussi exactement que possible, ne soient donnés. Le bureau ne peut, non plus, agir comme interprète de la loi des brevets, ni comme conseiller des particuliers, excepté pour les questions surgissant dans le bureau.

On recommande particulièrement d'examiner la loi avant d'écrire au département sur un sujet quelconque, afin d'éviter des explications et un travail inutiles.

Un exemplaire des règlements, avec indication particulière d'un article quelconque, expédié à une personne demandant quelque renseignement, servira de réponse par le bureau.

17. Il est de l'intérêt, tant du pétitionnaire que du service public, que les documents et dessins soient préparés par des personnes entendues, ce qui facilitera l'expédition et la régularité des procédés. On conseille donc au requérant, à moins qu'il ne soit lui-même capable de dresser les papiers relatifs à sa demande, d'employer un procureur capable, vu que la valeur des brevets dépend beaucoup de l'habileté avec laquelle la spécification et les réclamations ont été préparés. Le bureau refusera toujours de suggérer le choix d'un procureur.

18. Toute affaire avec le bureau doit être exécutée par écrit. Les décisions du bureau ne seront basées que sur les documents écrits. Il ne sera fait aucune attention aux prétendues promesses verbales ou ententes au sujet desquelles il y aura désaccord ou doute.

19. Une cession devra être accompagnée d'une copie de la cession ; l'original sera gardé au bureau des brevets, et la copie sera renvoyée à la personne qui l'aura transmise, avec le certificat d'enregistrement y inscrit.

20. Tous les cas difficiles pouvant naître de l'application de la loi des brevets d'invention, auxquels il n'est pas spécialement pourvu dans ces règlements, seront décidés, suivant leur mérite, par autorité du commissaire ; et cette décision sera communiquée par écrit aux intéressés.

22. Le requérant a le droit de modifier sa demande avant ou après le premier rejet, ou première action ; et il peut modifier aussi souvent que l'examinateur présente quelque nouveaux renvois ou raisons pour rejet. En faisant ainsi des modifications, le requérant doit indiquer clairement par lettre accompagnant ses modifications, et non intercalés dans ces modifications, tous les points nouveaux que le cas présente selon lui, dans l'état de l'art dévoilé par les renvois cités ou les objections faites. Il doit aussi indiquer comment les modifications surmontent ces renvois ou objections.

24. Les modifications ne doivent pas être faites au moyen de ratures ou d'intercalations dans les papiers originaux, mais doivent être faites sur des feuilles de papier distinctes, de façon que les feuilles contenant la matière à modifier puissent être enlevées de la demande et remplacées par les feuilles contenant les modifications.

Les modifications aux spécifications doivent être faites en double, et celles aux réclamations en triple expédition.

PERMIS COMPULSOIRES.

25. Une pétition au commissaire pour ordonner un permis en vertu de l'article 7, paragraphe (a) de l'Acte modifiant l'Acte des brevets, 1903, indiquera clairement les raisons pour lesquelles le requérant réclame un permis, et énoncera en détail les circonstances du cas, les conditions auxquelles il demande qu'un ordre soit donné, et le but de cet ordre, et le nom et l'adresse du breveté et de toute autre personne que la pétition accuse d'avoir fait défaut.

26. La pétition et une copie vérifiée d'icelle seront laissées au bureau des brevets, accompagnées d'affidavits ou déclarations statutaires à l'appui des énoncés contenus dans la pétition, ainsi que toute autre preuve documentaire à l'appui ; et sous dix jours après le dépôt de cette pétition, le pétitionnaire délivrera au breveté et toute autre personne que la pétition accuse d'avoir fait défaut, des copies de la pétition et des affidavits ou déclarations statutaires et autre preuve documentaire à l'appui.

27. Les personnes auxquelles ces copies sont délivrées par le pétitionnaire pourront, sous dix jours après avoir été invitées de ce faire par le commissaire, laisser au bureau des brevets leurs oppositions à cette pétition, avec leurs affidavits ou déclarations statutaires ou autre preuve documentaire à l'appui, en réponse ; et s'ils le font, ils en délivreront des copies au pétitionnaire sous dix jours, et le pétitionnaire pourra, sous dix jours à compter de cette dernière délivrance, laisser au bureau des brevets ses affidavits ou déclarations statutaires et autre preuve documentaire, en réponse ; et s'il le fait, en délivrera des copies au breveté ou toute autre personne que la pétition accuse d'avoir fait défaut sous dix jours, ces derniers affidavits ou déclarations statutaires étant restreints aux matières strictement en réponse.

28. Nulle autre preuve que celle ci-dessus ne pourra être laissée par les deux parties, au bureau des brevets, sauf avec la permission ou à la demande du commissaire, et aux conditions qu'il jugera bon.

29. Le commissaire pourra à toute phase des procédures avant d'accorder son ordre, donner avis des procédures, et en fournir des copies à toute personne qui pourrait être intéressée dans le brevet, et dont les droits pourraient être lésés par son ordre, et pourra permettre à cette personne d'intervenir dans les procédures. Après que cette personne aura eu la permission d'intervenir elle sera régie par les présentes règles au même degré que si le pétitionnaire avait déclaré dans sa pétition que cette personne était en défaut.

30. A la fin de la preuve, ou après l'expiration du délai pour la finir, le commissaire, à la demande du pétitionnaire, fixera un jour pour entendre la pétition, et donnera avis au pétitionnaire ou breveté, et à toutes autres parties aux procédures, qu'il a l'intention d'entendre la pétition à un jour spécifié, lequel jour sera au moins deux semaines après la date de la signification de l'avis.

31. Toutes les pétitions et autres documents déposés au bureau des brevets seront (à moins que le commissaire n'en ordonne autrement), clavigraphiées ou imprimées, et les parties fourniront autant de copies des documents déposés par eux que le commissaire exigera.

32. Les parties auront droit d'avoir des copies de tous papiers déposés au sujet de la pétition à leurs propres frais. Le pétitionnaire et chacune des autres parties donneront une adresse pour signification en Canada, et pourront être entendues en personne ou par un avocat ou par un agent dûment autorisé.

33. Le commissaire, sur demande, entendra l'avocat de la part de la Couronne sur la question d'accorder la prière de toute pétition. L'avocat de la part de la Couronne ne sera pas obligé de donner avis des raisons de toute objection qu'il jugera bon de faire ou de toute preuve qu'il jugera bon de présenter au commissaire.

35. Les époques prescrites par les présentes règles pourront être changées par le commissaire s'il le juge bon, sur avis aux parties intéressées et aux conditions qu'il jugera convenables.

SPÉCIFICATIONS.

FORMULE 9.

POUR UNE MACHINE.

A tous les intéressés :

Sachez que moi, William Woodworth, de la ville de Poughkeepsie, dans le comté de Duchess, dans l'Etat de New-York, bourgeois, ayant inventé certains perfectionnements nouveaux et utiles dans les appareils à hacher la viande (pour lesquels j'ai obtenu un brevet en (ici nommez le pays) No.   , daté le 189) ; * je déclare par les présentes que ce qui suit en est une description claire, entière et exacte.

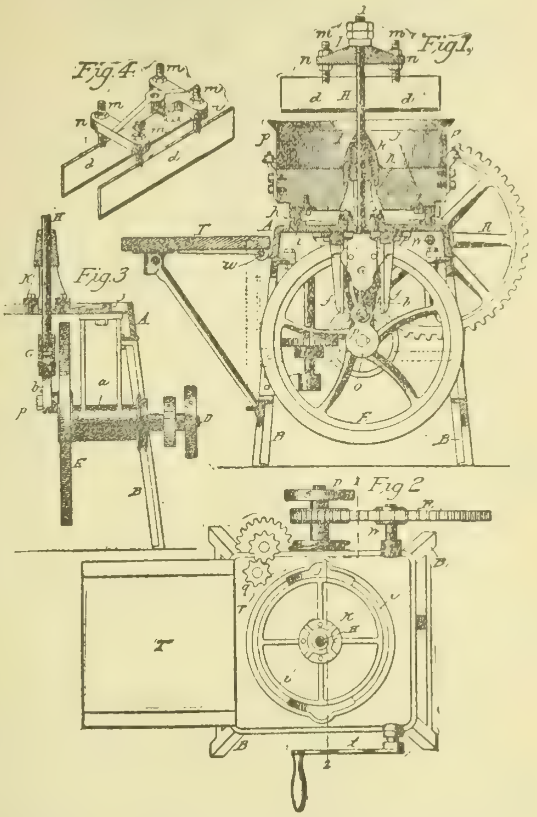
Mon invention se rapporte à des perfectionnements aux machines à hacher la viande, dans lesquelles des couperets verticaux opèrent alternativement avec un billot rotatoire ; et le but de mon perfectionnement est premièrement de fournir un coussinet toujours graissé pour le billot ; secondement, donner des facilités pour l'ajustement convenable des couperets indépendamment l'un de l'autre à l'égard de la face du billot ; et troisièmement, réduire la friction de la tige alternative qui porte les couperets.

J'atteins ce but par le mécanisme illustré dans le dessin ci-joint, dans lequel—



Attestés être les dessins mentionnés dans la spécification ci-jointe.

(Lieu et date).

Des lettres semblables renvoient à de semblables pièces par toutes les diverses vues.

La table ou plaque A, ses pieds ou montants BB, et le support a, assujéti en dessous de la table, forment la charpente de la machine. Dans le support a tourne un arbre D, portant un volant E, un tourillon, le moyeu duquel est relié par une boucle b à une cheville passant à travers une traverse G et à cette dernière est assujétie une tige H, ayant à sa tête une traverse I, portant les couperets ajustables d d, mentionnés plus loin.

La traverse G, rencontrée par l'arbre D, est munie de rouleaux anti-friction e e, adaptés à des guides f f, assujétis en dessous de la table A, de façon que le mouvement alternatif de cette traverse puisse se faire avec le moins de friction possible.

Au-dessous d'un billot de bois J est attaché un tirant annulaire h adapté à et portant sur une rainure i dans la table A. (Voir figures 1 et 2.) Cette rainure annulaire n'est pas partout de la même profondeur mais communique à un ou plusieurs points (deux dans le cas-ci) avec des poches ou réceptacles j j, plus profonds que la rainure et contenant de l'huile dans laquelle tourne le tirant h, de façon qu'il s'opère un graissage continu de la rainure et du tirant. La tige H passe à travers d'un, et est guidé par, un support central K, assujéti à la table A, et projetant par une ouverture centrale dans le billot sans y toucher, la partie supérieure du dit support étant contenue dans un couvercle k, qui est assujéti au billot, et empêche les parcelles de viande de s'échapper par l'ouverture centrale.

*Note.—S'il n'a pas obtenu de brevet étranger, les mots entre parenthèses doivent être omis.

La traverse I, déjà mentionnée, et indiquée en perspective dans la fig. 4, est ajustable verticalement sur la tige H, et peut être retenue après ajustage par une vis à demeure x, la tête de la tige étant filetée pour recevoir un écrou qui résiste aux chocs causés à la traverse lorsque les couperets viennent en contact violent avec la viande sur le billot.

Je préfère exécuter cette partie de mon invention en la manière indiquée à la fig. 4, où l'on verra que deux tiges à vis m m sortent verticalement du dos de chaque couperet et passent à travers deux oreilles n n sur la traverse, chaque tige étant munie de deux noix, une au-dessus et l'autre au-dessous de l'oreille qu'elle traverse. L'ajustage le plus parfait des couperets peut se faire au moyen de ces noix.

Une enveloppe p est attachée au billot, de façon à y former une auge P pour retenir la viande ; et sur le bord du tirant annulaire h, assujéti au fond du billot, se trouvent des dents pour recevoir celles du pignon q qui peut être mû par l'arbre D au moyen d'un système convenable d'engrenage, celui indiqué dans le dessin ne formant pas partie de ma présente invention.

Cet arbre D peut être mû par une courroie passant autour des poulies s ou peut être mû à la main de l'arbre W muni à un bout d'une manivelle t et, à l'autre, d'une roue dentée R, s'adaptant dans un pignon sur le dit arbre D.

Une plateforme T peut être pendue, tel qu'à w à un bord de la table A, pour soutenir un vaisseau dans lequel la viande hachée peut être déposée. Les moyens par lesquels elle peut être soutenue et la méthode la plus facile d'en disposer lorsqu'elle n'est pas en usage, sont indiqués à la figure 1.

Je sais qu'antérieurement à mon invention des machines à hacher la viande ont été faites avec des couperets verticaux fonctionnant alternativement. En conséquence, je ne réclame pas une telle combinaison généralement ; mais

Ce que je réclame comme mon invention, et désire m'assurer par des lettres patentes sont :—

1. La combinaison, dans une machine à hacher la viande, d'un billot rotatoire ayant un tirant annulaire avec une table ayant une cavité annulaire et une poche communiquant avec la dite cavité, le tout tel que décrit en substance.

2. Dans une machine à hacher la viande, la combinaison d'un billot rotatoire avec une traverse alternative portant des couperets, dont chacun est verticalement ajustable sur la dite traverse indépendamment de l'autre, tel que décrit en substance.

3. Le couperet d, ayant deux tiges à vis m m, attachées à son dos, tel que décrit en substance, pour la fin spécifiée.

4. La combinaison, dans une machine à hacher la viande, de la tige alternative, portant les couperets, la traverse attachée à la dite tige, et ayant deux rouleaux anti-friction, avec des guides, adaptés aux dits rouleaux, le tout tel qu'énoncé en substance.

WILLIAM WOODWORTH.

POUGHKEEPSIE, 4 septembre 1887.

JETHRO WOOD,

NOTE.—Le devis y compris la réclamation doit être en double, et de plus, une troisième copie de la réclamation seule doit être fournie.

FORMULE 10.

POUR UN ART OU PROCÉDÉ.

A tous les intéressés :

Sachez que nous, Marion Ellsworth, de Chicago, comté de Cooke et Etat de l'Illinois, bourgeois, et Joseph Richard Shaw, d'Indianapolis, comté de Marion, Etat d'Indiana, bourgeois, avons conjointement inventé un procédé nouveau et utile pour traiter l'huile de résidu, afin d'en obtenir une substance résineuse pour lequel nous avons obtenu un brevet dans (ici nommez le pays), No.   , date   189 , * dont suit une spécification :—

Dans la purification des huiles hydrocarboniques produites par la distillation du pétrole cru, d'asphaltes ou de bitume, ou par la distislation destructive de la houille, des résines, ou des schistes bitumineux, les huiles sont agitées avec 2 pour 100 ou plus d'acide sulfurique concentré (60° Baumé, 1.86 poids spécifique) afin d'enlever certaines huiles contenues dans la distillation qui, dans le cours du temps, absorberaient de l'oxygène de l'air, et rendraient l'huile brune et gommeuse, et aussi enlever les substances goudronneuses et l'odeur désagréable. L'acide sulfurique se combine chimiquement avec ces corps et les dissout, formant un liquide rouge foncé et lourd, qui se dépose au fond de l'agitateur et peut être alors aisément retiré de l'huile purifiée. Ce composé particulier d'acide sulfurique et d'huiles hydrocarboniques, dissous dans l'excédent d'acide, est appelé " résidu." Actuellement, il est acheté par les fabricants de superphosphates, qui le mélangent avec un peu d'eau qui décompose le composé d'acide et d'huile, produisant un acide plus faible (environ 50° Baumé) utilisé dans la manufacture du superphosphate de chaux, et une huile désagréable de couleur foncée, qui s'élève à la surface de l'acide et est généralement jetée de côté n'ayant aucune valeur commerciale, ce rebut est appelé " huile de résidu."

Le mode de pratiquer notre invention est comme suit : Dans mon procédé, lorsque le résidu a été décomposé par addition de l'eau, l'huile de résidu est retirée et est ensuite purifiée en la lavant fréquemment avec de l'eau, jusqu'à ce que l'acide qui y reste soit enlevé. Dans ce but, des volumes égaux d'eau et d'huile de résidu peuvent être employés, mais le lavage peut se faire avec une moindre quantité d'eau. L'acide qui reste dans l'huile, s'il s'en trouve, est alors neutralisé au moyen de chaux vive ou de soude caustique. L'huile purifiée a une odeur forte et quelque peu désagréable et contient environ 10 par 100 d'huiles volatiles, qui sont difficilement converties en une résine dure. Pour enlever ces substances volatiles, l'huile de résidu ainsi purifiée est introduite dans un alambic avec addition de 2 à 4 par 100 de soude caustique et d'environ 2 par 100 des oxydes de plomb ou de manganèse, afin d'oxyder tout corps sulfureux qui pourrait se trouver dans l'huile et se combiner avec elle, et la vapeur est alors forcée dans l'huile, l'huile étant tenue chaude au moyen d'un feu sous l'alambic, ou au moyen de la vapeur chauffée à la température voulue (entre 212° et 240° Fahrenheit). L'action de la vapeur est continuée jusqu'à ce qu'il ne reste plus d'huiles volatiles à retirer,—de cinq à dix heures généralement). La vapeur est alors fermée, on laisse reposer le contenu de l'alambic, et il en résulte un dépôt d'impuretés goudronneuses et de soude, duquel l'huile pure peut être retirée. L'huile est alors introduite dans un alambic ou réservoir, et oxydée en y soufflant des courants d'air, l'huile étant tenue à une température modérée (de 200° à 300° Fahrenheit), soit par un feu lent sous l'alambic, soit par un serpentin à vapeur au fond du réservoir ou en chauffant l'air par un fourneau à eau chaude à la température voulue avant de la souffler dans l'huile, et l'action de l'air est continuée jusqu'à complète oxydation, et un échantillon se solidifie en refroidissant en résine plus ou moins dure.

Le temps requis pour effectuer l'oxydation varie avec la température effective et avec l'étendue de la surface d'huile mise en contact avec l'air. Disons quatre et douze jours. L'action de l'air sur l'huile est arrêtée du moment que des échantillons, pris du contenu de l'alambic, atteignent en refroidissant le degré voulu de dureté et de raideur pour les fins auxquelles le produit est destiné, et après avoir laissé reposer le contenu de l'alambic, la résine chaude est retirée du sédiment de soude et d'impuretés.

L'action de l'air peut être accélérée en ajoutant à l'huile d'autres agents oxydants, par exemple, environ

NOTE.—S'il n'a pas été obtenu de brevet étranger, les mot entre parenthèses doivent être omis.

2 pour 100 des oxydes de plomb ou manganèse, ou environ 2 pour 100 de manganates de soude, et de potasse. Ces substances agissent soit en rendant l'oxygène à l'huile ou en produisant par leur présence une combinaison de l'oxygène et de l'hydrocarbone.

Une qualité inférieure de résine peut être produite en traitant l'huile de résidu lavée dans un alambic avec de la soude caustique et de la litharge (5 par 100 de soude à 1 ou 2 par 100 de litharge) et en y soufflant un courant d'air à une température d'environ 350° Fahrenheit, qui oxyde en même temps l'huile, et enlève les parties les plus volatiles, qui sont distillées jusqu'à ce qu'elle soit convertie en une résine qui devient dure et cassante en refroidissant. Ce dernier procédé exige de deux à six jours, mais la résine produite est plus foncée que celle obtenue en la traitant d'abord avec la vapeur et ensuite avec l'air à une température plus basse, vu que la matière colorante n'est pas affectée par la vapeur à 400°, tandis que l'air, à cette température, la rend rapidement plus foncée par l'oxydation. La lumière du soleil blanchit la couleur de l'huile de résidu, et, en même temps, accélère grandement l'absorption de l'oxygène de l'air. Pour produire les résines plus claires l'huile de résidu est traitée à la vapeur avec 5 pour 100 d'une solution de soude 20° Baumé, à une basse température (environ 200° à 250° Fahrenheit pendant dix heures,) pour enlever les parties plus volatiles, et ensuite oxydée et blanchie en exposant l'huile dans des bassins plats couverts de verre, à l'action de la lumière du soleil, l'huile étant tenue chaude et fluide au moyen d'un serpentin à vapeur au fond du bassin, et des courants d'air soufflés à travers pour produire l'oxydation.

Les qualités inférieures d'huile de résidu telles que celles produites dans la purification d'huiles lubrifiantes, et qui contiennent une grande quantité de substances goudronneuses, sont traitées comme suit :—L'huile est chargée dans un alambic, et de la soude caustique et de l'oxyde noir de manganèse, dans la proportion d'environ 5 par 100 de soude et 2 par 100 de manganèse,) sont ajoutés, et la charge distillée par un courant de vapeur passée dans l'huile, aidé d'un feu sous l'alambic, jusqu'à ce que le goudron et le coke restent seuls. La distillation commence à environ 350° Fahrenheit, et le feu étant attisé, la température dans l'alambic s'élève graduellement à environ 800°, alors que la poix épaisse reste seule dans l'alambic.

Par l'usage de la vapeur comprimée l'huile peut être distillée sans presque pas de décomposition, et la distillation, qui est d'un rouge clair jaunâtre, peut être convertie en une résine inférieure en l'oxydant au moyen d'un courant d'air chaud. La résine produite par cette oxydation de l'huile de résidu est distinguée de toutes autres résines et substances résineuses connues par son effet en le mêlant à différents acides et fondants. Elle varie en couleur de jaune à rouge grenat foncé, selon la méthode de sa production. Elle est dure, cassante et sans odeur aux températures ordinaires, sans goût, insoluble, et n'est pas affectée par l'eau, la soude, la potasse et l'ammoniaque, même lorsque chauffée.

L'alcool à 95 par 100 ne dissout que de petites quantités de cette résine, même lorsqu'elles sont bouillies ensemble. Le pétrole-naphte la dissout rapidement sans l'aide de la chaleur, produisant un vernis. L'esprit de térébenthine dissout facilement la résine fondue, formant un vernis. La benzole, le chloroforme et le bisulfite de carbone dissolvent la résine, la solution étant aidée par la chaleur. L'éther et un mélange d'éther et d'alcool, en parties égales, la dissolvent facilement, mais pas aussi rapidement que l'éther pur. L'huile de lin et l'huile d'olive dissolvent la résine fondue. Une solution de la résine dans de l'huile de lin et de l'esprit de térébenthine forme un "vernis à l'huile". L'acide sulfurique concentré les dissout complètement ; la résine se sépare de nouveau en ajoutant de l'eau. L'acide nitrique l'attaque violemment et la convertit en une substance brune goudronneuse ou gommeuse ayant une odeur agréable et particulière. L'acide hydrochlorique ne semble presque pas l'affecter.

Il est bien connu qu'il a été proposé d'employer l'huile de résidu comme huile à peinture, mais ce projet n'a pas réussi. Nous ne voulons pas que l'on croie toutefois, que nous réclamons un procédé pour débarrasser l'huile de résidu de l'acide au moyen de l'eau et de soude caustique, ou de la purifier encore plus en la soumettant à la distillation ou en y passant de la vapeur afin d'en enlever les impuretés, toutes choses qui ont été pratiquées depuis la découverte du procédé actuel de raffiner le pétrole. Nous ne voulons pas non plus réclamer dans la présente demande la substance résineuse produite par notre procédé, vu que cela forme le sujet d'une autre demande de lettres patentes par nous.

2. Le procédé de produire de l'huile de résidu une substance d'une nature résineuse, qui consiste à traiter l'huile de résidu chauffée à une température modérée avec de l'air et autres agents oxydants, tel que décrit en substance.

3. Le procédé de traiter l'huile de résidu afin d'en obtenir une substance résineuse, qui consiste à purifier cette huile, d'en distiller les substances volatiles qui s'y trouvent, de chauffer le résidu à une température de 200° à 300° Fahrenheit, et d'y passer de l'air tandis qu'elle est ainsi chauffée, tel que décrit en substance.

FORMULE 11.

POUR UNE COMPOSITION DE MATIÈRES.

A tous les intéressés :

Sachez que je, Ebenezer Whitney, de la cité de Charleston, dans le district de Charleston, et l'Etat de la Caroline du Sud, bourgeois, suis l'administrateur de la succession de Benjamin Browning, en son vivant de la dite cité, bourgeois, et que le dit Benjamin Browning a inventé une certaine nouvelle et utile composition de matières qui doit servir pour enlever le poil et la graisse des peaux avant le tannage (pour laquelle j'ai obtenu un brevet dans [donnez ici le nom du pays] N° daté , 189) * dont ce qui suit est une spécification :

La composition du dit Benjamin Browning consiste des ingrédients suivants, combinés dans les proportions indiquées, savoir :

Eau, substantiellement pure..........	500 gallons.
Chaux vive..................................	350 livres.
Carbonate de soude........................	100 livres.
Salpêtre (nitrate de métaux alcalins).	20 livres.
Soufre (fleurs de soufre préférable).	10 livres.

Ces ingrédients doivent être parfaitement mélangés en les agitant.

En se servant de la composition susdite les peaux doivent d'abord être débarrassées de tous sels et impuretés en faisant tremper les peaux vertes un jour et les peaux sèches huit jours. Les peaux ainsi nettoyées, sont alors placées dans la dite solution et y sont laissées pendant quarante-huit heures. Elles doivent alors être sorties de la solution, et le poil enlevé de la manière ordinaire.

Par l'emploi de la susdite composition, le poil est promptement et parfaitement détaché et les peaux, tout en retenant toute cette partie de la substance qui peut être convertie en cuir, sont en même temps entièrement nettoyées de la graisse et autres substances qui les empêcheraient d'être tannées promptement.

Je sais qu'une composition consistant en carbonate de soude, d'eau, de chaux et de soufre a été employée pour le même objet, et qu'un brevet pour icelle a été accordé à C. D., 10 juillet, 18 , N° . Je sais aussi que le salpêtre a été employé dans des procédés dépilatoires ; mais je ne sache pas que tous les ingrédients de ma composition aient été employés ensemble.

*NOTE.—S'il n'a pas obtenu de brevet étranger, les mots entre parenthèses doivent être omis.

Ce que je réclame et désire obtenir par lettres patentes de la Puissance du Canada, ce qui suit :

2. Chaque vétérinaire exerçant en Canada, dès qu'il a constaté qu'un animal souffre de la gale, devra pareillement en avertir le Ministre ainsi que l'inspecteur-vétérinaire le plus voisin.

3. Dans les territoires du Nord-Ouest, l'avis exigé par les deux précédents articles des présents règlements sera censé remplir l'intention de la loi s'il est donné au commissaire, le commissaire adjoint, ou autre officier de la gendarmerie à cheval du Nord-Ouest, ou à l'un des sergents vétérinaires du dit corps.

4. Quiconque a en sa possession, ou garde un animal atteint de la gale, devra immédiatement le faire soigner d'une manière satisfaisante au plus proche inspecteur-vétérinaire ou autre personne dûment autorisée.

5. On ne devra jamais permettre qu'un animal atteint de la gale, ou qui a été exposé à la gale erre en liberté ou vienne en contact avec un animal non infecté.

9. Aucun animal ne sera sorti d'un lieu infecté sans la permission écrite d'un inspecteur ou autre personne dûment autorisée.

11. L'inspecteur-vétérinaire chef pourra, de temps à autre, faire abattre les animaux qui sont atteints de la gale ou qui y ont été exposés, ou autrement en disposer.
